3. The regulation further states that,

   "As the inhabitants have often suffered great injury from being deprived of their milch ewes, in order to remedy this in future, they are required to cut 9 out of every 10 males that are born, one male being sufficient for 10 females for the purpose of breeding."

   "All amildars and renters are strictly required to take care that this regulation respecting cutting the males is carried into execution, for which purpose a faithful report of the number of both sexes born every month, is to be made by each village, on pain of forfeiting two full grown females, for every birth that is concealed. When those males so cut shall have acquired sufficient age they will be the only sheep taken for cantonment, garrisons, etc., so that all the females will be preserved to give milk."
4. The regulation fixes the price of sheep at Pag. 1 for four middling ones and Pag. 1 for three fat ones. It also fixes the responsibility of supplying sheep, fowls, eggs, milk, etc., on the head inhabitants of every village at fixed rates for ready money payments.

3- 3-21 Bequest by the Zamindar—Disputed. 43-5

To the Board.

1. The Collector forwards to the Board two addresses made by the zamindar and his wife severally.

The zamindar represents that he has willingly granted the whole estate as included in the permanent settlement in favour of one Moothuramalingam whom he claims to be his legitimate son by his wife Manickam, who was brought up from her infancy by Vailoo Natchiar, the former zamindarni. He requests the Collector to fix the permanent beriz and confirm Moothuramalinga Tevar and his descendants in the zamindari in perpetuity.
3. Ranee Vailu Natchiar, the wife of the zamindar, represents through her vakeel that her husband, the zamindar, took as his concubine a slave girl by name Manickam of the Kallar caste, who was purchased by her grandmother, Vailoo Nachiyar, and that the zamindar got a son by that slave by name Moothuramalingam. The zamindar vested the whole estate in this Muthu Ramalingam and in Manickam's brother, Arandangy Tambi. The latter carried on extensive frauds and involved the zamindari in a sum of St. Pag. 60,000 before his death.

	4. Later on Moothu Ramalingam oppressed the inhabitants and appropriated a great portion of the revenue and "got a portion of the zamindari thereby creating himself a zamindar contrary to mamool." She complains that the whole estate yielded an annual revenue of St. Pag. 10,000 whereas in the accounts, the illegitimate son had shown only St. Pag. 3,000 in order to obtain a permanent sunnud from Government.
	5. She requests that her son who is the legal representative according to the "Hindoo Shastrams" should be recognized as the heir and that the application made by the zamindar for the grant of the estate under inam should be dismissed.
	6. The Collector endorses that, "It would appear that these villages were bestowed in fusly 1228 but no regular grant which is now sought for was obtained. I shall feel obliged by being favoured with your instructions on the occasion."

24- 3-21	Renting—Collector's suggestions. To the Board. 1. The Collector does not recommend that chowkis for the collection of duties on articles other than tobacco and betel should be rented, from the conviction that it will afford "opportunities of a contraband trade with the Travancore and Cochin territories and the source of serious grievances to all parties." 2. He reports that during the last two years a considerable body of weavers have established themselves at Madura and the inference from it is that there will be an increase in the cloth trade. 3. In order to give an inducement to the weavers "to interest themselves in the duties chargeable on their merchandise and to secure a fair excise to the Government" he recommends that the Board may delegate to him the power of renting the collection of duties exclusively on cloth alone. 4. He suggests certain heavy penalties on the renters if they do not conform to the regulations. In order to ensure fair dealings by the police and the Magistrates in dealing with cases he suggests that the aggrieved parties should be allowed to sue for damages in the zillah courts. 5. He observes "I cannot withhold my objections to permit the renters to sub-rent in any way they may think proper. . . . such a measure would be attended with serious consequences to the trade of the country and very arbitrary proceedings against the lower classes. It would create so many interests that no merchant in the transit of his goods would be safe from unnecessary scrutiny and detention. . . . Many speculative individuals will of course endeavour to intrude."	59-62

10- 4-21	Succession to Zamindari. To the Board.	72-4

1. The senior wife of the late zamindar represents that her husband, Mootuveziah Raghunada Sethupathi, died in 1820.
2. Apparently the previous zamindar was Muthuramalinga Sethupathi. He was entirely excluded from any right to the Ramnad Zamindari, and he was in confinement till his death. His daughter, Sivacami Natchiar, claimed a right to the zamindari. It was decreed by the Sudder Court in favour of Mootuveziah Raghunadha Sethupathi (deceased), the husband of the petitioner. Sivacami Natchiar appealed to the King in Council.
3. The management of the zamindari was confided to neither. The zamindar in whose favour the zamindari was decreed had to suffer from extreme indigence. Mootuveziah Raghunada Sethupathi maintained the family by borrowing from merchants. After his death the head Ranee sold all her jewels and brass vessels to maintain the family.
4. She recalls to the memory of the authorities that on the death of her mother-in-law, Raunee Sethupathi Mungaleswary Nauchiar, the Governor was pleased to put her husband in possession of the zamindari. In conformity to the Governor's action the Sudder Court also has ordered that the zamindari should be handed over to the petitioner's husband taking proper securities pending disposal of the appeal of Sivacami Nachiar. But before the order was given effect to, the petitioner's husband died.
5. The petitioner states that she would give the required securities and put forth her claims to the zamindari. In the meantime she and the zamindar's household are suffering from want of necessities and she requests protection and a monthly grant for maintenance.
6. On this representation the Collector says that, "The family consists of five wives, one daughter, one adopted son and one hundred and eight relatives and followers, who are in very great distress and as the zamindari was decreed by the Fauzdary Adawlet in favour of her husband, I trust your Board will feel disposed to make some small allowance for their maintenance until the final award is received from England, 2 or 300 pagodas monthly would be sufficient."

The Collector states that he cannot furnish any sketch in which the river Terkoo Periar is laid down, to mark the boundary claimed against the Travancore Government. Capt. Arthur's map was not drawn from actual survey but merely in explanation of the reports of the people. He observes that "The river is of too great a consideration to be excluded in an actual survey and its insertion in the map of Capt. Arthur cannot be made as I am unacquainted with its course."	77

25- 4-21	Claim for maintenance. To the Board. 1. The Collector reports that from the investigation he made of Tirumal Naick's claim to the Vellicourchee village in the Sivaganga Zamindari, he observes that neither 'Porupoo' nor rent had been collected by the zamindar. The produce of the village together with that of another village may be estimated at Pag. 800 to 1,000 a year. He requests the Board to determine whether the above sum can be considered sufficient for the maintenance of Tirumal Naick and his followers. 2. He further reports that Tirumal Naick left the country many years ago and that his whereabouts are not known.	82

28- 4-21	Alleged against public servants—Tobacco renter's charge. To the Board. 1. The Collector begins the letter "I am sorry to have failed in satisfactorily informing your Board on the subject of the petition of the tobacco renter and do not delay in forwarding a more detailed explanation." 2. In the petition the renter states that he bribed the Tahsildar with Rs. 70, a 'Rayasom' named Kuppayyan with Rs. 23, another 'Rayasom' with Rs. 80, and so on, thus implicating several public servants. 3. The Collector investigated the case thoroughly. He wonders how the renter could have paid Rs. 80 to a rayasom when he admits having paid Rs. 70 to the Tahsildar. He also wonders how the renter obtained money to bribe three servants when he found it difficult to give the immediate security for the rent. The renter could not satisfactorily explain exactly how he bribed these persons. The petitioner stated in the presence of the Collector and some respectable witnesses, "I did not know how I obtained the money. I borrowed from different people at the village of Mellore—from whom I do not know—I do know—but cannot tell—because if the people who had lent me money to bribe the servants knew that their names were implicated they would not lend me again." 4. The Collector observes "This declaration cannot I trust fail to affect the credibility of the petitioner in the opinion of your Board . . . The petitioner . . . positively refused to sign it . . . These circumstances convinced me of the injustice of his charge." 5. As regards the petitioner's imprisonment, the Collector justifies his action by clearly stating the circumstances leading to his imprisonment. In fine he adds that "The petitioner is not insensible that the superior courts are always open to him for appeal notwithstanding his extremely indecorous reference to the proceedings of the zillah court."	84-6

12- 5-21	Pension—Application by his son, Murdoo Shervagaur. To the Board. 1. The Collector forwards to the Board an address presented to him by Murdoo Shervagaur stating that his father was transferred to Pulo Penang. When he was brought up to Madras, the Superintendent of Police desired him to state whatever he may require. He presented a petition to Government praying for continued protection and for orders to live in Madura. He was taken sick and returned to Sivaganga, where he died. The Company promised him a maintenance allowance but unfortunately he died. Murdoo Shervagaur requests that the allowance for maintenance may be fixed at Sooly Ch. 200 equal to Rs. 253-9-11 monthly. 2. The Collector states that on enquiry it appears that the family was maintained by the Zamindar of Sivaganga who made an allowance of Sooly Ch. 200 which ceased in 1805, for what reason he could not ascertain. The family was afterwards maintained by Rauni Mangaleswari Natchyar, the late Zamindarni of Ramnad, and is at present in extreme poverty and distress. He therefore recommends a pagoda a day if Government think that the family is entitled to any allowance at all.	99-101

From the depositions of some of the oldest inhabitants it would seem that on the family of Tirumal Naig taking refuge at Ramnad, the above village was allotted to them; but how long they enjoyed it, cannot be satisfactorily ascertained, nor can the time of assumption be correctly known. It appears, however, certain that they have not possessed it since the country was assumed by the Nawab Wallajah, a period of 50 years."

The Board forwarded to the Collector a petition from Yerrammal and Kamammal, the widows of the late Kumara Luckya Naicken of Madura district. 2. The Collector reports that they formerly preferred a complaint to him. On enquiry it was learnt from the neighbouring zamindar and other people acquainted with the customs of the petitioner's caste " that the illegitimate child was entitled to succeed to the zamindari when no legitimate child existed. . . The opposite parties were told to institute a suit in court. Should they consider themselves aggrieved the most regular mode of redress would be perhaps by application to the Zillah Court."	155

The Collector writes, " In order to form a correct estimate of the settlement it is desirable to communicate to your Board the state of the past seasons, otherwise a just conclusion cannot be drawn, how far such settlement has been made with reference to the resources of this district." 2. He states that the rain had been unusually deficient and the result was that the lands which had been sown became parched up. The inhabitants suffered from cholera and fever. The cattle were destroyed by an epidemic. All these causes must needs have worked for a diminution in the revenue. But as the decrease is small it may satisfy the Board. 3. The Collector takes up the particular affected divisions and explains the causes of the decrease in revenue which was due to one or several of the causes mentioned already. Similarly he takes up the divisions which in spite of the adversity yielded an incre[illegible]ed revenue.	157-64

Arrack

16-10-21 Illicit sale—Appeal against penalty. 205

To the Board.

1. A complaint was preferred by the arrack renter of the fort of Madura that a hawker had brought a quantity of arrack and brandy into the fort which he was in the habit of disposing of to the detriment of his rent. The Collector held an enquiry and found 474½ bottles without any permit. By the regulations the whole quantity has been forfeited.
2. The hawker in his defence says that he was not aware of the regulation of Government and that he brought the articles for a gentleman.
3. The Collector is of opinion that as he took them into the fort without the knowledge of the renter or any public servant and as he has been occasionally disposing of a part of them, his word must be doubted and he should, therefore, suffer the forfeiture.
4. The Collector wishes to be informed, however, of the sentiments of the Board.

21-10-21 Succession. 206-7

To the Board.

The Collector forwards a statement of the subdivisions which the Raja is desirous of settling on his son and reports that from an enquiry into the custom of the zamindari he has ascertained that "on the demise of the zamindar, his son or grandson by his lawful first wife (of his own caste) succeeds to the pattam, if she has no issue the son or grandson by his second, third, etc., wives succeeds. If the zamindar has neither male or female issue, his sister's son can succeed. But if the zamindar has neither male or female issue nor sister's son, he can adopt a son from his nearest kin and such adopted son will then be lawful successor to the Pattam. . . . and nothing prevents a zamindar alienating any portion of his zamindari."

To the Board.

1. The Collector reports that the season was the worst of all during the period the zamindari was under attachment. Every taluk had suffered. Emigration to Tanjore and the Tondaiman's country mitigated the extreme rigours of the drought. The total cultivation was less than that of the previous fasli by 22,440 kalams.
2. The chank fisheries exhibited a rise, even though more than a hundred divers had been encouraged to desert their usual fisheries and form engagements with the renter at Manar.
3. The Collector reports that the balances of ff. 1229 and 1230 are due by individuals and that he is exerting to collect the amount without delay.

8-11-21	Kannirajapuram village—Shaik Muhammad Rowthen's claim.	218-9

To the Board.

1. The Collector reports that Shaik Muhamad Rowthen of Cockandy claims about 1,500 'Koorkums' of land said to have been granted to him by Chella Tevar a former Zamindar of Ramnad to erect a 'Matam' on the road to Rameswaram and a mosque in the Cockandy village and to defray the charges of charities of butter-milk distributed to passengers. There are no records to show the grant. But the inhabitants depose that the claimant's family had been enjoying the lands in question for over 60 years before the zamindari was assumed and that the purposes for which the grants were made, are not fulfilled, with the exception of a little charity. The mosque is neglected. It consists of a mud thatched house. The matam also is in ruins.
2. The Collector states, "If therefore your Board should be disposed to allow the parties to resume the lands, I would suggest it should be on the express condition that the purposes for which they were granted, should not be neglected or abused, that a majeed and madam should be erected as originally directed and that the intended charities should be distributed."

To the Secretary to Government.

The Collector reports that the peons and people who proceeded as usual to the hills to gather cardamoms were attacked, beaten and wounded by the Travancoreans. As the outrages should be put an end to, the Collector suggests that instructions may be sent to the Resident at Travancore to permit the gathering of cardamoms without the interference by the Travancoreans, until the boundary limits are finally settled.

5-12-21 Dindigul, Madura and Ramnad. 241-2

To the Secretary to Government in the Judicial Department.

1. Dindigul.

The Collector reports that the O.C. at Dindigul suggested the expediency of fixing the limits of a military bazaar so as to include the old established public bazaar of the town, that the Collector offered an objection that the arrangement would interfere with the rights of the inhabitants who do not follow military pursuits and he suggests that the military bazaar may be established sufficiently extensive outside the quarters of the lay inhabitants, "on the north face of the fort on the roads leading to Bangalore and Palni, so as to include the ground that is at present occupied by the troops in Dindigul."

2. Madura.

As regards the military bazaar at Madura the Collector offers the same objection and is apprehensive that the rights of the Brahmins, Mussalmans and weavers will be affected if a military bazaar is established within the fort of Madura. He suggests that "a sufficient space for the purpose may be assigned near the sepoy place of arms."

	3. Ramnad.
	As regards Ramnad the Collector states, "The extent of the civil population of Ramnad obliges me to consider the propositions of the O.C. . . . impracticable. It is highly objectionable that all the bazaars within the fort and those near the principal gate of it should be placed under the control of this officer—as it will be impossible to define the limits of his authority. . . . This town is the capital of an assumed zamindari not perhaps placed in a situation similar to that of other military stations with reference to police. This circumstance makes me unwilling to recommend the limits of a military bazaar at Ramnad."
	Kadavur
11-12-21	Zamindar's death and question of succession.	244
	To the Board.
	1. The Collector reports that the Zamindar of Cadavoor died leaving no male issue. The widow of the late zamindar and his brother severally claim the zamindari under separate wills reported to have been left by the deceased.
	2. The Collector received a letter from the zamindar the day before his death nominating his brother as his successor. The signature of this letter when compared to that in the rest of the correspondence is seen to be the zamindar's.
	3. After 20 days the wife sent a will to be stamped alleging it to have been left by her husband. The Collector states that during all these 20 days he did not hear of any will in favour of the wife and that he is suspicious of its origin.
	4. Apart from that, he has ascertained from different zamindars and they all with the single exception of Connewardy Zamindar, who is related to the widow, have declared that the brother according to their custom of succession, is the proper person. The Collector, therefore, recommends that the brother may be put in possession of the zamindari. He will of course provide for the family of the deceased.

The Collector reports that the weights used in Madura for weighing cardamoms are pagodas, pollams and tolams. 1 pollam=20 kuttalay padee or standard pagoda weight. 1 tolam=120 pollams or 2,400 pagoda weight. 2. But on looking to the memorandum book it is found that frequently it is done at the rate of 5 to 6 miles an hour. On referring to the accounts in the cutchery the villages in question are entered under the head of service villages. I should think, even admitting the authenticity of the sanads, they are only tenable at the option of the zamindar . . . for if it be otherwise why should a renewal of sanad be requested? . . . The present zamindar denies having given any sanad and asks, even had he granted the sanad, how could it hold good without the authority directed by the Regulations."	50

When they were finished they were taken to the chowky, regularly chopped and duty levied. By this register the chowkidar ascertained the number of cloths manufactured, what had paid duty and what had not. . . . The practice of chopping the cloths on loom commenced in 1818; previously the weavers were in the habit of disposing of their cloths by stealth but the register operated as a check and increased the revenue."	54-5

One of the dhonis was leaky and the cargo sustained damage through no fault of theirs. The captain of the grab refused to pay their wages, etc. 3. The chowkidar also complains of the non-payment of the dues by the captain and says that in providing pilots, the custom has always been that the cargo is at the owner's risk. He says there was no negligence on the part of the pilots. 4. Apparently the petitions are forwarded to the Board.	66–70

From the Amildar's explanation it is observed that in consequence of the very low price paid to the salt manufacturers for their salt, there was an inducement to commit fraud. He further reports that he had represented the matter to the Board and recommended that a general allowance of Pag. 3 per garce be paid to the manufacturers, which the Board accepted.	81-4

24- 5-22 Renting. — 89-90

To the Board.

With reference to a petition by a renter the Collector remarks that the petitioner is not even worth a rupee and that his offer is too disadvantageous for any recommendation to be made; for the "quantity of cardamoms gathered this year is greater than was ever produced from the Hills and calculating at Rs. 20 a maund should yield a net profit of at least Rs. 20,000, whereas the offer does not amount to half that sum."

25- 5-22 Seshagiri Rao, Hindu gumasta. — 90

To the Collector of Coimbatore.

One Seshagiri Rao of the Treasury department of the Coimbatore Collectorate stood surety to another Mutuswami Ayyan of Madura district for Rs. 162-3-0 due by the latter to Government. The Tahsildar reports that the Ayyan does not possess any property. So the Collector of Madura asks the Collector of Coimbatore whether it will meet the latter's approval to make stoppages from Seshagiri Rao's pay.

17- 6-22	Veraloor mosque. To the Board. 1. Abdul Rahman represented to the Collector that his grandfather erected a mosque and water-pandal at Veraloor village. H. H. the Nabob Wallajah granted 4 cheys of nunja land and one cully fanam a day. He enjoyed the land, but not the fanam. He requests that the fanam may be continued to him for the charity he does in the mosque and water-pandal. 2. The Collector states that in the enayatnama granted by H. H. Issaumun Mulk Bahadur, 4 cheys of land and one cully fanam per day are allowed for the maintenance of the mosque. The four cheys of land have been enjoyed by his family, but not the fanam. The petitioner states that his father was sick when Mr. Hurdis was examining money yeomiahs and as the petitioner was only a child then he was not aware of the allowance. The Collector endorses, "The allowance of one fanam is mentioned in the same enayatnama granting the land. . . and as it is for the benefit of the travellers he trusts it will be granted to him."	107-9

24- 6-22	To the Board. The Collector, in forwarding a statement of the rents of the chank fisheries for several years, observes that there is always a stipulation for remission in case the boats are taken for pearl fisheries and that therefore if the renters are to be deprived of the boats without remission in rents nobody will take the chank fisheries under rent.	112-3

The Collector of Madura says that the merchants explain the cause of the deficiency in exports to Colombo as being due to the high price of grain and to the high duties levied by the Ceylon Government on cloths, which rendered trading in these articles unprofitable.	116

	Chank Fisheries
21- 8-22	Remission in rent. To the Board. The Collector reports that on a reference to the records it is found that "both Mr. Parish and Mr. Kinlock recommended that the Ranee should be indemnified for remissions granted by her to the renters of chank fisheries . . . on account of boats taken for the pearl fisheries of Travancore and Manar." He further observes that the Ranee always granted remissions on such occasions because if such remissions were not made no one would take the rent. Even on taking the rent, the renter would not suffer his boats to fish on another coast to his own detriment and if he did not lend his boats to the pearl fisheries there would be a great loss in the pearl fisheries.	150-1
	Boundary Dispute
24- 8-22	Villages of Mothagam and Peraiyur Zamindari—Settlement. To the Collector and Magistrate of Tinnevelly. 	Cardamom Renter
5- 9-22	Alamelu Chetti—Complaint against the Travancore Raja. 1. Alamelu Chetti, a cardamom renter, complains that he took the cardamom hills on rent for ff. 1217–9 for Cul. Ch. 27,000. Some 3,000 peons belonging to the Travancore Raja took forcible possession of the produce of the hills and destroyed the plants which would have yielded in the following year. The matter was reported to Government who replied that the Travancore Raja would be made answerable for the amount of loss sustained by the complainant. 2. An enquiry into the matter was held at Mellore when the complainant proved that the Travancoreans had taken away the produce to an extent of Cul. Ch. 23,000. He was told that a commissioner had been appointed on the part of the Travancoreans and that he should represent to him all his losses. The commissioner could not hold an enquiry owing to the disturbances which broke out in Travancore. But the Travancoreans promised to pay his losses in about a month's time. Alamelu Chetti paid the rent of the first year. The Travancoreans did not keep their promise. 3. In the meantime Alamelu Chetti was confined in jail for arrears. As a consequence he preferred a petition to the Zillah Judge, who told him that Government ordered that when the dispute regarding the cardamom hills was settled his accounts would be made up. The cardamom hills were given away to the Raja of Travancore. The complainant prays that since Government have formerly expressed that the Travancore Raja would pay him all the loss, his demand for Ch. 23,000 together with interest may be paid to him. 4. He further complains that on account of the action of the Travancoreans he could not pay the rents. The Collector therefore assumed the cardamom hills, resorted to sale by public outcry, incarcerated his person and thereby put him to the most ignominious degradation. He was carrying on the occupation of a sowcar, lending money for interest, etc. 5. The Collector forwards the petition to the Board and requests its instructions.	161–4

1. Angalswami Raja represents that his late father bought the village of Chickle in the Ramnad Zamindari. When his father was arrested the village was forcibly taken possession of.
2. When Angalswami Raja represented the matter to the Board he was informed that the village would be obtained for him if he made an application in the Zillah of Madura. He applied to the zillah where he was informed that the village would be obtained for him if he deposited the necessary fees for the cause.

29- 1-23	Tank-bed cultivation—Ryots' complaint. To the Board. 1. Certain inhabitants of Ramnad complained to the Board against the Collector for having collected one kalam of paddy or 14 5/16 fanams for a 'koorkom' instead of the usual rates for the cultivation of paddy on 'punjah' lands. The complaint is forwarded to the Collector for his remarks. 2. The Collector explains that since he found that the inhabitants were in the habit of diverting water from the channels to irrigate their punjah fields "which caused a deficiency in some tanks for the 'nunjah' fields—that they neglected the 'nanjah' fields for their 'punjah' that they ploughed up the beds of tanks to cultivate them with paddy and that when rain fell the soft soil was washed into the deep parts of the tanks, thereby filling them up and preventing the tanks from holding their usual quantity of water to the deteriment of cultivation. . . . I considered it right that they should pay in common with others the usual 'waram'; but since they had removed their produce I collected last year at the rate of one 'kalam' per koorkom at the jamabundy price."	9-10

Settlement

31- 1-23 Dindigul. 11-25

1. Bad season.

The Collector explains that the immediate object of the modifications proposed in the assessment was relief to the people. But a " succession of bad seasons operating upon the calamitous sufferings by disease and the loss sustained by so large a portion of the population are circumstances which demand very serious consideration in taking a view of the effect expected from a reduction of the 'teerwas' during the three years."

2. Mr. Hurdis's settlement defective.

The general complaint of the Board on the modifications proposed by Mr. Peter, the present Collector, on the assessment, is that it falls much short of the expectations given by Mr. Hurdis. Mr. Peter explains that the reductions proposed were " upon the unquestionable fact that the lands could not produce the quantity of grain calculated by Mr. Hurdis " which calculation was never based upon the actual production and nature of the soil, but which was upon a mere estimate, so much so that the worst soil has been estimated as the best and the best as the worst. Mr. Peter states that it was his first duty to remedy these defects, because " the simple operation of reducing the 'teerwas' on lands which were highly assessed could not be expected to give satisfaction to the people."

3. Difficulties of revision.

As regards the delay noticed by the Board the Collector explains that it was no easy task to set right the defects that existed before he could compile the statements and the account particulars exhibiting in detail the rates at which the lands were assessed by the old survey and those now proposed. Further in order to prepare the accounts it was necessary to examine the cultivation accounts of the year in which the reductions were first made.

4. Classification of lands.

As regards the proposed reduced assessment Mr. Peter expects that it must be satisfactory to the Board. For, he has put all the lands of the same quality on an equality, described in detail the produce of each class of land and its out-turn and explained the grounds on which his assessment is based. He further proceeds that he did not place entire confidence in the karnams' accounts but he had taken into consideration the general produce of the lands which had been examined by the circar servants, the reports of the inhabitants of the usual produce of lands and finally by comparing them with the 'teerwas' of Madura and hence he trusts that the proposed assessment will be fair, moderate and realized easily.

Yeomiah

5- 2-23 Water pandal—Abdul Rahiman's application. 25-6

To the Board.

1. The Collector reports that when Mr. Hurdis examined the money yeomiahs, the applicant's father was prevented from claiming it owing to ill-health and that as the petitioner Abd-ul Rahman is only 21 years old, his youth and ignorance may be the cause of his not claiming the yeomiah for so many years.
2. The purwanah granting the land for the maintenance of the mosque also grants the money allowance of 1 fanam for the water pandal and as the sum is insignificant, the Board may perhaps be pleased to grant the indulgence prayed for.

	To the Board.
	1. With reference to a query from the Board whether the number of schools could be increased by inducing the poorer classes to bring their children, the Collector reports that there is no hope of this. The poorer classes say that "as they are poor, their children are better employed in attending bullocks, by which they gain a livelihood, than being at school."
	2. Census of schools.
	With reference to the other points the Collector reports that there are 844 schools in which 13,781 children are being educated and he wishes the number to be increased. No mauniam lands are enjoyed by the schools. The teachers are paid by the poorer and better classes at the rate of 1 to 5 fanams a child as the case may be. Children join the schools at their fifth year and leave it at their twelfth or fifteenth.
	3. Brahmin schools.
	As regards the agraharam schools where the Brahmin children are taught the Vedams and Puranams, mauniams yielding 20 to 50 fanams per annum and in a few cases, 100 fanams are allotted, as they have been from time immemorial.
	4. Female education.
	As regards female education the Collector states that "only the children devoted to the profession of dancing girls at the Hindu temples are instructed at schools."

Timber 36

28- 2-23 Availability of.

To Capt. J. Mackintosh, Superintending Engineer, Southern Division, Trichinopoly.

1. The Collector reports that teak wood is not procurable in any size or quantity in the district. The few trees that may be found scattered on the Dindigul hills may not be profitable as there are no waterways through which they could be floated down. Conveyance by bandies would be too expensive.
2. He suggests, however, that the Collector of Coimbatore may assist in the supply from the Anamalai hills where teak and sughwan—a wood considered by the natives as nearly equal to teak for building purposes—are to be had in plenty.

Tahsildar 37–8

28- 2-23 Complaint against—Enquiry.

To the Board.

1. The Collector reports that in September last he received a complaint against the Tahsildar and that on investigation it appeared to be a conspiracy headed by one Andiappan, to attack the Tahsildar who was examining the accounts with reference to a charge against Andiappen, for having concealed the cultivation accounts.
2. Several of the signatories to the complaint deposed that they were induced to sign the complaint by Andiappen. They further deposed that their only grievance against the Tahsildar was that he once fined them for not attending to their duties. Seeing that the complaint was a frivolous one he fined the parties Rs. 5 each.
3. The Collector further reports that after a few months he went to Marungapury and repeatedly called on the inhabitants to state if they had any complaint against any public servants but they made none.

But the new Diwan of Travancore refused to make these gifts unless a letter was brought from the Collector. 3. 27- 4-23	'Melwaram'—Instructions. To the Sub-Collector of Ramnad. With reference to an enquiry from the Sub-Collector of Ramnad as to the extent of 'Melwaram' to be collected on 'Koallom Koarvay' and * 'Theddakaul Punjah,' the Collector states that in all instances where the lands receive the benefit of water from the tanks without any considerable degree of labour the usual waram should be received. He directs that "on all such occasions you should be guided by your own judgment giving the cultivator a fair profit for his labour so that the result will prove equally beneficial to the Circar and the inhabitants."	55-6
	Cochee Chetti
27- 4-23	Liability to Government. To the Collector of Madras. With reference to a letter from the Collector of Madras, the Collector of Madura states that the money due from Cochee Chetti was on account of his purchasing grain. As he was unable to discharge the amount within the stipulated time, it was extended. From Cochee Chetti's kararnamah he appears to be perfectly willing to dispose of his property in liquidation of the amount due to Government. But it would appear that his sister stands in his way of disposing of the property by setting up a claim to a well situated in the landed property. Therefore "I do not know how far it would be proper to issue a warrant as suggested by you, but if on any enquiry—you should consider it necessary I shall lose no time in sending one."	56-7

30- 4-23	Import of. To the Board. The Collector reports that on an examination of the accounts and from the reports he does not find that any opium was imported in the preceding fasli.	58

30- 4-23	Duties—Second duty—Refund. To the Collector of Sea Customs, Madras. The Collector of Madura reports for favourable consideration, the case of one Mercoy Tambi Marakkayar, whose goods have been charged duty twice by the issue of rowannah No. 2 instead of rowannah No. 4. He says, "As I am sure you must feel equally desirous with myself that no merchant should suffer from any inadvertent act more particularly where fraud was never intended, the additional duty levied you will be enabled to restore."	58-9
	Religious Dispute
2- 5-23	Arumugam Koil—Trichendur. To the Collector of Tinnevelly. 1. The Collector of Madura reports that the plaintiff, viz., Pushahkumar Pillai of Purkinkurichy in Partipanur of Shivaganga produced two 'olahs' one said to have been given by the 'sthanigals' of Arumugam Koil in Trichendur, and the other by Subrahmanya Pillai, karnam of the said temple. 2. The defendant, Arihara Ayyen of Trichendur in Tinnevelly district, produced a document said to have been granted by Kumaraswami Pillai, karnam of the court.	60

* Probably Tottakkal.

3. The two former 'olabs' of the plaintiff state that the plaintiff's agent defrayed the charges of a 'kuttalai' in the temple from the funds of the Sivaganga Zamindari. The defendant's document stated that the charges were defrayed under the superintendence of the defendant.

4. The Collector forwards the documents in question with a view to ascertaining whether they were granted by the persons mentioned and who exactly it was that superintended the 'kuttalai' for the past 20 years, whether it was the plaintiff's agent or the defendant?

Stamp Papers 60-1

5- 5-23 On renters' licences.

To the Board.

1. The Board wants a statement of the value of stamp papers on which muchilikas have been executed by abkari, customs, and other renters, the commission drawn on them and whether the expenses were borne by Government or the parties themselves.

2. In reply the Collector quotes three conflicting authorities on the subject of using stamp papers for muchilikas.

(a) Section vi of Regulation II of 1817 provides that "stamp paper should be used for abkari licences and the parties obtaining shall pay for them."

(b) In the Board's letter, dated 26th June 1820, it is stated, "You will observe that muchilikas do not require to be executed on stampt papers, or stampt cadjan." On this authority muchilikas from abkari renters have not been taken on stamp papers.

(c) In a subsequent letter from the Board, dated 21st June 1821, it has been specifically provided that "cowles and muchilikas for custom renters should be written on stampt paper." On this authority subsequent muchilikas have been executed on stamp papers and the renters have borne the charge.

2. With reference to an enquiry from the Board "whether there would be any objection to a modification of the law exempting all engagements in which the Government are the party, from the necessity of being executed on stampt paper," the Collector states that "as the renters have now been accustomed to receive their engagements on stampt paper, they appear to consider them more binding than when written on unstampt. The muchilikas might therefore be taken on stampt paper and the 'puttyom' on plain, as paying for both must cause some diminution in the offers for rents."

3. As regards the forgery and fraud committed on stamp papers, the Collector states that "it has been urged as an objection, people being allowed to purchase any quantity of stampt paper at one time as affording the means at a future period of forging bonds. As no forgery of the kind has yet been proved in a court, the circumstance must be considered of rare occurrence." However, the Judges can give more definite information on the subject.

17- 5-23	Restoration to the Zamindar—Collector's recommendation. To the Board. 1. The zamindar in his arzee states that in consequence of the failure of rain for the last 4 faslis, the cultivation has decreased and that the produce was insufficient to discharge the kists. As no mauniam lands were allowed to the 'Nattamkars' the zamindar was induced to allow them payment from the above insufficient produce and discharged the kists up to fasli 1230. 2. On account of these causes the zamindari fell into arrears and it was assumed in f. 1232. The zamindar requests that the zamindari may be restored to him on condition of his paying kist for the current fasli immediately and the balance for previous faslis in instalments along with the kists within three years. The Collector recommends for favourable consideration.	65-6

During his absence the butler ordered the lascar to drive the cart and proceed on their journey. 2. In the course of the journey, a glass shade was broken. The butler detained the bandies at Quilon for 3 months calling upon the cartmen to pay the cost of the shade and take back the bandies. The bandy maistry requests the Collector to address the Captain to restore the carts and pay him the hire. The Collector writes to the Captain to order the release of the carts and the payment of the hire, if the bandy maistry's statement is correct.	67-8

Gordon seems to have replied to the Collector that it is impossible for him to answer for the debts contracted by the chank ameen as the accounts maintained by him are very unsatisfactory. 2. The Collector states that the ameen represented to him that he had no funds to discharge the duty for the chank about to be exported to Bengal and that if the vessel was detained she might lose her passage. So the Collector, with a view to protecting Mr. Hunter from any loss, took the responsibility of the duty on himself and allowed the ship to sail not expecting that there would be any hesitation on the part of Mr. Hunter's agent to discharge the amount. 3. So the Collector asks Capt. Gordon whether he does not feel himself authorized to answer the demand and says that, if he does not, the Collector would write to Mr. Hunter direct.	83

The Collector further explains that the new table of rates has not been furnished to the postal writer and that he has been ordered to refund As. 2.

Village Munsifs' Courts

3- 8-23 Unpopularity of. 87

1. The Collector reports that the inhabitants are unwilling to resort to the Village Munsif's court for petty causes because they are afraid of the partiality which the village munsifs may entertain towards the parties and that they therefore prefer District Munsif's courts because the regulation empowers a village munsif to decide causes without appeal and when once a party had his case decided to his detriment he has no other resort.
2. The Collector states that in all causes before him he persuades the parties to have their differences decided either by a village munsif or a panchayat, but with very little success, "as partiality is always feared and urged as an excuse. This is particularly observable among lower classes complaining against higher."

Counterfeit Coins

15- 8-23 Test by fire. 96–7

To the Board.

1. The Collector forwards a statement of Arcot rupees tested by fire by the shroffs. With reference to an entry 'evaporated' he questioned them as to what is meant by the word and whether those rupees were entirely of lead. "They replied that many of the counterfeit rupees were so covered by silver that they might melt or disperse into such small pieces as to render it impossible to ascertain to which they belonged."
2. As regards a considerable difference between the number of rupees said to have been evaporated in the first and the second remittance "the shroffs explained that in the first remittance only a few thousands were put into fire at one time but that in the second Rs. 20,000 were tried in the mint at once and that owing to the great heat more had melted."

The Collector held an enquiry and reports that the bazaarmen applied for regular rowanahs. As there was none on hand, the bazaarmen obtained cadjan rowanahs from the gardeners in order to avoid delay. The bazaarmen must have been aware of the penalty for not obtaining a regular rowanah. The Collector is of opinion that the renter is not responsible for the voluntary act of the bazaarmen.	121

It appears that Government used to grant a lump sum of Rs. 150 from the Huzur treasury for the ceremonies which were performed for ten days. One chief item of the ceremonies was the feeding of the Brahmins.	121-6

1. The Collector, besides the other routine matters, mentions that as the "district is more free from endemics than it had been for the last 12 or 14 years since the fever burst forth, the inhabitants were in consequence enabled to pay more attention to their cultivation. This combined with the season and both wet and dry cultivation was on the whole more favourable than usual and has caused a considerable increase in the cultivation."

2. He observes that the karnums had not rendered correct cultivation accounts. This he had verified from a personal inspection of the cultivation and the accounts rendered by them.

3. Maniams.

The Collector reports that a portion of land calculated to yield a certain revenue was allowed as maniam to each of the sibbandis of the village. The extent of such lands varied according to the beriz of the village. These sibbandis in course of time converted the punjah lands into nunjah by their own labour and consequently derive a considerable benefit not contemplated at the time of the grant. He wants to know whether the sibbandi maniam-holders should receive the amount of the maniam first fixed or should receive the full benefit of the lands. He states that he received several representations from the Tahsildars that the maniamdars should be allowed only the amount fixed. The Collector's own opinion is that they are entitled to the full benefit as the conversion of punjah to nunjah would have cost them a considerable amount.

He gives a specific case in which a consignment of salt was transported under a fictitious rowanah and describes how the salt was confiscated, etc. 2. 8- 2-24	Mails to and from Colombo—Delay and irregularity. To the Postmaster General, Madras. 1. The post office writer at Ramnad was asked by the Collector to explain certain irregularities and delays in respect of mails received from Colombo. The writer explains that the mails from and to Colombo and other places are sometimes delayed by unfavourable winds, contrary currents and rough seas, when the boats are obliged to remain either on the side of the continent or that of Colombo for a period, from 4 to 8 days, until favourable signs appear. The boat tindal says that the 3 months which are called the monsoon months are the most unfavourable and that during the rest of the year there will not be a day's delay. The writer states that he is not aware of any means to check such delays. 2. The Collector in forwarding the explanation suggests that some person may be employed at Dhanushkodi and Talaimannar to keep a register of the hours and dates on which the boats deposit, so as to ascertain the time taken by the boats in running from Manar to Dhanushkodi and vice versa. This arrangement will also be a means of preventing the boat people from taking their own time in sailing with the packets "as it appears that at present it is optional to them when to start, on a plea that the weather is unfavourable to sailing." 3. He further suggests that the registers should specify the hours and dates when the mails reach the port from the post office and the hours and dates when they quit it. Each day's register should be forwarded to the post office writers when they will be enabled to ascertain if there had been any delays on the part of the boat people and whether they have experienced any adverse winds on the passage.	39-42

	1. With reference to a communication from the Board the Collector submits a brief report on cultivation and observes in a general way that in spite of the utter failure of rain there was no want of inclination on the part of the ryots to cultivate and that they have risked their seed grains in hopes of getting rain.
	2. As regards the estimate of 'shauvee' as submitted by the Tahsildars, he states that the estimate may be taken to fairly represent the actual conditions, etc.

While this practice exists there must be room for fraud because parcels may be suppressed at intermediate stages and the writer at the place of destination will be ignorant of the loss." 2. "As the case had already been decided by a competent tribunal and as the Ambalam is at present held by Shaik Ebrahim, son of Vampoo Rowthen, I should think that the claims of the petitioner to the Ambalomship should be dismissed."	153-8

	Postal Runners
16-9-24	Wages—Fixing of—Data of prices, etc. furnished. To the Postmaster General. 1. The Collector gives a comparison between a cultivating labourer and a postal runner and draws a line where the cultivator's wives and other members of their families have advantages which the runners' families have not, such as, the opportunity to gather the grain, weed the fields, take care of cattle, etc., by which means they make a separate living. 2. He states that, though the food of a strong and hale man would cost him only Rs. 2½ to 3 a month, as he has also his family to maintain, Rs. 7 is not a high wage. He further states that he believes in rewarding people liberally and that by doing so they do their work better and more cheerfully. "The runner cannot turn to advantage a leisure hour like other labourers, because he must always be at his post."	161–2

22-9-24	Delay of mails—Explanation of runner transmitted. To the Collector of Trichinopoly. The Collector of Madura forwards the explanation of a Madura runner. It explains that the delay was due to high waters in the Vaigai river, to the absence of any safe means of conveyance, to the disorderly conduct and drunkenness of the Trichinopoly runners and to the fact that a cloudy sky made it difficult to tell the correct time.	169–70

9-10-24	Arrears. To the Board. The Collector reported in the previous year that several zamindars whose estates remained assumed for arrears, expressed their desire to discharge the balances in instalments. Cultivation Report

The Collector reports that he issued a circular to the Tahsildars of Madura and Dindigul to encourage the inhabitants to extend their cultivation in the present fasli.

Dastiar Khan

18-10-24 Late Killadar of Palamcottah. 181-6

1. One Rabea Bee alleges that she is the widow of Dastiar Khan, late Killadar of Palamcottah. When Dastiar Khan died, she was not present as she and the rest of the family were made prisoners by Haidar Ali. The deceased had no male child but had one daughter. Nator, a Lubbai woman, who was a servant in the family, became pregnant and made a false report that the deceased had illicit intercourse with her. She brought forth a boy who was named Ghulam Muhamad Khan. The petitioner with her daughter is undergoing much hardship while the son of that Lubbai woman is getting the family allowance.

2. On the report furnished by the Tahsildar of Madakkulam, the Collector states that the deceased Dastiar Khan never had a wife of the name of the petitioner, Rabia Bee; that he had 4 wives; that one Nattor, a woman, was employed as a servant on 5 fanams a month; and that she had a son by name Khali Khan. It was never publicly known that she had been kept as a concubine by the deceased. The first wife had two daughters and the third wife had a son by name Ghulam Ali Khan in whose name the pension certificate for an allowance of Pag. 5½ was granted.

3. The Collector observes, "As it appears that Dastear Khan had not any wives by the name of Rabea Bee but that he had a daughter by that name . . . and as she denies any petition having been made to the Government and as there are not any witnesses to be procured to corroborate any part of the statement contained in the petition, it may be proper to confront and examine the petitioner with Ghulam Ali Khan. . . in order to ascertain the truth of her statement."

10- 1-25	Perunali village. To the Collector of Tinnevelly. The Board forwarded for the Collector's remarks a petition from Rani Mangaleswari, soliciting payment of the revenue of Anaiyur during the period of its attachment. 2. The Collector reports that, after the restoration of the village to the petitioner, when she applied for the payment of the revenue of Anaiyur village she was told that it could not be paid in consequence of its having been included in the amount of the zamindari. He is of opinion that " if the suit of the petitioner is granted, it may be expected that the Brahmins to whom the villages were restored will make similar claims to the disadvantage of the zamindari and as these villages were granted as an act of favour and may be resumed on the restoration of the zamindari, I cannot see the necessity of allowing them." 3. 	Settlement Report
24- 2-25	For f. 1233. To the Board. 1. The Board is of opinion that the Collector's report on the settlement for f. 1233 is deficient in detail. The Collector was under the belief that his frequent addresses on the state of different taluks would have furnished sufficient information. He explains that the cause for heavy remissions was an extremely unfavourable season beyond all human control. 2. Irrigation. The sources and means of irrigation are various. The Vaigai is the principal river and there are many other streams. These streams fill some of the tanks during the monsoon seasons and cultivation cheifly depends on the quantity of water received in the tanks. Owing to the failure of rains in the last season almost all the tanks were entirely dry and to this fact is due the necessity for granting remissions. He takes up each division and deals with it separately.	30-46

	Elephants
17- 3-25	Destruction of. To the Board. 1. The Board wished to know the mode adopted by the Collector of Madura for destroying elephants.	60-8

2. The Collector gives a description of a hunting scene:—
A pass between two hills should be selected and the ground for the hunt should be prepared by digging a ditch as far down the pass as may be deemed necessary and also on the sides of the hills or at any place where there may be a chance of the animals escaping. The ditch should be from 6 to 8 feet wide and sufficiently deep; the earth excavated should be thrown up so as to form a rampart to the ditch on its outer side. "Near the end of the enclosure pits should be dug out from 10 to 12 and 14 feet deep and about 8 wide. There should be three rows of them and the spaces between the pits should not be so thick as to allow an elephant to pass easily or it should be narrowed at the top, nor should be made so as to intercept the division between the first and the second pit in the first row; the third row should intercept the second so that it is almost impossible for an animal to escape all the rows. The use of the ditch has been most apparent as on one occasion some of the elephants, from the soil being very sandy and soft, continued to fill up a portion of the pit by rubbing their trunks against the sides, sufficiently to enable them to get out, whereas even should they succeed in doing so now, the ditch instantly brings them up." He illustrates the above description of the pits by a diagram.

3. "Having made the above arrangements and having well guarded the passes leading to the hills, the inhabitants of the neighbouring villages are assembled with as many matchlock men and tom-toms as can be collected. They then commence driving the animals to a particular spot in the day time. During the nights fires are lit from hill to to hill." These hills are called by the natives as 'kuttaupoo' or 'cut off'—" to prevent the animals passing and they are in this manner driven to the pits." The matchlock men and the tom-tom people are chiefly used to drive the animals whereas the inhabitants are required to keep fires on 'kuttaupoo'.

4. The Collector states "I have not yet tried forming a hunting place on a level spot of ground as the pass appears much better adapted for the purpose, but should such a spot not be met with . . . from the animals never having attempted to pass the ditch, a place surrounded by one might be formed which would answer. The ditch at the entrance should be concealed as much as possible and the entrance should be narrow in order to be the more easily guarded."

5. The Collector states that he has not a regular account of the number of elephants destroyed during the last three years. But he estimates the number at 200 of which over a dozen were taken out of the pits alive which were distributed chiefly among the poligars and the people who assisted in the hunt and some more were presented to pagodas. Some of them being too young to be brought up died. "When any of the large elephants fall into the pits they either injure themselves so much in the fall as to die in a short time or are shot."

6. In the Periyakulam area about 140 animals are reported to have been killed during the past 12 months. The Collector considers that "as most of the females which had not brought forth were with young the destruction must be considered as great".

1. The Collector reports that "under the head of russooms in the Salt department a charge of a yeomiah allowance to Shaik Abdul Cauder is entered in Mr. Kinlock's accounts in Jan. 1807. The transfer to that head appears to have been made in consequence of the sayer having been abolished. The present allowance is continued under permission from the Board, but from the tenor of the purganah it appears to be only for subsistence and not hereditary."
2. The purganah was granted by Nabob Wallajah Omeer-ul-hind Amdut-ul-mulk Assuf Dowlah Bahadur to the then Amildar and to such persons appointed in future to "Hoosain Nagar alias Shivaganga in the district of Nuthod Nagar alias Trichinopoly," and amounts to 2 sooly fanams and half a rupee per day to be paid from the sayer collections at Tondi. This allowance is to be appropriated for the subsistence of Shaik Abdul Cauder who is to pray to the Almighty for the increase of my (Nabob's) Government and prosperity."

Salt

6- 5-25 Increase in price. — 99-91

To the Board.

1. The sale of salt since the reduction of the monopoly price has doubled and trebled. At the same time it does not appear that the retail price of the salt has been lowered proportionately to the fall in the monopoly price. In the Madura district the Lubbais purchase salt and dispose of it to the retailers charging the latter with cooly hire and a pagoda or a pagoda and a half more per garce. The retailers not only dispose of the salt at an enhanced price but also increase the quantity by mixing earth with it.

2. The Collector is of opinion that if he is to raise the price there will not be such an extensive sale and remarks, "However, salt, people must have and though the quantity sold may not equal that of late years, the price will more than make up for the difference."
3. There is apparently a move for raising the monopoly price of salt. With reference to this the Collector remarks, "My not objecting to the rise in the monopoly price is merely because I do not think the inhabitants will feel the rise; because at present the gain is enjoyed by the retailers, which, I think would not be so great were the price increased."
4. As regards the trade of salt with Coimbatore, the Collector reports that Dindigul is chiefly supplied with salt by a set of people called Koravars who trade in salt. These people occasionally carry the article to Coimbatore for sale. But of late the sale in that direction is diminishing because of the large manufacture of earth salt in that district which compares very low in price to the salt taken there by the Koravars. He therefore suggests that it may be worth while to encourage the salt trade with Coimbatore by selling it at a competitively low price, say, at Pag. 15 a garce, and that if his suggestion is approved, the Collector of Coimbatore should be requested to be particularly watchful that no earth salt is manufactured.

Postal Runner

8- 5-24 Stage from Hoovairee to Madura. 92

The Collector states that the distance from Hoovairee to Madura is longer by 4 miles than other stages and suggests that to ensure speedy transmission of tappals an additional runner must needs be appointed.

The owner of the ticket states that he entrusted the ticket to his agent at Madras who died and that he had no information whether the prize amount was disbursed or not. The Collector therefore wishes to know whether he is to transmit the amount to the Superintendent or whether the Superintendent will direct the person to him when the ticket is produced.

31- 5-25 To the Principal Collector of Calicut, North Malabar. 100-1

1. The Collector of Madura reports that the Devastanam Amildar of Ramnad complained to him that a chowki renter at Palghat granted two rowanahs to some people, sent by the Amildar to buy sandalwood, that when they were on their journey the chowki renter seized and retained possession of the sandalwood under a plea that the merchant who had imported it into Palghat had defrauded the renter of the duty by producing a sea customs rowanah and promised at the same time to ascertain if the objection is valid and if not to release it. But he had not done so.
2. The Collector requests that, if the article is not liable to seizure on account of the fraud, it may be released.

2- 6-25 Sundarapandiyam village—Objections. 104

To the Collector of Tinnevelly.

The Tahsildar of Tirumangalam represented that certain objections existed in passing a decision on the dispute between the inhabitants of Sundarapandiyam and those of Cottayur in the Nadumandalam taluk. Gordon's account to be carried from port to port in Ramnad "without regulated rowanahs being taken out and duties paid."

Ramnad Devasthanam

3- 6-25 Transfer of charge objected to. 107-8

To the Sub-Collector, Ramnad.

The Collector states that the management of the devasthanams was distinct from the management of the zamindari; that the zamindari is assumed and held under aumany pending the decision in favour of one of the litigants. The devasthanam lands are attached under the provision of Regulation VII of 1817 and there will be considerable objections to the separation of the 'ain' and devasthanam management. Further he states that his object was to deal with the devasthanams and everything connected with them, distinct from the 'ain' and that he had not hitherto heard any complaint.

Gordon complained that the chowkidar prevented his sending the chanks from different stations to the repositories without the necessary rowanahs. The Collector issued orders that Capt. Gordon should give a memorandum in each case as to the number of chanks he will be transporting and on such memorandum only he will be allowed to remove the chanks. But Capt. The Collector of Madura states that an award was passed in 1823 regarding the dispute over certain lands between the inhabitants of Perunaly and Boottalaporam. Before the decree for the award was executed, the people of Boottalaporam began to continue their encroachments. He therefore suggests that the undisputed portion in the village of Perunaly should be measured and marked out as early as possible.

	Settlement Report
5- 7-25	Ramnad—Further explanation.	139-44

To the Board.

1. The Board has pointed out that the Collector had not noticed any reason for the enormous decrease in the wet cultivation whereas there was practically no diminution in the dry. The Collector explains that it was due to showers having fallen in the end of the season which, though sufficient for dry cultivation, were not heavy enough to allow of wet cultivation. This he had already stated in his original report.

2. With reference to the increase in the allowances noticed by the Board, the Collector states that it was occasioned by the length of time taken by the Sub-Collector on circuit which caused increased batta to the servants.

3. Hari Sankarapet.

The Collector states that the zamindari no doubt benefited considerably as it brought forward people to bid for grain. But the zamindar had been a loser by many contracts and the prevalence of cholera and to adopt severe measures might rain him and prevent him from liquidating his debts.

4. Taxes on land and straw.

"For watching and securing the 'melwaram' share of grain which is the Government property, the inhabitants contributed to defray the charges by paying a tax at the rate of fan. 3 per kalam of seed land brought under cultivation . . . . called land tax . . . With regard to the tax on straw, it is a conversion of the value of the straw into ready money. . . . The inhabitants formerly used to furnish a sufficient quantity of straw for the cattle and use of the zamindar's household, but in the time of Muthu Irlapillai Predaun in fasli 1193 he discontinued the practice and commuted the value of straw into a money tax charging at the rate of 2 fanams a kalam of seed land. Thus 5 fanams are paid on straw and land."

5. Woombloms (Ambalams).

The 'woombiom' lands were originally the maniams of village servants as karnams etc. The Collector quotes from Mr. Lushington's letter of 29th December 1800. "There is a peculiarity in the condition of the karnam and head inhabitants in Ramnad. In other countries, this class of ryots will generally be found to have some little substance from the large benefit they derive by a high cultivation of their landed maniam which they frequently procure from the inhabitants gratuitously upon the condition of conniving at their embezzlements. It was this circumstance which suggested their assumption whilst the Nabob had possession of Ramnad. From that period they have been considered a part of the circar lands. The compensation which the karnam and 'amblagar' and other village servants receive for their services in addition to their 'sodandram' out of 'podu shelavoo' is paid from the 'melwaram' at the rate of 10 per cent. upon it in grain and this percentage is divided according to the extent of their original 'maniams'."

6. Mr. Lushington was further of opinion that the compensation described above in addition to their 'sodandram' out of the 'podu shelavoo' would be high "if they were not taxed for each cullom of seed grain. . . This reduces their receipts so materially as to make their condition less desirable than that of the same descriptions of persons in other parts of the coast. Where they are in the enjoyment of lands and though it does not weaken the local attachment in the same degree as the innovation suggested by some of the Collectors, of a fixed sum of money, yet it cannot be doubted that it has favoured those frequent emigrations which have taken place in Ramnad, much less can it be questioned that the ancient Hindu system of allotting a specific quantity of land to the karnam must be the most powerful incentive to constant residence in the hereditary possessor of the office, without which the wise purposes of the institution must fall into neglect or be perverted into abuse."

7. "The karnam was intended to mediate between the Government and the ryot. That he might be independent and free from motives of self-interest a particular spot of land was assigned to his maintenance and though it is not upon record that he was interdicted from all further agricultural concern in the village yet a restriction of such obvious importance could not have escaped the comprehensive views that suggested the institution."

8. Mr. Lushington concludes that if "the privilege of which the karnam is so tenacious, that of meddling in the affairs of husbandry, is assumed . . . it is necessary, to keep him from motives of partiality to the ryots, that he be confined to his manium. . . . The karnams in Ramnad have an interest in increasing the circar share. This operates as a small check to their collusions with the inhabitants and might be a good modification between the possession of land and the grant of a fixed pay. If the present intricate mode of management were to continue . . . there appears to be no reason for not reinstating curnams in their ancient 'womblams' confining such indulgence to those as agree to renounce all other agricultural concern in the village."

9. From the above the Collector proceeds to report to the Board that the landed 'maniams' of the village servants had been assumed in the time of the Nabob, that they have since been considered as circar lands and that the village servants receive for their services a sodandram out of the 'podu shelavoo' and in addition 10 % of the melwaram share in grain. The Collector cites cases in which the karnams were unwilling to relinquish the share of grain and payment was made for the fixed tax and explains that it accounted for the difference in the statement accompanying his original report.

Chay Root

2- 8-25 Rates of prices. 156-7

To the Board.

1. The Collector's report mentions that the chay root is used for red cloth dyeing; the market is overstocked with the article as there is no demand for red cloths as there used to be in previous years and that the mere circumstance of the tariff being high could not be the cause of such a great fall in the sale. In spite of its abundance in Ramnad, Jaffna, Manar and Tinnevelly, the merchants are not inclined to dispose of the article for a lower price. Even though the Rameswaram root is the best, other qualities also are required to be mixed with it to give it a proper tinge.

2. The Collector gives the sea tariff rates which have been directed to be entered in the land tariff.

Chank Fisheries

15- 8-25 Remission—Claim—Considered. 157-60

To the Board.

1. Capt. P. Gordon, the chay root and chank renter, reports that he suffered considerable loss on account of the desertion of the divers and their refusal to dive. The cause of their refusal is that the best divers were driven away by judicial proceedings in which their lands were adjudged to the Muttupetah Church. He remarks that if the proceedings had been executed early he would not have advanced money to the divers but the delays and his hopes and fears had kept him in a constant state of agitation. He finally decided to advance money to the divers. He details the circumstances in which certain western divers "deserted from Teerabogy and went over to Manar. . . The Perispatnam divers returned from Ceylon and when they were desired to dive they obstinately refused. . . They were brought before the Ramnad cutchery but it was too late to muster them for diving." He describes how the church and the court were responsible for depriving him of the services of good divers and for causing consequent loss to him.

2. He urges that since the "exemptions and privileges of the divers are, of course, part of the renter's purchase just as much as shells . . . it is but an act of justice to cause the return of one of the four instalments of rent."

3. The Collector endorses, "I do not see on what just grounds the remission can be claimed, for though some of the divers had left the coast as they do every year yet I certainly consider the loss to have been greatly occasioned by the mismanagement of the agent. The chanks moreover were sold at a price below their value and if the renter did lose in that year I have no doubt he will be amply compensated by the gains in the present."

3- 8-25	Transfer to the Sub-Collector—Objected to. To the Board. 1. In further explanation of his previous report on the subject the Collector states "one strong objection is . . . the zamindari being litigated is now held under attachment by order of the Faujdari Adawlet and may be transferred to-morrow to the party in whose favour it may be granted by the King in Council or to the party who may give security. In either case I shall strongly recommend that the devasthanams remain under assumption until the whole are free from encumbrances in which case they would have to revert to my management again; and when frequent transfers take place it is impossible either party can have that knowledge of any business which either would possess by its being retained under the sole management of the same person." 2. The Collector remarks that with reference to the Sub-Collector's arguments in favour of taking up the devasthanams under his charge, he had bestowed some attention on them and cleared them of the difficulties. If he really found that inconveniences existed in the separate management of the zamindari and the devasthanams he would certainly have given charge of the devasthanams to the Sub-Collector when he gave charge of the zamindari. If however the Board is of opinion that the devasthanams should be put under the Sub-Collector he will adopt the course immediately.	162-7

The Zillah Judge of Madura wanted to verify the identity of the claimant. 2. The Tahsildar of Ramnad to whom the matter was referred reports from his enquiries that Amin-ud-din Khan alias Amin Beg Khan was never a Killadar of Madura nor a Tahsildar of Ramnad under the name of Amin-ud-din Khan. But under his right name of Amin Beg Khan "he was for some days Killadar in Madura and was afterwards employed as Fouzdar of Ramnad and Killadar in Sivaganga. From there he proceeded to Mahomed Bhunder in the northward and died there." He had no lawful wife, but when he came from Mecca he brought a woman with a child. Both the woman and the child were reported to be dead, but the truth of it has not been verified. Nothing is known about the man's survivors. About 2 or 3 years ago 'an Islaum' (A Hindu or low caste person taken into the Mussalman faith) produced a white paper to certain gentlemen and requested their signature certifying that he was the heir to Amin-ud-din's properties. They refused to sign as they did not know him. 3. Another report from the Tahsildar of Madakolam states that Amin-ud-din Khan was never a Killadar of Madura, that he was Fouzdar in Tinnevelly and Ramnad, that there is none of his family in Madura, that one Amin Beg Khan came from Arabia and was appointed Killadar of Madura and that he had a concubine and brought up a child by name Alla-ud-din.	206-9

The Collector examined the disputed ground himself and reports that both the parties advance claims to lands to which they are not entitled and suggests that "a line may be drawn from boundary stone to boundary stone each party retaining possession of the lands within their respective lines" and that if the Board agrees, he will write to the Pawally Zamindar; otherwise there will be no end to the dispute.	218

6-10-25	Chank renter—Complaint against. To Capt. Gordon. The complaint against Capt. Gordon is as follows :— 1. It is established usage that all chanks lesser in size than 9 fingers in length will be thrown back into the sea. But Capt. Gordon was purchasing all chanks fished, irrespective of the size. This was detrimental to the propagation of chank and consequently to the future fishing. 2. The Collector warns the captain to desist from such purchases if the representation be correct.	219-20

1-11-25	————Sivaganga and Pudukkottai Zamindaris. To the Resident of Tanjore. 1. Boundary disputes existed between the Zamindars of Pudukkottai and Sivaganga. According to a decision, the limits of the respective zamindaris were fixed by boundary stones. The Zamindar of Sivaganga subsequently complained to the Collector of Madura that the inhabitants of Terucalumboor in the Pudukkottai State had shut the passage of water to the tanks of Navanee Kunmoy and Pooshanie Kunmoy in Neikuppai village of the Sivaganga Zamindari and diverted the water to their own lands. Further the Pudukkottai inhabitants had encroached beyond the limits of the boundary stone to an extent of about one cawny. The zamindar requested the Collector to adopt suitable measures to prevent encroachments on his zamindari. 2. The Collector forwards the complaint to the Resident of Tanjore and requests him to cause the difficulties complained of by the Sivaganga Zamindar to be removed if they still exist.	229-30

2-11-25	Muthu Ramalingam Setupati's widows. To the Board. 1. Parvatha Vardhani Nachyar, Poorna Nachyar, Thungammah and others, widows of the late deposed Zamindar, Muthu Ramalingam Setupati, represented to the Collector that on the death of their husband the then Collector prevented them from immolating themselves, promising them to afford all the comforts which they enjoyed while their husband was alive. The square terraced house in which they live was fast falling into dilapidation for want of repairs. 2. Since they live " in a secret manner " as the women of the seraglio and cannot go to any other place and since their allowance is hardly sufficient for their maintenance, they request that their house may be repaired from the funds of the zamindari. 3. The Collector, after having received several representations to the same effect, directed the salt amildar to form an estimate for the repair and from the estimate submitted by the amildar, he observes that a sum of Rs. 4,270-8-0 will be necessary. 4. He forwards the representation of the widows and the estimate of the salt amildar to the Board and states that the support of the family devolved on the late Ranee Mangaleswari Nachyar of Ramnad and " would have since been transferred to her successors " if the country had not under attachment on account of the litigation and that the house may be repaired. He requests permission for the necessary disbursements.	230-7

5-11-25	Securities for the Zamindari. To the Judge in the Zillah of Madura. 1. The Collector states that he directed the Tahsildar of Ramnad to examine the properties tendered by the sureties of both parties and to report on them. From the Tahsildar's report it appears that a great many of the securities had tendered properties situated in the Sivaganga Zamindari. But as they were unable to substantiate their statements that the properties belonged to them, they were rejected. 2. The Collector is of opinion that if the "securities of either party be accepted and afterwards called upon to make good the amount for which they may have bound themselves," there will be endless litigation. 3. He says, "In my opinion the zamindari should not be given up on such security as now tendered, for, if it be and either party so receiving it should be hereafter ousted. I foresee nothing but a repetition of that confusion and trouble from which the zamindari has been freed and there cannot be a doubt that it will prove more advantageous to the party who may finally be put in possession to have it continued as at present under assumption until the final award has been received."	239-42

	1. The Collector forwards the report from the salt amildar at Pamban, describing how he rescued the brig, ' Eliza ', and another arzee from the captain of the ship stating how the salt amildar at Pamban extricated the brig from her perilous condition.
	2. The salt amildar's action. As soon as the salt amildar, Narasinga Rao, got the orders of the Collector to look for the wrecked brig, he went to Pamban and inspected the brig, which was sunk in the Pamban river. The brig brought a cargo from Madras and other ports to the value of Rs. 1,20,000 and had paid a duty of Rs. 7,000. As the state of Pamban pass was doubtful, the cargo was brought to land and lodged in godowns. The vessel seems to have struck a rock. She had a hole on one side about 15 feet long and 1 foot broad by which the water entered and sank her. After he arrived at Pamban he collected the tindals and lascars of 14 vessels that touched Pamban. Together with the pilots and inhabitants of the port he gathered about 308 men and procured planks, rowing boats, ropes, etc.
	3. He placed four boats on the four sides of the sunk vessel and tied them to her. He then gradually floated her by hauling on ropes over pulleys. When the sunk vessel was raised she was moved towards the shore, the ropes were untied and simultaneously planks were placed underneath. Again by means of ropes she was dragged to the shore. The expenses attending on the implements and the men engaged amounted to Rs. 130-13-0. This was represented to Capt. Denison of the brig. As the vessel was a big one it was a very difficult task to get it ashore. Several of the planks and ropes gave way and several new ones had to be got.

2. The Collector, in reply, quotes an extract from the proceedings of the Sudder Adawlat. "The Court consider it expedient in a case of such magnitude that the Zillah Judge should refer to the Collector to ascertain whether the representations of the securities, that the land they have tendered is bona fide their own is borne out by the fact of its standing in respective names in the public records of his office" and states that "the lands tendered as security were chiefly 'dharmashanum' lands as found on enquiry. . ." Only a portion of the sharers who were consulted objected to their shares being included and the Collector, foreseeing that there will be endless disputes, gave his opinion that in a case of such importance no such lands should be accepted unless they were of the most satisfactory and unexceptionable nature.

10- 1-25 ————Mails from Colombo. 10-1

To the Postmaster General.

1. The Collector forwards an arzee from the post office writer at Ramnad reporting that mails from Colombo had not been received from the 27th ultimo to the 4th instant."
2. In the arzee the post office writer states that seeing the non-receipt of the mails from Colombo he wrote to the gumastah at Dhanushkodi to report the cause. The gumastah replied that there was a new man in charge at Colombo, a Portuguese, who encouraged the boat people to delay. The delay was due to the boatmen and not to the weather which was fine and calm. The gumastah further stated that if the wind was not favourable the boatmen could have used oars and could have come 2 or 3 days later.
3. The post office writer, on a consideration of the report of the gumastah and his recommendation to fine the boat people, remarks thus. "As the Doney people have been neglectful without feeling a dread of being alert in the duties of the Circar, I beg to recommend that they may be fined one month's salary."

10- 1-26 Brig, 'Elizah'—System of pilotage at Pamban. 11-8

To the Marine Board.

1. The enquiry into the damages sustained by the brig, 'Elizah,' revealed the customary practice of certain families doing pilot work in the Pamban pass, to receive remuneration from the captains of ships. This practice was considered by the salt amildar at Ramnad as a vexatious one and he suggests certain improvements.

Wreck—cont.

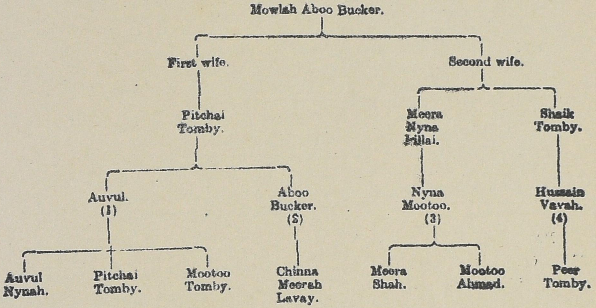
2. The pilots, Auvul Nynah Amblom, Peer Tomby, Mootoo Ahmad and Chinna Meerah Levay, made a statement. They say that about 250 years ago the Pamban pass was not so broad and that people used to walk across it. Then a hurricane struck it, and it was broadened so much that neither people nor vessels could cross it. At this time Shadakatauer, the Zamindar of Ramnad, came to Pamban. His breast plate set with precious stones had accidentally fallen into a well in front of the Viraswami koil. The representatives' fourth grandfather, who was formerly a Valluvan and who afterwards became a Mussalman and received the name of Mowlah Aboobucker, dived into the well of 3 fathoms deep and brought back the breast plate. On account of this service the Ramnad Zamindar was pleased with him and granted to him the right of taking people across the 'Bar of Paumban' in payment of a fee.

3. This Mowlah Aboobucker had a son, Pitcha Tomby, by his first wife and Meerah Nynah Pillai and Shaik Tomby, by his second wife. The first wife's son was entitled to half the privileges and the other two sons to the other half. As time went on the descendants of Mowlah Aboobucker stood as follows:—



4. The fees paid by the captains of the ship were divided among the four families and they always performed their duties conjointly. Auvul Nynah was the 'Amblogoren' and he received and divided the allowance. In course of time a difference arose. A complaint was preferred by some of the members to the Commercial Resident, who directed that in future the allowances paid for piloting by the captains of the ships should be received by the sea customs chowkidar at Pamban and that he should pay the amount to Auvul Nynah, the 'Amblogaren', and take his receipt and that the latter should divide it among the sharers. Again a difference arose in the family and a representation was made to the Collector, who ordered that such persons as are actually engaged in taking vessels over the 'bar' need alone be paid such hire as may be paid by individuals so employing them; and this custom was in vogue.

[There are no documents to prove the origin of the grant by the then zamindar.]

5. The salt amildar forwards this statement together with his several reports on the investigation into the damages sustained by the brig 'Elizah.'

6. With reference to the alleged indifference on the part of the pilot, Mootoo Ahmad, the salt amildar states that since the pilots at the Pambban are living solely on the allowances granted to them for piloting the vessels, as any indifference on their part would deprive them of their bread, as they will be considered incompetent and since Mootoo Ahmad himself, who had obtained many certificates of merit as to his capacity as pilot and to his good conduct, was engaged in the work, there could not be any indifference on the part of the pilots.

7. On further enquiries and investigation, the salt amildar finds that the whole calamity was due to unfavourable winds which shifted the anchors before the brig was under weigh. The Collector is satisfied with the report of the salt amildar.

8. As recommended by the salt amildar the Collector considers it advisable to fix a certain salary for each of the four pilots and to place them under the orders of the customs chowkidar at Pamban and that a fixed rate of hire should be collected on all vessels "crossing the pass and that it be brought to the public account . . ." The Collector supports the suggestions of the salt amildar that "the present system of hiring cables and other implements from individuals appears to afford room for complaint and inconvenience because they are sometimes found very weak." The Salt amildar's suggestion to buy anchors, cables and a rowing boat is supported by the Collector.

Ramnad 18–26

12- 1-26 Crop sharing system.

To the Board.

1. The Collector reports that the settlement of the Ramnad Zamindari was completed for the preceding fasli according to the usual custom of dividing the crops of the wet lands and receiving a fixed ready money as assessment for the dry but that, in consequence of the changes in the rules for estimating the wet crops as proposed by the head tahsildar and accepted by him, the following mode was tried.

2. "The circar servants were directed, in company with the inhabitants and watchers, to gather the produce as soon as ripe, and in conformity with previous orders a number of straw ropes measuring 8 feet in length were prepared and the grain when cut was bound up with them into bundles, which after being examined and counted by the servants of two of them were taken of each description of land and thrashed, the produce noted down and the average taken which formed the basis for calculating the estimated produce. Afterwards should there be time the whole of the bundles were thrashed, if not they were heaped upon the established thrashing floor and stamps put upon them."

3. It may be necessary to cite here the practice that obtained prior to the experiment quoted above and the reasons which actuated the Collector to accept the change. "It had hitherto been usual with the public servants to form estimates of the produce when the crops have been reported ripe and fit for the sickle." This created frequent delays and was detrimental to the ryots both in reaping and dividing the crops. It was represented by the head tahsildar that if a mode which prevailed many years ago were adopted it would lessen the interference of the circar servants with the ryots and the Collector resolved to try it.

4. The Collector considers that the advantages of his experimental system are—

(a) Rendering the intereference of the public servants with the cultivators much less.

(b) The crops are cut immediately when ripe without waiting for the monegar or headman to estimate the produce.

(c) The crops are divided much speedily and with much less loss to the inhabitants.

(d) There is less time or room for theft.

(e) A more correct estimate of the produce must be formed by actual measurement of a portion of the crops than by merely estimating them when on the ground, etc.

The Collector recommends a continuance of this method if it should prove advantageous on further trial. He then proceeds with the usual routine report for the fasli.

15- 1-26 Mails from Colombo—Delay in arrival. 27-8

To the Postmaster General.

1. The Collector forwards two arzis from the post office writer of Ramnad regarding the delay in the receipt of the Colombo mails.

2. The first arzi.

The post office writer understands from the gomastah at Dhanuskodi that the mails for Colombo have been detained at that place from the 27th ultimo to the 12th instant as the mail boats from Colombo have not called in spite of the fact that the wind appears to be very favourable for their sailing.

3. The second arzi.

The post office writer reports the receipt of the mails from Colombo and that he has despatched them to their several destinations, and that the Dhanuskodi gumastah stated that on enquiring of the tindals as to the cause of delay they replied that it was due to unfavourable winds and that their doneys attempted to sail from day to day.

The Collector forwards a petition from Rayappa Achari and reports that the Achari was of the left hand caste and "caused a good deal of trouble in his endeavours to excite the right hand castes to quarrel. A warrant was therefore issued for his apprehension." The Collector says that for the peace of the country it is absolutely necessary to bind him under a surety for his future good conduct. 2. The case of the petitioner is that he is paying an annual kist of Rs. 130 on his own lands and Rs. 5,500 towards the rent of betel farms to the Company, that on the evil advice of his enemies the Tahsildar was trying to put him to shame by various means under the pretext of default in paying the rents and revenue even though he has been very prompt in their discharge, that the Tahsildar caused his servants to bring the petitioner bound before him to be put 'in stocks', that the Tahsildar has placed men on the different roads to beat him and that he could not lay the matter before the Collector as he was afraid to come out lest he should be molested by the Tahsildar's men. The petitioner requests that his grievances may be redressed.	149-50

10-11-26	Surplus revenue—Investment in Government loans. To the Accountant-General. The zamindari is under attachment pending the appeal to the King in Council. The surplus revenue of the zamindari laid out for interest in Government loans fetches an interest at 5 per cent. which will be in favour of the party for whom the decision may be passed. Under such circumstances the Collector is not in a position to draw the acknowledgment and to maintain the account register. He therefore forwards them to the Board for instructions.	151-3

14-12-26	Zamindari arrears. To the Board. The Board has issued orders apparently to sequestrate the Idaiyagottai Zamindari and to report the exact amount due. The Collector replies that the Tahsildar to whom the zamindari is attached has so much work to do that he cannot attend to the zamindari. So the Collector suggests that as the zamindari is a small one a monegar and a tamil gumastah on Rs. 10 and one shroff on Rs. 7, with 5 peons at Rs. 3 each may be sanctioned for the zamindari for the prompt collection of the revenue. The Collector reports that the balance due from the zamindari is Rs. 21,618 of which Rs. 20,545 had been collected by the time the reply was sent.	167-8

3- 1-27	Pilferage and wastage—Check on. To the Board. 1. The Board informed the Collector that it is desirable that no salt should be received into the store until it has been collected from the pans sufficiently long to allow the moisture to evaporate so as to guard against undue wastage. 2. It also requested the Collector to report what steps he has taken to prevent illicit sale or fraud before the salt is received in the store.	5

	3. The Collector states as follows:—"It is customary to place the salt in small heaps sealed and numbered on the sides of the beds and allowed to remain for eight days; when the moisture is considered sufficiently evaporated it is removed near the platforms where they are measured by ropes and kept in separate heaps for each individual, a month after which they are received into the store, any little deficiency by evaporation during that period being borne by the inhabitants and the Circar according to their respective shares; the inhabitants are obliged personally to watch their respective heaps and are bound to be answerable for the delivery of the salt from the heaps watched by them into store in the same quantity as when it was delivered by rope measurement when in the heaps to their custody. This precaution has hitherto been found a sufficient preventive against fraud or illicit sale from the time the salt is first gathered from the pans to its being ultimately received into store."

19- 2-27	Messrs. Johnston and Hurdis. To the Board. 1. There is apparently a doubt as to the ownership of the building. The Board requested certain information regarding the building styled 'Hurdis house', situated near Madura.

	2. The Collector forwards a few depositions obtained from certain individuals and states that on a minute examination of the records it appears that Mr. S. Johnston built the bungalow at a considerable expense at Tumkum.
	3. Mr. Hurdis occupied it temporarily and during that time repaired it. It is not clear how Mr. Hurdis came to consider the house his own property and offer it for sale to Government.
	4. The depositions of the residents show that the building was originally erected by Tirumalai Naick for viewing sports and Mr. Johnston improved it by erecting upper rooms.
	5. An enclosure to the correspondence shows that Mr. Hurdis applied for a certain ground for a house-site and the Board granted it about the year 1803.
	6. About May 1805, Mr. Hurdis, understanding that it was the intention of the Government to establish a judicial court at Madura, offered his house, the building in question, either for sale for Pag. 2,650 or for an annual rent of Pag. 325 for any number of years.
	7. About July 1805, the then Collector addressed the Government recommending the peculiar fitness of the building "to every purpose of a court of justice" and remarking on its "centrical and healthy situation." He further pointed out that the cost of the building as offered was far below the outlay which the Government would have to make for a new building of its type for their purpose.
	8. Depositions of persons who were actually in the service of Mr. Johnston disclose that the house built by Tirumal Naick was in ruins and a thick jungle of trees surrounded it and that Mr. Johnston built upon the ruins and cleared out the shrubs and trees and planted avenues.
	9. One Kalyani, the son of Erulandi Servagaren, deposed that Mr. Hurdis occupied the Tumkum house, repaired the staircase and the tiled verandah. He remained in that house for five months and after that returned to Dindigul. The above deposition is corroborated by another, by name Ayyamperumal.

20- 3-27	Balances—Realization. To the Board. The Collector reports that the Idaiyagottai Zamindar has endeavoured to borrow money to liquidate his balances for f. 1236 and that the whole has been realized. As the zamindar requests that the zamindari may be continued to him the Collector recommends that his request may be granted.	43

22- 3-27	Report on. To the Board. The Collector reports that formerly the chests or boxes contained only Rs. 1,500; but the present boxes are sufficiently large to contain Rs. 5,000. They cannot be so easily taken and only three boxes will be loaded on each cart.	45

27- 3-27	Sivaganga Zamindari—Disputes. Some of the head Shanars complained of the lower Shanars. The Collector on enquiry found that it was a trick played by the head Shanars to levy a tax on the lower Shanars to whom the former were unable to give employment.	46-7

4- 5-27	Stages for bearers. To the Postmaster General. 1. The Collector reports that he has no other prospect of procuring the permanent services of bearers to be stationed at the different places where public bungalows have been erected than that of granting them a monthly allowance of Rs. 5-4-0 to Rs. 7. 2. He reports that on the route from Trichinopoly to Madura no bearers are procurable. Because even though there are 70 or 80 of them residing on the road they are driven to earn their bread by other means as their services as bearers are seldom required on that route. As for inducing them to leave their habitations for a new place it will only be possible if they are offered a fixed monthly pay. 3. However it may in the long run be possible that they would become attached to their local stations "and might then be tempted to accept inam lands—an offer which they now decidedly reject." 4. He forwards a list of the stages between Madura and Trichinopoly and states that as the jurisdiction of the Collector of Tinnevelly commences from the 12th mile from Madura it may not be necessary to station bearers on the Palamcottah road.	56-7
	Foreign Coins
6- 5-27	Uniform currency to be introduced. To the Accountant-General. 1. There appears to have been a proposal to introduce a uniform currency "to cancel the admission of coins of foreign mints in payment of revenue and that none but the current coin of the Madras Presidency should be considered a legal tender in liquidation of the public demands."	59-60

	Foreign Coins—cont. 2. In this connection the Collector was asked to state "whether any or what objection may possibly be urged by the people." 3. He reports to the Accountant-General that he cannot ascertain the quantity of foreign coin in his district or the proportion which it bears to the rupees, annas and pies. At the same time he remarks that it has greatly diminished, as could be seen from the tenders made towards the revenue in the preceding two faslis and that there may remain a small quantity which can be collected within six months, if a proclamation is issued that foreign coins will not be received after that time at more than their intrinsic value.
24- 5-27	Stamp Vendors Regulations XIII of 1816 and IV of 1821. To the Board. 1. The Collector reports that he has no objection to permitting all persons contemplated in Regulation IV of 1821 to sell stamps and that he has had no occasion to notice any inconvenience from a want of additional vendors. 2. With reference to Clause 10 of Regulation XIII of 1816, he observes that there is no reason to apprehend that any quantity of stamp paper could be purchased for retail sales inasmuch as the names of purchasers, the date of the sale and the purpose for which stamps are purchased are invariably noted on the back of the stamps and a day-book is maintained by the stamp vendors.	62
24- 5-27	Village Officers Allowances. To the Board. 1. The Collector is asked to report whether there are any villages in his district in which the head inhabitants are not in receipt of any allowances either in money or otherwise. 2. The Collector replies that in the unsettled part of the district all the head inhabitants have manniums granted to them according to the beriz of the villages. In some zamindaris land is granted, and in others, grain.	63-4
24- 5-27	Foreign Coins Ramnad and Sivaganga. To the Board. 1. The Collector reports that the current coins of Ramnad and Sivaganga were formerly shooly fanams, on which the Istemrar settlement was formed. 2. The exchange of Ramnad was at 27 $\frac{13}{80}$ per star pagoda and that of Sivaganga was at 28 $\frac{15}{80}$. "It appears to have been usual both in the Ramnad and the Sivaganga Zamindaris to receive from the inhabitants a difference in exchange. For instance if the ryot had to pay 27½ shooly fanams and he could not procure fanams, and the bazaar rate was 22½, he paid his pagoda and 5 fanams whereby he sustained a loss of 5 fanams in the pagoda. As this falls heavily on the inhabitants" the Collector is of opinion that it should be abolished. 3. He says that the zamindar seems to have insisted that since the settlement was formed on shooly fanams the demands should be paid in that coin only. But when the Collector pointed out to him that the circular made a similar demand on him he became nervous and said he would await the orders of the Board.	64-5

	Service Inams
24- 5-27	Ousting the jurisdiction of the Courts of Adawlat. To the Board. 1. On the initiative of the Collector of Bellary it is proposed to prepare a regulation to exclude the service inams from the jurisdiction of the Adawlat Courts. The Collector of Madura is asked to consider the feasibility of either excluding or including such inams from the court's jurisdiction. 2. In reply he submits a list of the offices to which inams are granted. From that list it is found that service inams are not confined to village offices but apply to every charitable institution such as pagodas, chatrams, mosques, etc. He is of opinion that the control of these inams and that of the village sibbandi should certainly be excluded from all judicial interference and should rest entirely with the Collector.	65

The Collector and the Judge in the district have at last succeeded in establishing three tahsildary schools, one at Dindigul, another at Madura and the third at the cusba of Tirumangalam. They report that there are at present 60 scholars, that "only two youths have presented themselves as candidates for the district schools and that they subsequently declined proceeding to Madras for the purpose required."	81-2

31- 7-27	Nagalapuram kattalai. To the Collector of Tinnevelly. The Collector of Madura reports that the mittadars of Naugalauram prevented the Vedars (Akkudars) of Naugalapuram kattalai from collecting the kists and, as a consequence, the kattalai is likely to be discontinued. He requests the interference of the Tinnevelly Collector, should the report on investigation be found correct.	85

He reports that the old man, Shaik Nuther, resided at Madura for a long time and bears a good character from his O.C. and that his case may be settled without giving him the trouble of proceeding to Madras.	97

	Boundary Dispute
31– 8–27	Bundaree village. To the Collector of Tinnevelly. The Collector of Madura writes that as the land in dispute is included in the survey accounts of the Bundaree village, it might be advisable to adopt some measures to discover the real facts of the case. For that purpose, he suggests that the parties be directed to decide their case by arbitration.	106–7
	Kazi
3– 9–27	Office of—Necessity for. To Government. The Collector reports that in Madura the kazi's duties are confined simply to that of performing the religious ceremonies of 'khutbah' during two months of the year. Ceremonies like marriages, deaths etc., appear to be performed by the mirasidars themselves with or without the aid of the kazi. In view of the scanty Mussalman population in Madura the Collector is of opinion that there is no necessity for the office of a kazi in Madura.	109

	Exchange Rates
6- 9-27	Pagoda and fanams. To the Board. Consequent on the proposal to introduce a uniform currency, it is proposed to receive the cully and shooly fanams in vogue, only at their intrinsic value. But the Collector is of opinion that the measure will be attended with inconvenience and loss and requests that the rate of exchange may be allowed at the present rates of 16¼ cully fanams and 27⅝ shooly fanams per pagoda until the end of the present year.	112
	Salt
12- 9-27	Payments to manufacturers. To the Board. 1. There is a proposal from the Board that the inhabitants should be paid for their salt when received into store. 2. The Collector after consulting the manufacturers, reports that the present mode of payment should continue, because salt is manufactured only at certain seasons of the year and if the manufacturers are to receive a lump sum for their salt delivered at the stores, they may not be able to retain the money for paying the under ryots when they deliver their salt. If the under ryots are not paid punctually for the salt delivered by them they may become careless and inattentive to their future manufacture. 3. "As it has always been the case for the under inhabitants to assist in taking care of salt, till sold, by relieving them from this charge it would be rendering them too independent of the mirasidars." The Collector therefore considers that the present mode of payment is the best, i.e., payment on such quantity as may be actually sold.	113

	Salt
12- 9-27	Payment to manufacturers. To the Board. 1. The Collector finds an opportunity to reiterate his suggestion that the payment to the manufacturers for the salt should be on the quantity actually sold and not on the quantity received from them into the store. 2. He reports that 10% of the salt was received to cover wastage and the loss actually sustained and that the percentage should be deducted from the accounts.	117-9

12- 9-27	Civil duties—Queries answered.	119-20

To the Board.

1. The Board forwarded to the Collector a letter from the Government of Bombay who wanted answers to their queries.
2. With reference to the query as to what troops or sibbandis are employed besides the troops of the line, the Collector replies that no troops are employed on civil duties except the revenue peons who collect the revenues and guard the treasuries of the taluk cutcheries.
3. With reference to the query as to the number of troops detailed for jail duties, the Collector replies that as the jails in his district are under the Criminal Judge, he cannot state the number of peons employed in that duty.
4. With reference to the query regarding the guard employed for the Collector's treasury and for the transport of cash, the Collector replies that a jamedar guard of about 24 sepoys of the invalids is placed over the Collector's treasury, that from 8 to 10 revenue peons are employed, according to the amount, to escort the treasure from the taluks to the Collector's treasury and that remittances from the Collector's treasury to the Presidency are always escorted by troops of the line under the command of a European officer.

3-10-27 Devasthanam village of Puvani.

To the Collector of Tinnevelly.

1. It is represented to the Collector of Madura by the renter of Puvani village, attached to the Rameswaram Koil, that the Tinnevelly Collector has forbidden him to collect the swarnadayam in the above village.
2. The Collector of Madura informs the Collector of Tinnevelly that it appears from the puttyam that the fixed revenue payable to his treasury is Rs. 1,143 annually and that it is not clear whether he has devised any other means for collecting the swarnadayam on the village than by the usual method and at the usual rate, and enquires whether he considers the village is liable to more than the fixed poruppoo.
3. He further says, "It certainly appears to me that the Circar is only entitled to the fixed 'poruppoo' of a devasthanam village and that all advantages derivable to a village belong to the pagoda to which it is attached."

11-10-27	Zamindari villages—Regulation V of 1822. To the Board. The Court of Sudr Adawlat wanted to know whether the protection to the ryots contemplated in the regulation is actually required and whether it is found possible to afford it in practice. The Collector details the procedure and states that he cannot discover any case in which a zamindar sued a ryot for the recovery of an arrear and that the provisions of Regulation V of 1822 do not appear to be at all necessary for his district.	150-2

31-10-27	'Kattalais'—Appropriation of funds. To the Collector of Coimbatore. The Collector of Madura wants a statement showing the amount of settlement and charges of Meenakshipuram and Eravarpatti villages, then situated in the Karur taluk, which was in the Coimbatore district, in order to ascertain whether the Superintendent of the Meenakshi koil has duly applied the funds to the purposes for which they were granted. He requests that the Tahsildar of the range may be directed to take charge of the two villages and collect the revenues, which should be remitted to him only on application.	160-1
	Palni Koil
31-10-27	Kattalais of the Tondaiman Raja Bahadur. To the Resident at Tanjore. 1. There is some suspicion of embezzlement of the 'kattalai' funds by the Superintendent of the 'kattalai'. He requests the Resident to direct the karnams of the villages allotted by the Raja Tondaiman Bahadur for the 'kattalai' to proceed to him with their accounts, so that he may ascertain whether the funds received from those villages have duly been applied to the appropriate kattalais. 2. He suggests that in future the revenues of those villages should be collected and held in deposit by the officers of the Raja Tondaiman Bahadur until applied for. This will prevent the Superintendent of the kattalai from embezzling any part of the fund.	161
	Customs Renting
31-10-27	Losses explained. To the Board. The Collector explains that "no proposer for the rent of the sayer is put in possession of his farm until he has tendered security for the fulfilment of his engagements with the Circar", that the decrease of Rs. 5,000 was occasioned by the failure of the first proposers to give security and that some of the chowkis were re-rented at a loss of Rs. 5,040-11-7 in f. 1236, and if in this re-renting, the renters failed to tender proper securities, directions have been given to assume their properties.	162-3

21-11-27	Rate of interest. To the Board.	174

1. The Board wanted to know the usual rate of interest actually paid in the district for money borrowed on adequate security and the Collector's opinion on the expediency of reducing the present legal rate.
2. The Collector reports that on enquiry it is understood that the money-lenders take as sufficient security either jewels or other property and lend money at 1½% per month. But since the Regulation XXXIV of 1802 prohibited taking interest at more than 12% per annum and the courts have failed to decree more than 12%, the money-lenders take a separate bond for the difference of ½% per month.
3. He is of opinion that the 12% which is considered the legal rate is no doubt high. But the money-lenders whom he consulted are reported to remark that if the interest is lowered, they will lay out their money in trade and then lend out at a lower rate of interest.

The Collector reports that he assumed a portion of the zamindari equal to the balances due and that he was happy to find that Rs. 7,000 have been realized. The zamindar in his anxiety to retain the zamindari is forced to borrow at high rates of interest to keep abreast of the Government demands. But the Collector is of opinion that coercive measures on the zamindar will make the zamindari involved and that the balances should be collected from time to time and thereby the zamindar should be prevented from borrowing at high rates.

27-12-27	In charge of travellers' bungalows—Pay. To the Accountant-General and to the Military Paymaster at Quilon.	190-1

1. The Governor in Council in his minute approves the suggestion of the Commander-in-Chief, that, in view of the great distance at which many of the pensioned and invalid sepoys in charge of travellers' bungalows may reside, the Collectors of the districts should be authorized to discharge the monthly pay or pension of the sepoys and to adjust it with the Paymaster of the division.
2. The Collector of Madura forwards extracts of the minutes of the Governor in Council and asks how they would wish to adjust the payments thus made monthly.

	Decree
28-12-27	Solavandan District Munsif's Court—No. 254 of 1823. To the Judge in the zillah of Madura. 1. The house of the 4th defendant in the above suit was attached to satisfy the amount of the decree passed by the District Munsif. One Karappanna Servagar advanced his mortgage claim on the property attached and thereby objected to the sale. The munsif had summoned the Servagar for a series of interrogatories. But the summons was returned stating that he was absent. Pending the examination of the Servagar the munsif could not execute his decree over the property in question. 2. Meanwhile the munsif is informed by a revenue duffadar that the 4th defendant Kumaraswami Pillai, who is the owner of the house, had on a previous occasion tendered the self-same house as security for a renter of country arrack and that the house was put up for sale, but as the highest bid was very low the sale was not effected. This report was corroborated by the arzi of the Tahsildar, who added that the 4th defendant has been neither in possession nor in enjoyment of the house since then and that the petitioner Karappanna Servagar did not come forward then to state any objection. 3. The Collector is therefore of opinion that the dues of the Government can justly be realized by the sale of the house, in consequence of its having been tendered as security and there being no objection at that time.	192-3

The Collector is of opinion that the innovations may be given effect to from the next year, because most of the renters have given security for one quarter of the rents and if they fall in arrears in the current fasli instructions will be issued to resume their rents. Further the renters are disinclined to furnish securities because in the Madura district there are not many people of considerable property and those who possess property are not willing to take the rent, risking their property as security.	12-3

8- 1-28	Payment of kists—Medium of coinage.	13-25

To the Board.

1. The Sivaganga Zamindar exacted from the inhabitants, the revenue on the lands in shooly fanams at the bazaar rate of star pagodas, whereas he paid his kists to the Government in rupees and pagodas. By this method the inhabitants were put to loss and the zamindar gained himself, as has been noticed in the previous volume.
2. The inhabitants complained to the Collector about the medium of payment. He warned the zamindar that he should pay his kists to the Circar in like coins as he is taking the revenues from the inhabitants. The zamindar's plea was that the permanent settlement was based on star pagodas and shooly fanams, and that therefore he is not bound to receive other coins. When the inhabitants could not procure star pagodas they had to pay in shooly fanams at the enhanced rate of exchange. The Collector also wanted the zamindar to act according to his engagement with the Circar.
3. The zamindar addressed the Board to justify his action. He alleges that otherwise he would be put to much loss.
4. The Collector forwards another petition from the zamindar stating that he may be allowed to measure the lands of dharmasanam villages so that he may collect the poroopoo on whatever increase there might be in the cultivation since the settlement. With reference to this petition, the Collector remarks that, when the peshkash was fixed the poroopoo was also fixed on each village at 2 to 7 shooly fanams, and that he had replied to the zamindar that if he sought to increase the poroopoo on additional lands within the boundaries of the villages when the peshkash remained fixed, the Circar had an equal right to a share of that addition.
5. The Collector requests the Board's orders.

21- 1-28	Qualifications and commission. To the Board. 1. The Collector states that it has hitherto been usual for the English Accountant of the Huzur Cutcherry to have charge of the stamps and that he was allowed to draw 3 per cent. on the whole amount of the sales. Of this 2 per cent. was given to the vendors. On a representation from the English Accountant the percentage of commission was raised to 5, in consideration of the trouble and responsibility involved. The stamp daragah who is put in possession of a certain quantity of stamps is also paid the commission of 5 per cent. 2. With reference to a proposal from the Board the Collector sees no objection to allowing 3 per cent. to the district servants on their sales and 3 per cent. to the darogah on his sales and recommends that the darogah should be paid in addition Pag. 5 a month and Pag. 3 for a gumastah. If there is a person in charge of receiving and issuing the stamps he may draw 3 per cent. on the sale of the rowanahs only.	31-3

For a balance of Rs. 35,290-9-3 due from the sowcar he passed a kararnamah and deposited a bond in his favour by one Mullarjee Appah of Tanjore, for St. Pag. 1,360. After the death of Harsankara Bhatt a suit was instituted in the Court of H.H. the Raja of Tanjore by the Government against Mullarjee Appah and a decree was obtained against him. In consequence of Mullarjee Appah having no properties within the jurisdiction of the Court of H.H. the Raja of Tanjore, the Government vakil was asked to present a motion to the Provincial Court for the execution of the decree on the property of the defendant Mullarjee Appah, situated within the jurisdiction of the Zillah Court of Kumbakonam. The court could not comply. 2. The Collector remarks that, "if some provision for the execution of the decree of His Highness's Courts against property of individuals, situated within the jurisdiction of the zillah courts be not made, there appears little prospect of recovering the amount against Mullarjee Appah and the decree must remain but as a dead letter."	40-4

The loss occasioned by the floods is 5 garces and 388 marakkals. 2. In Rameswaram salt is spontaneously produced. It was gathered in heaps to be conveyed to platforms. The rain which fell in November destroyed the whole, amounting to 6 garces and 359 marakkals. 3. The Collector requests that he may be permitted to deduct the total loss of 12 garces and 347 marakkals from the quantity exhibited in the accounts.	55-6

22- 2-28	Report. To the Board. The Collector reports that the "teerwahs in some of the adjacent villages are higher than the reduced rates." In the suit, Government versus Mullarjee Appah, filed in the Court of H.H. the Raja of Tanjore, as the defendant was a native of the Tanjore Fort, a decree was obtained for a sum of Rs. 8,432-5-5. Seeing that the defendant had no property, the decree was not executed. But subsequently it was reported that he possessed properties in the zillah of Kumbakonam. A motion was presented to the Provincial Court soliciting that the Zillah Court of Kumbakonam may be directed to cause an execution of the decree. But the court replied that it had no powers to direct the execution of a decree passed by the Court of H.H. the Raja of Tanjore	70-2

2. On this decision of the Provincial Court, the Collector wants a ruling of the Sudr Adawlat. For this purpose he gives a summary of the case and asks the Government vakil to present a petition to the Sudr Adawlat and to forward to him the orders passed by that court. In doing so the Collector cites a case in which the Sudr Adawlat, under date 1st March 1827, have ruled that it is competent to any one of the zillah courts to execute the decree of another court or of the late Recorder's Court on receiving a duly authenticated copy of it, unless the party against whom it is given, proves that it has been satisfied.

3. He further observes that as the Raja of Tanjore is empowered by the treaty "to form a court for the adjudication of certain cases, the case in question is one of those and the production of a decree in the case passed by the Raja's Court must be considered as proving both its authority to adjudicate and the fact that it has adjudicated the matter at issue. According to the reasoning of the Sudr Adawlat the Provincial Court ought to recognise the decree and to act upon it in order to its being satisfied."

4. The Collector encloses a copy of the Provincial Court's order.

11- 3-28 Zamindar's family—Allowances—Division of. 76-8

To the Private Secretary "to Government."

1. With reference to a petition from Sinnabalammah, the widow of the late Zamindar of Palni, which was forwarded to the Collector for report, he states that he received a similar petition from the Board on which he had endorsed as follows.

2. "It has been proved by 14 zamindars, nattamkars and other inhabitants that Kumora Vijia Vayyaburi Chinna Obala Nayak is the grandson of the elder brother of the petitioner's husband. The petitioner proved that the Pag. 30 which she was getting per mensem was divided into 3 shares of Pag. 10 each"; one share was paid to the deceased zamindar's sister, i.e., the petitioner's husband's sister, another share to his mother and the third share the petitioner retained for herself. "Kumara Vijaya Vayyaburi Chinna Obala Nayak performed the funeral ceremonies of the mother of the zamindar. He is therefore entitled to the mother's share."

3. The Collector further reports that the allowance was granted for the support of the zamindar's family in 1807. But as the petitioner withheld the distribution of it, he thought that he ought to interfere to give a portion to the legal heir of the late zamindar's mother as his grandfather was the zamindar previous to the petitioner's husband.

16- 3-28 Introduction—Preliminary step. 78

To the Board.

The Collector states that "the whole of the revenue of Madura and Dindigul has been calculated in cully fanams and the rate of exchange fixed at 16½ per pagoda. The time allowed for receiving these coins might be extended to January 1829 and notice given that they would not be received after that date."

21- 3-28	Duty on—Report. To the Board. 1. The Collector replies that "tobacco pays a duty of five per cent. on its selling price and a consumption duty of one Madras fanam and 40 cash per viss. 400 betels valued at one Madras fanam pay five per cent. duty and a consumption duty of one fanam and 20 cash. If the article is transported from the place of growth to another chowki station it pays five per cent. duty and the consumption duty at the place where it is consumed." 2. "Ganja, bang and gudauk are little known as articles of traffic in this district and seldom or never has any duty been collected on them."	79-80

21- 3-28	Continuance recommended. To the Board. The Collector reports a case in which he discontinued the payment of the allowance on the son's attaining the majority. On the other hand he requests sanction for employing a few more Mahratta gumastas and two additional writers at the huzur.	84-5

Chatram

29- 3-28 Kiranur—Manium applied for. 87-9

To the Board.

1. One Savbas Khan intimates to the Collector his intention to build a chatram at Kiranur from his own funds for the convenience of native travellers. Since the maintenance of the chatram, i.e., sweeping, lighting and supplying the travellers with buttermilk, etc., would come to about Rs. 15 a month and as he cannot afford to meet this recurring expenditure he requests the Collector to grant him 300 kulis of waste land in Kiranur at a fixed tirwah of ¼ of a rupee per kuli. In the alternative he requests that the manium land granted to Puduvadi chatram, which is enjoyed by the nattamkar, may be transferred to his chatram.
2. The Collector in forwarding the application recommends that as there is no accommodation for native travellers between Dindigul and Trichinopoly, there can be no doubt of the chatram being of great benefit to passengers, it the request of the petitioner could be complied with.

Personal and Professional Taxes

2- 4-28 Revival—Collector's opinion. 92-5

To the Board.

1. As directed by the Board, the Collector forwards a comparative statement of the personal and professional taxes abolished in 1805, those which may be revived and those which may be completely abolished.
2. He explains that some of the taxes may be collected without any great annoyance to individuals, avoiding at the same time poor and indigent inhabitants.
3. As regards the loom tax, he forwards a petition from the weavers explaining how they pay tax twice over on the same stuff of coloured cloth. They pay five per cent. on the value of the white cloth manufactured in their looms, as duty, instead of the loom tax abolished in the time of Mr. Hurdis. "The chay root is rented and it afterwards pays a duty. Afterwards they buy the chay root and colour the cloths and pay a second duty on the value of the coloured cloth." Thus the weavers pay duty twice and thrice. They therefore request that they may be exempted either from duty on finished goods or from the loom tax proposed to be renewed.

To the Board.

Palni—cont.

2. The Collector replies that an engagement was entered into by Chinnabalammah, the petitioner, appointing one Kumaravelu Goundan to receive the allowance of Pag. 30 per month and to pay to the three divisions of the family Pag. 10 each. This distribution continued from 1810 to 1825, when Chinnammah, the mother of Velayutha Nayak, the deceased zamindar, and the petitioner's mother-in-law, was alive. Chinnammah, the mother, lived with Kumara Vijaya Vayyaburi Chinna Obala Nayak and his father, Vijaya Vayyaburi Nayak, who was the brother of the late zamindar.
3. After the death of Chinnammah, her share was not paid by the petitioner, Chinnabalammah, to any one, as she did not recognize any one to be entitled to that share. But the facts are that Velayutha Nayak, his sister and his mother considered Kumara Vijaya Vayyaburi Chinna Obala Nayak and his brothers as their only heirs. The petitioner is a single person. The Collector therefore thinks that Pag. 10 a month is quite sufficient for her maintenance and that the remainder should go to the rest of the family. If however the Board considers that she is entitled to the whole of the Pag. 30, the Collector suggests that some provision should be made for the boys also.

19- 5-28 Zamindar's family—Allowances—Continuance. 126

To the Sub-Collector of Ramnad.

The Collector, in forwarding the extracts from the proceedings of the Southern Provincial Court, directs that the payment of Pag. 300 a month may be continued to the family of the late Muthu Vijaya Raghunadha Setupati until the total monthly payments amount to Rs. 48,875-12-6.

1. Sivaganga Zamindari.

   Of Rs. 1,38,876-3-2 due by the zamindar, Rs. 53,828 have been since realized leaving a balance of Rs. 85,056-3-2 for which amins have been sent to assume a portion of the zamindari.

2. Petty Zamindaris.

   Many have discharged their kists and others have not. The failure of the monsoon has brought much distress on the inhabitants and consequently on the zamindars. The Collector therefore requests permission not to be too urgent in the demands over these zamindars.

   Where the balances are comparatively large, the Collector has deputed gumastas from taluks to collect them so that no expenses may be incurred by the parties.

1. The zamindari is in arrears. The Collector has resumed five taluks of the zamindari according to the regulations. The zamindar represents that he has paid his dues regularly for a long time but owing to the failure of the rains most of the punjah lands were not cultivated and hence his difficulty in realizing his revenue and rents. He could not borrow elsewhere and pay kists as the merchants who could lend money were absent at the pearl fisheries at Manar and Tuticorin. He has, however, farmed his zamindari to two Chettis who have undertaken to pay Rs. 30,000 immediately to the Circar and for this purpose they are sent to the Collector for passing a kararnamah. The zamindar requests the Collector to accept the kararnamah and to grant time till the 12th July for another instalment of Rs. 61,843–11–0. The zamindar further represents that the remaining sum of Rs. 70,000 after the two remittances reported above. will be paid in November and requests to be allowed the time and that his zamindari may be released from attachment.

2. The Collector is fully aware of the prevailing circumstances and the difficulties of the zamindar owing to the failure of the rains. He recommends that the request of the zamindar should be granted. If coercive measures were adopted they would cause much loss to the zamindar and involve him in still greater difficulties.

Kumaraswami Nayak who received the allowance of Pag. 20 had passed an engagement in favour of Mutuswami to allow him regularly Pag. 2¼ a month. This he paid for some months and then stopped. 3. 11- 7-28 12- 7-28	Late abkari renter—False complaint against public servants. To the Board.	166–84
	1. One Subbah Nayak and others, inhabitants of the village of Melur, complained to the Collector and the Board that amongst other things the Tahsildar of Melur extorted from them various supplies including sheep, etc., for the military troops passing through the place, and never paid for them.
	2. The Collector summoned the signatories to the complaint and on enquiry all of them disowned the complaint and said they had no knowledge of its contents. Most of them did not know who Subbah Nayak was. The Collector, with some difficulty, found out that the head signatory, Subba Nayak, was once an irregular abkari renter and of late a turbulent character in the village. He bore animosity against the Tahsildar ever since he was disallowed from renting. Further the Collector explains the incredibility of the complaint inasmuch as such a worthless man would never have been asked to make the supplies, etc.
	3. Subba Nayak's interference with the customs renters.
	A petition was presented by a chowki renter, Venkataswami Nayak that he furnished rowanahs to the Marakkayars of Kilakkarai for which they paid in part only Rs. 203 on account of duty and that they withheld the balance of Rs. 2,259–2–5. On enquiry it was found that the petitioner's statement was wrong and his registers fabricated to suit his tale and intended to defraud the Government.

10- 8-28	2. The Sub-Collector-in-charge forwards a statement of the actual balance on hand. But it cannot be taken as correct unless the accounts of the huzur cutcherry are compared with those of the taluks for several years. The treasurer informed the Sub-Collector that he had embezzled the public money, that a shroff was indebted by about a lakh of rupees and that if he was allowed access to the account books that remain sealed with the late Collector's property, he could give the correct balance. He further stated that the embezzlement had been going on from a long time so that the sudden death of the Collector left him quite unprepared to account for the deficiency and that if time is allowed he would deliver up his accounts as well as his property.	197-8
	Government Loans
12- 8-28	Remittances—Acknowledgment. To Mrs. Wheatly. The Sub-Collector-in-charge forwards a receipt to Mrs. Wheatly for Rs. 2,100, which was paid on account of the loan certificate granted by the late Collector.	199-200
	Embezzlement
13- 8-28	Huzur treasury—Further report. To the Board. 1. The Sub-Collector-in-charge forwards copies of the depositions of Biccaujee Rao, the treasurer and Krishnama Chetti, the treasury shroff. The depositions implicate Mr. Peter, the late Collector, to a certain extent and show that the treasurer and the shroff took money from the treasury for some private trade of their own. The Sub-Collector has imprisoned both of them. From the history of the embezzlement as deposed to by the culprits, it appears necessary to examine a mass of accounts for some years before any correct judgment can be formed of the exact extent of the deficiency. He requests the orders of Government whether he is to proceed with the examination of the accounts.	201-11
16- 8-28	2. In reply to further details required by the Board, the Sub-Collector-in-charge explains the unsatisfactory modes in which the deposit account and the 'judthee' account were being kept. He is of opinion that it will be only after a deligent search and long enquiry "that the true state of proceedings so irregular and which have been carried on for a great length of time can become known." He again mentions the measures taken by him to keep the delinquents in check, the searches conducted by him in the houses of the other shroffs and the treasury gumasta and the proclamation which he issued as directed by the Board. Finally he replies that it does not appear that any security was taken from any of the treasury servants. [Mr. J. Bird is appointed a Commissioner to enquire into the embezzlement.]	213-9
19- 8-28	———To Mr. J. Bird, Commissioner. 3. In compliance with a request from the Commissioner the Sub-Collector-in-charge reports the cash balance in the treasury as it stood on his examination and states that copies of his previous letters to the Board on the subject will sufficiently explain matters.	220

22-8-28	To Mr. J. Bird, Commissioner. To the Board. 1. Mr. J. D. Gleig, the Sub-Collector, reports that "as the chank fishery held out no prospect of benefit to the zamindari (he) was induced to order its discontinuance until (he) received instructions from higher authorities." 2. Since he has received arzis from the divers that they are deprived of their livelihood by such a discontinuance, he solicits the Board's orders whether the chank fishing may be resumed on the Ramnad coast.	224

26-8-28	Huzur treasury—Investigation. To Mr. S. Nicholls. 1. On account of the loan certificate issued to him by the late Mr. Peter a sum of Rs. 1,408-6-5 is found to be due from Mr. Nicholls. Mr. Gleig requests him to remit the amount at an early date. The above sum was an item of the deficiency noticed on the examination of the accounts.	226
27-8-28	———To Mr. W. O. Shakespear. 2. A promissory note is found among the papers in favour of Biccajee Rao, executed by Mr. W. O. Shakespear for Pag. 1,636-35-29, with interest at 6 per cent. per annum. 3. Mr. Gleig writes to say that since Biccaujee Row acknowledged his having embezzled public money, the Board ordered the Sub-Collector to call upon persons holding Biccaujee Rao's properties, to deliver up to him an account and accordingly Mr. Shakespear should forward the amount due by him.	227-8

6- 9-28	Irregularities. To the Board.	231-2
	1. Mr. J. D. Gleig states that in January last a certificate for the 5 per cent. Bengal loan to the amount of Sic. Rs. 5,000 was granted by the late Principal Collector to Mr. Searle, then Assistant Surgeon at Madura. Finding that the amount due on this account had not been paid into the treasury, Mr. Searle was requested to explain. His explanation led to a correspondence with Mr. Sutherland regarding the house occupied by him and which was considered to be an asset of the late Mr. Peter's estate. Mr. Gleig demanded payment by Mr. Searle of the sum of Rs. 3,600 standing in his name in the accounts of the treasury.
	2. But Mr. Searle rests his claim to exemption of payment on the circumstance of Mr. Peter having become the purchaser of his house. But from the letter of Mr. Sutherland it appears that he agreed to become the purchaser from Mr. Searle and to that effect, ever since Mr. Sutherland came to Madura, he appeared to be under the belief that he was the purchaser of Mr. Searle's house and not Mr. Peter.
	3. Mr. Gleig shrewdly remarks that if Mr. Searle had an idea that he was ever holding the house sold to Mr. Sutherland, there was no necessity for him to thank Mr. Peter for his kindness in paying off his debt. With this remark Mr. Gleig awaits instructions regarding his future proceedings in the matter.
8- 9-28	————To the Accountant-General.	233
	4. Mr. J. D. Gleig reports that the amount of the loan certificate granted by Mr. Gleig to Mr. Searle was not realized and that Mr. Searle disavowed the claim. He requests that the certificate may remain cancelled until the orders of Government are received.
8- 9-28	————To the Accountant-General.	234
	5. A similar case of non-payment towards the loan certificates for Rs. 5,000 and Rs. 3,000, granted to Mr. Nicholls, is reported so that the Government may not be called upon to pay interest for the money.

"In having overdrawn so largely, I trust no dishonest motive will be attributed to me—God knows opportunities enough have offered for my making money, but as I never valued it, so I never have taken anything further than my just due. Carelessness has been my fault and though I do not mean to defend it yet I trust it will save me from the imputation of dishonesty which God knows was never further from any one's heart than mine. The good of my employers I have had always at heart, which I trust a strict investigation will demonstrate." 4. The Collector reports among other things of a routine nature that consequent on the orders of Mr. Parish the office of the village manager was separated from the hereditary mirasidars. The result was that the important situation of "Nattamakkar" or the village manager was being entrusted to strangers who were constantly removed on the recommendations of the Tahsildars. Complaints of oppression and extortion became very frequent. The Collector suggests that the old institution of "Nattamkars" should be re-established by appointing old mirasidars and headmen of the villages.

Establishment

10-11-28 Revision proposed. 301-6

To the Board.

1. In applying for the sanction for the revision of and an addition to the establishment of the district, the Collector delineates the mismanagement and neglect which led to great confusion in every branch of the administration in the time of his late predecessor and urges that the establishment for which he now applies is absolutely necessary.

2. He explains the several charges which appear to be excessive and which are not in fact so, because he has effected the transfer of certain posts from one establishment to another. Thus the post of a native doctor attached to the revenue establishment is transferred to the police establishment where the need for his services is felt more keenly. By such transfers he effects a reduction in the one at the same time as an increase in the other of the establishments.

3. The greatest charge suggested by him is in the district charges. He considers that the district establishment is, in its present state, very inefficient for purposes of Revenue and Police administration. The defect in the management arises from the want of zillahdars or assistants to the Tahsildars in charge of villages yielding a revenue of from Rs. 10,000 to Rs. 20,000. In the present state of the taluk establishment there are no public officers employed between the Tahsildars and the head inhabitants. Consequently the former have no check over the cultivation returns and the general business is delayed. "The Police also is weakened because the ryots in the absence of Police officers are enabled, without much chance of detection, to suppress crimes which may have been perpetrated."

4. As an exclusively additional charge he proposes to employ 5 Malabar gumastas, dufters and 'rayasoms' for the maintenance of village accounts in the Tamil language.

5. As regards the treasury establishment he proposes to increase the salary of the cash-keeper because of the responsibility attached to the post and the heavy security he is required to deposit. This will increase the charges from Rs. 198-12-0 to Rs. 210-0-0.

6. Finally he entertains a hope that the Government may be pleased to sanction the addition and requests the Board for temporary sanction to employ them "as there is great reason to anticipate a loss in revenue from a crippled and weak establishment." At the same time he assures it that he will dispense as he proceeds with every part of the establishment which he does not find absolutely necessary.

19-12-28	Persian Translator to the Zamindar of Sivaganga—Re-employment of. To the Private Secretary to the Rt. Hon. the Governor. With reference to a petition from Abdul Qadir, forwarded for report, the Collector states that the petitioner was a Persian translator in the employ of the Zamindar of Sivaganga. The petitioner lost his appointment as the zamindar changed his court language to Tamil. Mr. Peter, the late Collector, appointed him as a teacher to the children of cutcherry peons on a salary of Pag. 3 per mensem and appointed his son as a rayasom. But as the funds from which they were paid greatly diminished there is no prospect of their being continued. However, the Collector assures that he will entertain the son on getting Government sanction for the new establishment proposed by him and not the father, as he is too old.	323

4- 1-29	Claim for pay. To the Collector of Rajahmundry. 1. The Mullen lascars of a three-masted ship belonging to Muhammad Qasim Marakkayar who were at Coringa complained to the Collector at Rajahmundry that 7 months' pay was due to them from the owner of the ship in which they served and which was at the time lying in Coringa. 2. The Collector of Rajahmundry sent a return notice to Muhammad Qasim Sa Marakkayar who was at Madura, through the Collector of Madura. On the receipt of the notice the Marakkayar hastened to represent to the Collector of Madura that consequent on the demand made by the lascars for their pay he had paid them and sent them on his ship bound for Bengal. But as the ship required repairs his agent sent it to Coringa for repairs. The agent was not aware of the disbursements made to the lascars by the owner.	5-6

	1. The Collector forwards an arzi from Nilamegam, a bandyman of Madura, and requests him to cause the bandies to be returned.
	2. The complaint is that during the disturbances between the right hand and left hand castes, the troops on duty engaged certain bandies to convey their supplies, etc., promising to return them to Trichinopoly. Without doing so they beat the bandymen and troubled them. The bandymen abandoned their bandies and returned home. The battalion marched to Salem and took the bandies along with them. The petitioner requests that the bandies may be returned to the owners with the hire due.

10- 1-29	Re-imposition—Measures taken by the Collector. To the Board.	12-4
	1. The Collector reports that in obedience to the orders communicated to him, he circulated the orders to the Tahsildars to assemble those inhabitants who were liable to be taxed and to form a settlement with them for the current fasli. He also issued proclamations to the same effect and conversed with the head weavers and artificers. But the weavers were averse to the tax and refused to furnish the accounts.
	2. The question which the Collector had to face was the manner in which they should be compelled to pay the tax. It occurred to him that the best means was to make the demand as usual and to enforce payment by the process of distraint. But this method could not be of much use in large towns like Madura as it was very difficult to locate the weavers liable to tax. Further the traders shut their shops on the demand being mentioned. The chief argument put forward by the weavers is that their productions are already subject to high sayer duties. But this is a futile excuse as they are aware that it is a distinct tax on manufactured goods.

	Embezzlement
7- 2-29	Huzur treasury—Biccauji Rao's assets. To the Board. 1. Biccauji Rao executed on 23rd December 1821, a deed of transfer of his landed properties as security to the Company. On the discovery of the deficiency in the treasury the whole of Biccauji Rao's properties were attached. In this attachment a house and some lands at Solavandan were also included. But it later on appeared that Biccauji Rao had mortgaged the Solavandan properties to one Vembayyan for Rs. 1,400. This Vembayyan in consequence claims the money advanced by him on the lands. On an examination of the deeds executed in favour of the Company it is found that Vembayyan cannot claim any amount as the properties were already transferred to the Company as security prior to the mortgage and the mortgagee paid the money unwarily. The Collector is of opinion that the claimant has no just cause to be dissatisfied, if his claims be rejected. 2. Vembayyan argues that he has not got the original deeds or sasanams. The usual procedure in a village is to ascertain first from the nattamkars and karnams about the encumbrances to the property and if none exist the transfer or mortgage is effected with the joint knowledge of the nattamkars and karnams. In this manner the properties at Solavandan were secured in mortgage. 3. Prior to the mortgage with Vembayyan the properties were mortgaged to one Viraraghava Ayyangar who enjoyed the lands on individual pattahs granted by the Collector. The huzur records will prove it beyond doubt. If the lands were once transferred to Government or to Mr. Peter who was the then Collector, how could he have issued pattahs for the lands which were in Company's possession? As Vembayyan paid the amount due to Viraraghava Ayyangar and redeemed the properties, he is entitled to similar enjoyment of the lands. 4. If, as stated by the Collector, the properties were once made over to the Company, it was the duty of the Collector to have issued a general notice forbidding the public from all sorts of dealings with the properties. Nothing of the kind was ever done and it is not therefore reasonable to hold after a lapse of 7 years that Biccauji Rao had made over his properties to Mr. Peter.	29-37

5. When Biccauji Rao's properties were resumed by the Circar, Vembayyan informed the Tahsildar on duty of the mortgage right which he held over the properties. The Tahsildar when forming the estimate fixed an estimate on the mortgage property also and deducted the amount from the total estimate.
6. If the lands in the possession of Vembayyan had been made over to Mr. Peter it must have been mentioned in the proclamation issued by the present Collector. But it has not been so.
7. Finally Vembayyan prays that as he is a poor man paying Rs. 400 as Government kists, as he had actually advanced Rs. 1,400, and as he has only 5¾ shares of the property which is estimated at Rs. 1,325 and Rs. 75, etc., he may be protected.

Cash Bills

13- 2-29 To the Collector of Tinnevelly. 39

Madura Fort

14- 2-29 Police and revenue arrangements. 39–41

To the Board.

1. In forwarding the correspondence with Lt. Brunton, Commanding Madura, the Collector points out that the O.C. considered it necessary to station guards of invalid sepoys at the gateways of the Madura fort and to turn out the peons stationed at the gates for the protection of the revenue. This is contrary to the practice prevailing from 1824.
2. As a Magistrate, the Collector is of opinion that the measure is quite useless, as the whole population of Madura consisting of 20,000 persons, reside within the walls. Lt. Brunton considers that if the chowkis are outside the walls it will afford sufficient protection to the revenue. But the Collector differs from this because, if peons are stationed at the gateways of the fort they will be able to observe the entries and exits in and out of the fort. This will be quite impracticable if the huts for chowkis are at a distance from the entrance to the fort.
3. He further observes that the proposals of Lt. Brunton are likely to diminish the revenues as there have been of late some complaints and applications for remissions. He therefore recommends that Lt. Brunton's orders may be reversed. If, however, the Government consider the arrangements of Lt. Brunton to be necessary, some substantial sheds may be erected within the gateways without prejudice to the existing revenue chowkis.

14- 2-29 Judicial deposits—Authority of Government applied for. 42–4

To the Government.

The acting Judge at Madura requested the Collector to pay him sums of money deposited in the Collector's treasury by the court. On the death of the late Collector the whole money found in the treasury was entered into the accounts as funds of Government and none remained to satisfy deposit accounts. The Accountant-General whom the Collector had consulted is not decisive on the point. So the Collector solicits the orders of Government for disbursements to the acting Judge on his application.

25- 3-29	Introduction—Collector's remarks. To Government. 1. The Collector remarks that "the proprietors of estates . . . are protected against further demands under the permanent settlement." He is decidedly against the idea of levying the nazarina from these proprietors. 2. He takes into consideration the two classes of hereditary succession, namely, that of hereditary poligars and of hereditary holders of maniums with service, such as village headmen, karnam, etc. 3. Hereditary poligars. Formerly they received 10% of the produce of the estates which they possessed. Under the native Governments of Mahomed Ali Khan, Tippu, etc., they paid a nazar of 10% of their income and cent per cent. to the moostadar of the taluk. These they were able to pay by having recourse to encroachment on Government lands, to depredations and plunder. Of late the turbulence and plunder of the poligars and the advantages they derived from the weakness of former governments have all ceased. As matters stand at present the utmost sum the Government would derive by levying the nazarina on these poligars is 5% of Rs. 2,06,963-14-4. The Collector remarks that "it would be considered an illiberal measure, were the allowances they now subsist on to be subjected to any retrenchment" inasmuch as the Government have expressed their desire to maintain the respectabilit of these hereditary poligars.	76-9

	4. Service maniums. These maniumdars were allowed by former native governments trifling inams in land. The income they derived from these lands was very disproportionate to the duties with which they were taxed. On occasions when new men were appointed to the posts, nuzzers were received by the Tahsildars. The headmen made good these demands by extra collections from the inhabitants. In fact these demands by, or offerings to, the Tahsildars amounted to an application from the Tahsildar for leave to the village headmen, karnam, etc., to commit malpractices. The Collector is therefore of opinion that these service maniumdars should not be taxed with nazarina.
	5. He thinks however that the proprietors of village maniums without service may be taxed to 10% of their annual income, on succession, wherever the parties are in affluent circumstances. But in most of the estates in his district such proprietors on succession are usually driven to borrow for the funerals of their late predecessors.
	6. On the whole, the Collector does not recommend that the tax should be reimposed in his district.

7- 4-29	Construction of—Excess expenditure—Explanation. To the Board.	91-2
	1. Mr. H. Viveash, when he was the Collector of Chingleput prior to his transfer to Madura, seems to have exceeded the approved estimate in constructing the Huzur Cutcherry at Conjeeveram. He explains that the original plan was drawn by a maistry who did not consult the cutcherry servants. When the work was actually commenced various defects were noticed, viz., there were no treasury rooms and record rooms and there was no provision for the custody of persons under confinement in the Magistrate's department. The Collector, Mr. Viveash, directed the maistry to repair a ruined mantapam situated on the spot and to build additional apartments for the Collector and his Assistant on the top of it. Another source of additional expense was the increase in the price of Madras teakwood.
	2. He regrets that he failed to bring to the notice of the Board the excess outlay then and there and feels that his explanation is convincing enough.

	(d) In making over grain and other produce, receipts should be taken from the zamindar.
	To the Board.
	2. In reporting on the surplus funds of the zamindari, the Collector states that the amount deposited into the Collector's treasury up to the last return was Rs. 1,72,528-14-7. Of this Rs. 96,050-13-4 was deposited previous to July and the amount disappeared along with the other embezzlements of the treasury. It appears necessary to obtain Government sanction for the payment of the amount from the ayan funds.
	3. Biccauji Rao's security.
	By a decree of the Provincial Court Rs. 98,928-14-11 is due by the late Vijia Raghunadha Setupati, the adoptive father of the present Zamindar, Ramaswami Setupati, to Biccauji Rao. This sum is exclusive of the interest accrued. The Collector is of opinion that it should be recovered from the surplus funds of the estate. He therefore consults the Board as to the transfer of the amount to the Government account whether with or without interest.

	2. The Collector observes that the object of their petition is to secure from Government a salary sufficient to maintain a catechist. Up to this time a catechist employed under the Tanjore Mission was superintending the prayers, etc. He drew a salary of Pag. 3 from the Mission per mensem. As this was found very inadequate the late Collector paid him in addition Pag. 5 per mensem from the Ramnad devasthanam funds. 1. The Sivaganga Zamindar died leaving no male issue. His widow is reported to be pregnant. One Pudamattoor Moodee Vadaga Tevar, son of the deceased zamindar's brother, took charge of the zamindari undertaking to pay the arrears. He produced a will of the late zamindar in his favour.
2. The will or marananta sasanam of the late zamindar runs thus:—

   "If my wife Parvatha Vardhini Natchyar who is pregnant gives birth to a male child, I appoint him heir to my estate . . . and until he attains the age of maturity I appoint Pudamattoor Moodee Vadaga Tevar to be his guardian. In default of male issue I appoint the said Tevan as heir to my whole estate and charge him to protect my grandchildren of my daughters and maintain them honourably and suitably maintain all the members of the family."
3. The Collector has sent instructions to the Tevan that he should furnish the original testament, with a list of the property attested by the widow of the zamindar. Meanwhile he reports to the Board that since Vadaga Tevar had expressed his intention of discharging the balances, since he is universally acknowledged to be a prudent man and a good manager, he proposes to make over the zamindari to him as soon as the balances have been paid into the treasury.
4. This Pudamattoor Moodee Vadaga Tevan apparently assumes as his full name 'Moottoo Vezea Raghunadha Moottoo Vadaga Pari Odayan Tevan'. Under the latter signature an application is made to the Board describing the death of Moottoo Vijia Raghunadha Gavoory Vallaba Peria Odayan Tevan, the late zamindar and how he executed the marananta sasanam with a prayer to be confirmed in the zamindari.
5. A similar application is made to the Rt. Hon. the Governor. The Collector forwards it to the Private Secretary to the Governor.

31- 7-29 Defalcation in the sales. 196-8

The salt peishcar of Madura suggests to the Collector of Madura that the Collector of Tinnevelly should be requested to destroy all spontaneous salt produced at Vembar and other places. On a former occasion when a similar request was not fully complied with there were cases of smuggling the earth salt. The Collector of Madura forwards the arzee of the salt peishcar and requests that, if he considers the measure free from objection, it may be carried into effect.

To the Board.

The village of Eliarputhy was originally granted to defray the charges of Viraraghavapuram Kovil in Madura. By the order of the Nabob Wallajah the village was made over to a munshi. The munshi died. But the village is enjoyed by his sons on an annual quit-rent of Ch. 35. Under these circumstances the Collector recommends that the village may be restored to the pagoda for which it was originally granted.

1- 8-29 ———Minakshi Kovil—Candy village—Restitution of. 200-1

To the Board.

The village of Candy was granted by Chockanadha Nayak grandfather of the late Trichinopoly Raja, for the Navaratri festival in the Meenakshi Covil. In f. 1236 the Collector attached the village for fixing an ample sum for the pooja, as the grantees were neglectful of it. The grantees petition that they got the village some 25 years prior to the date of its attachment and that its management should be in their hands. The Collector recommends the proposal.

4- 8-29 Late Tahsildar—Srinivasa Ayyangar—Collector's remarks. 205-14

To the Board.

1. Srinivasa Ayyangar selected some of the cases against him as specimens of injustice. In all those cases the witnesses were sworn in and Srinivasa Ayyangar was allowed to cross-examine and to state his defence.

2. The cases were:—

(a) One Peria Karuppan, Nattamakkar, was fined Rs. 60 by the Tahsildar. The latter collected Rs. 69 instead of Rs. 60 and demanded Pag. 42 for continuing the Nattamakkar's mirasi. The Nattamakkar even though continued in the mirasi had to pay the sum lest he should be deprived of it. Examination of the witnesses proved the guilt of the Tahsildar. The Tahsildar's cross-examination did not invalidate the veracity of the complaint and the depositions.

Appeal—cont.

(b) Syed Mahomad Rowthen complained of having paid Rs. 75 to the Tahsildar for adjusting a partition dispute between him and his son. The Tahsildar apparently got another sum from the son of the complainant also, for a similar purpose and left them to take their trial in a court of law. The defence put forward by the Tahsildar was that he could not have interfered in a matter outside his sphere. The witnesses, even though partially defeated by the Tahsildar's cross-examination with respect to circumstantial evidence, yet conclusively establish the Tahsildar's guilt.

(c) The third case selected by the Tahsildar formed part and parcel of the first case of the Nattamakkar and received similar treatment.

3. The Collector observes that the witnesses cannot be said to have sworn falsely. The Tahsildar's cross-examination does not in the least vitiate the main truth of the complaints. The defence brought forward by the Tahsildar that the grounds of the complaints were events that took place some 3 years before he was removed from Melur, cannot stand, as the complaints and previous investigations referred to that period only. The Collector forwards the original of the complaints and depositions concerning the cases selected by the Tahsildar.

Ramagiri

11- 8-29 Succession—Merits of claimants discussed. 225
To the Board.

1. The Ramagiri Zamindar died a long time ago leaving no heirs. The late Principal Collector issued orders in favour of a certain party, but he neglected to obtain the Board's confirmation to his arrangements. Consequently the parties remained dissatisfied. The present Collector, Mr. Viveash, in order to avoid the responsibility of paying the 10 % on the revenues to the lawful claimant, requests the Board's orders. He gives a resumé of the claims advanced by various parties.

2. Muttu Meenammah, the widow of the late zamindar, first applied to adopt a boy from the Andipatti family, secondly to adopt a son and thirdly she claimed the zamindari in her own right. It is not customary in the Ramagiri family to install widows on the puttom. "In the failure of male issue to the widows, they proposed to adopt one Muttappan, who was the next heir. The Board directed that the person should be installed in his own right."

	Ramagiri—cont.
	3. The other party who claimed a right was the Zamindar of Kadavur. This claim was from a very remote connexion with the Ramagiri family. The zamindar stated that his ancestor was the eldest of the four brothers, who were the sons of Vuttapala Mutyal Nayak who came to the country from the north in the time of the Rayals, i.e., about 480 years back. The second son of the Nayak was the Poligar of Ramagiri, the third was the Poligar of Doddappa Nayakanur and the fourth of Guntamanayakanur. He stated that the only descendants of the Ramagiri family are the Andipatti family and that the hereditary connection was cut off, because the ancestor of the present Andipatti family was adopted from the Ramagiri family and that he is the lineal descendant of the common ancestor. The Collector observes that the Kadavur Zamindar's connexion with the Ramagiri family is confessedly remote and the circumstances are only traditional and that if the claims of Andipatti are barred by the adoption referred to above, it will be necessary to recognize the claims of the Kadavur Zamindar.
	4. The Collector takes up the case of Andipatty and remarks that this person is the only surviving descendant of Bauma Nayak, the first Poligar of Ramagiri, and there is not the slightest doubt about the adoption of the Andipatty ancestor from the Ramagiri family. It is argued by the claimant that the claims of a party given in adoption do not bar the right of inheritance, whereas the law appears to be decidedly against this claim. He quotes from Macknaghten on adoption. But the Ramag[illegible]i Brahmins and the widows of the Ramagiri Samasthanam declared to Mr. Parish that Andipatti should succeed and, according to their wish, the late Collector installed Kumara Alagu Nayak, the second son of the present Andipatti Zamindar.

16- 8-29	Biccaujee Rao's assets. To the Board. [See also Embezzlement, Huzur treasury, etc.] 1. The Collector could not close his accounts with the Zamindar of Ramnad as the latter wanted to examine the vouchers for the expenditure during the period when the estate was under circar management. 2. Another obstruction is that Ramaswami Setupati, the present zamindar, intends to petition to the Provincial Court for the Southern Division to set aside their decree in favour of Biccajee Rao for the sums due to Biccajee Rao by the zamindar's late father. In spite of the zamindar's intention, the Collector has moved the court to execute the decree and the motion has been acceded to.	229-31

26- 8-29	Muthu Ramalingam Setupati's family—Allowances.	240-6
	To the Board.
	1. Muthu Ramalingam Setupati was ejected from the zamindari and was placed in confinement at Madras. The zamindari was under the Collector's charge. The Government resolved that the charge of maintaining the family of the ejected Poligar of Ramnad should be defrayed by the Honourable Company as long as the customs were collected by the British Government. The Government granted Rs. 1,200 for the maintenance of the Sethupati members at Ramnad and another Rs. 1,000 for Muthuramalingam and his followers staying with him at Madras.
	2. The allowance of Rs. 1,200 gradually dwindled to Rs. 932-8-10 owing to casualties and that of Rs. 1,000 was continued. Muthu Ramalingam died in confinement. His widows, who were 8 in number, wanted to immolate themselves on the funeral pile of their husband. But they were not allowed to do so and an assurance was given by the Government that they would be maintained honourably. When Muthu Ramalingam was alive these ladies used to get Rs. 600 out of the Rs. 1,000 granted to the Raja. After his death the Government fixed on the widows an allowance of Rs. 50 for each of the three senior widows and Rs. 30 each for the rest. This regulated allowance was paid to them for a period of 9 months after the death of their husband. After the 9th month they were restored to their private lodgings at Ramnad.

3. About this time their allowances were discontinued at the alleged instigation of Rani Mangaleswari Natchiyar who was reported to have picked a quarrel with these widows. The Rani died. The widows were destitute. They petitioned to the Board. The Board wanted to know from the Collector the circumstances under which their allowance of Rs. 300 was stopped. Nothing was told to the widows. They again petitioned to the Board. This time Salt Amildar, Narasinga Rao, enquired and recommended Rs. 30 each for the 3 senior widows and Rs. 24 each for the remaining 4 (one of the widows had died by that time) making a total of Rs. 186. The Collector in the usual course should have written for either Rs. 270 (deducting Rs. 30 for the deceased widow) or Rs. 186 as was recommended by Narasinga Rao, whereas he wrote for half of the original rates, i.e., for Rs. 135. This sum was paid from the Ramnad Zamindari funds at the huzur treasury. The allowance was not adequate and they were constantly agitating for more.

4. While these widows were thus clamouring for enhanced allowances, Ramaswami Setupati, the present Zamindar, reversed all former orders and issued a notice to the Collector of Madura pointing out that according to the resolution of the Board in 1803 the family of Muthu Ramalingam Setupati should have been maintained from the Company's funds, whereas from f. 1226 Rs. 15,000 had been paid from the zamindari funds, and demanding that the amount of Rs. 15,000 should be credited to him.

5. The Collector explains the position to the Board. No doubt, according to the Government's resolution, the widows and other members of Ramalingam's family were being maintained from the Company's funds. But "the former Rani considered it proper to be at the expense of maintaining a part of his late brother's family . . . and the charge was continued to be debited to the estate" with the concurrence of the Government. The Collector remarks that it is questionable "how far the present zamindar is right in reversing the arrangements authorized by his predecessor and in claiming the amount disbursed before he received charge of the estate" and that "as the zamindar objects to the future maintenance of the family of the late Muthu Ramalingam, it will be proper under the resolution of the Government of 1803. . . to maintain the family at public expense."

6. With regard to the allowance of Rs. 1,200 payable to the other members of the family at Ramnad and which had dwindled to Rs. 932-8-10, the Collector observes that Mr. Peter, the late Collector, allowed the children born of the zamindar, while at Madras, Rs. 55 per mensem independent of Rs. 44 paid from the charitable funds of the zamindari. The allowance of Rs. 44 was discontinued since the death of Mr. Peter. "The family and children of Muthu Ramalingam Setupati who claim subsistence from the Government suffer great distress without any support from the present zamindar." The Collector, therefore, recommends that "the sum of Rs. 135 to the widows and Rs. 96 to the children may be paid at the expense of Government" (together with the Ramnad allowance of Rs. 932-8-10) "which will amount to the total sum of Rs. 1,111-8-0 instead of Rs. 1,200 originally granted."

	Bribery
1- 9-29	Head Sarishtadar of Madura—Collector's remarks on the allegations. To the Board. 1. One Muthuswami Mudali addressed a petition to the Collector against the head sarishtadar, imputing to him the receiving of bribes to an extent of Rs. 1,78,000 and offering to prove the allegations if the head sarishtadar were suspended and another gentleman were deputed for the enquiry. This and other petitions of similar nature have been very common ever since Mr. Viveash assumed charge. 2. The Collector explains that all the complaints are seen to have been received from people who were once in Government service and who have been removed since, on the recommendation of the sarishtadar. He explains why he removed them. As soon as Mr. Viveash joined the district he sought information on the state of the establishment and discovered that there were two parties, one connected with the cash-keeper whose influence was paramount and the other was with the sarishtadar who was kept in the blackground. So he demanded from the sarishtadar a statement of the prevailing abuses so that he might apply a check to the existing malpractice. The sarishtadar furnished a memorandum in consequence of which the Collector was induced immediately to dismiss some of the servants. These dismissed persons, of course, attribute their dismissal to the sarishtadar and from that time these people became persistent petitioners to the authorities who supported the head sarishtadar. 3. With regard to the petition on hand, the Collector remarks that the petitioner, Muthuswami Mudali, is a low vulgar fellow who is incapable of proving any one of the charges he has brought forward.	248–5[illegible]

Boundary Dispute

14- 9-29 Ettaiyapuram and Ramnad Zamindaris. 260-1

To the Collector of Tinnevelly.

1. The Ramnad Zamindar represents that while his zamindari was under attachment, the Ettaiyapuram Zamindar took possession of certain lands in the Ramnad Zamindari yielding a revenue of about Rs. 10,000 a year in consequence of the impoverished and reduced state of his zamindari. When the Ramnad Zamindar sent his peshkar to inspect the actual extent of the land usurped, he was offered resistance by the Ettaiyapuram Zamindar and there was a regular disturbance. This resistance by the Ettaiyapuram Zamindar is a conclusive proof to the Ramnad Zamindar that the former had actually usurped the latter's lands. He therefore prays that his lands together with the loss sustained by him may be restored to him.
2. The Collector in enclosing this representation to the Collector of Tinnevelly suggests the appointment of a panchayat and that, if the Ettaiyapuram Zamindar assents to this mode of adjustment, he should send persons to the spot to meet the Ettaiyapuram people.

Religious Disputes

22-10-29 Kilai Tirumanickam and Melai Tirumanickam villages. 288-9

To the Collector of Tinnevelly.

1. A religious dispute becomes the offshoot of a boundary dispute. Apparently Melai Tirumanikam is a village in the Tinnevelly district and Kilai Tirumanikam is another village in the Madura district. Both of them are separated by a river. It is alleged that the people of Kilai Tirumanickam objected to a chuckler corpse of Melai Tirumanickam village being cremated in the river by the side of their village. The people of Melai Tirumanickam vowed vengeance on them.
2. An opportunity occurred during the Puttu festival of the Meenakshi deity. Usually the deity will be received in a decorated mantapam in Kilai Tirumanickam village and the festival will be conducted there. But in the year under report when the deity was being brought to the Kilai Tirumanikam mantapam, the sthanigal and monigar of Melai Tirumanikam choultry objected and carried the deity by force to Melai Tirumanikam, on the ground of the chuckler corpse episode.
3. Apparently the Kilai Tirumanikam people held that Melai Tirumanickam was a separate village, whereas the Melai Tirumanikam people held that both formed one village. The dispute grew intense and the Tahsildars of Nadumandalam and Tirumangalam interfered and the respective people agreed to settle the dispute by a panchayat.
4. The Tahsildar of Tirumangalam reports the matter to the Collector of Madura with a view to requesting the Collector of Tinnevelly to direct his people to abide by the usual customs until the boundary dispute is settled.
5. The Collector of Madura forwards the arzi to the Collector of Tinnevelly.

He also offered to prove the encroachments and awaited the Collector's call.
2. The Collector forwards the petition to the Collector of Tinnevelly.

The Collector, from a diligent search among the records of his office, reports that Mr. Hurdis gave Muthu Kumara Vel Vulla Condama Nayak Rs. 100 and proposed to continue the allowance monthly. On the death of the recipient no report seems to have been made to the Board and there are no records to show how the allowance was reduced to Rs. 40 and Rs. 20 which were continued to the zamindar's widows. However, it appears from the accounts that Pag. 11-18-0 per month had been paid in f. 1219 and that from f. 1220 it was reduced to Pag. 5-31-10 a month. 2. The Collector reports that the petitioner is the son of the brother of the deceased zamindar and that he is destitute. He recommends that a pension of Rs. 20 may be granted to him.	320–4

4-12-29 — Priest visiting Madura. — 325-6

To Government.

1. The Collector of Madras granted a passport to a priest of the left hand castes to carry with him emblems of honour as far as Malabar without any molestation. The priest visited Madura. One of his peons made collections from the people of the left hand caste. The peon was apprehended. He showed the passport granted by the Collector of Madras.

2. The Collector of Madura invites the attention of the Government to the numerous symbols of authority of the priest and the irritable state of the caste feelings in the Madura district and remarks that it may prove detrimental to public security. He therefore requests that the Collector of Madras may be prevented "from issuing any further documents of a similar nature to natives visiting Madura. He further observes, "It does not appear indeed from the present passport regulations that the Collector of Madras possesses any authority to issue a passport of the kind."

Accordingly one Virappa Chetti undertook to pay Rs. 40,000 of which Rs. 9,000 were in hundis of the Accountant-General. Orders were issued to the cutcherry to receive the hundis. The Chetti did not turn up to affix his signature. The Collector ordered the accountant to carry the bills on account of Sivaganga. Subsequently the Chettis claimed Rs. 9,000 as they had not receipted the bills. They were referred to the zamindar. The zamindar objected to the repayment of Rs. 9,000 as the Chettis were indebted to the zamindari and insisted that their accounts with the zamindar should be adjusted first. In reporting the circumstances to the Accountant-General, the Collector explains that the payment of the bills was entered in the names of persons in whose favour they were drawn and the amount has been credited for the permanent peshcush of the zamindari for f. 1238.

2. The plaintiff obtained the chay root rent from the former Collector, Mr. Peter, for Rs. 11,000. He deposited 10½ barams of chay roots valued at Rs. 1,500 on account of his deposit amount of Rs. 875 and tendered a security for the balance. He spent Rs. 11,000 for digging the roots and lodged them in a godown in the Ramnad Zamindari. The total stock in the godown was 193 barams. He paid Rs. 3,300 on account of the rent and promised to pay the balance of Rs. 7,700 by selling the roots. But the Collector, Mr. Peter, attached the whole quantity including the deposit and brought 100 barams to sale. On this quantity the Circar paid Rs. 1,294-8-2 as duty. Meanwhile the plaintiff was confined. The plaintiff's security offered his services to the Collector to sell the roots to advantage. This the plaintiff was not aware of. The roots were sold and the amount appropriated towards the plaintiff's balances. The plaintiff demanded that the sum realized over and above the circar dues should be paid to him. He was told that the Circar sold only such quantity as would satisfy their claim on the plaintiff and left the balance of roots and of cash with the security and that the security had embezzled them. This was not satisfactory to the plaintiff. In his petition to the court he stated that his security had not his consent to sell the roots and that he had documents to show that the whole transaction was conducted by the circar servants and the Collector.

3. In his plaint the Marakkayar sued the Collector and six others of his subordinates. The court held that no joint claim on all the defendants would be admissible and allowed the plaintiff an opportunity to exclude such of the persons as might not form parties to the suit. The Marakkayar excluded all the subordinates and retained the Collector as the sole defendant.

4. The Collector was summoned by the Provincial Court. He submits to the Board copies of all the relevant documents and requests its authority to defend the suit at Government expense.

17- 2-30	Retrenchment—Objection.	53-4
	To the Board.	56-7
	The rules in force prevented " the salaries of Collectors from increasing to the unlimited amount " even though they were originally intended to decrease the expenses of revenue administration. The Collector submits that because of the apparent inconvenience involved in the practical working of the rules their operation has been suspended in some of the Collectorates. The principle involved is that the more extensive the revenues the greater are the responsibility and trouble of managing. The Tanjore Collectorate was relieved of the operation of these rules and similarly in some more districts. The Collector objects to the operation of the rules in his case also as it would not afford any encouragement to the civil servants to work up the revenue administration.

	The question to be settled is whether the ayan taram land assessed at Rs. 2,452 is to be transferred to the pagoda inam village of Mela Tirumanikkam in the Tinnevelly district. 19- 2-30	Case of a chay root renter—Defence statement of the Collector.	59-78
	To the Board.
	1. In the defence the Collector states that the plaintiff obtained the rent of chay root for Rs. 11,000 from Mr. Peter, the former Collector, agreeing to pay the amount in instalments. He furnished two securities. The plaintiff discharged two instalments and fell into arrears. Mr. Peter issued a notice to the plaintiff that his stock of the roots would be attached and sold. The plaintiff required that the roots should be given up to his security who would sell them at an advantage and clear the Government kists. The plaintiff was in confinement. The Collector ordered the Tahsildar to give up 100 candies of chay root to the plaintiff and to allow him three months' time for discharging the arrears. The plaintiff passed a receipt acknowledging to have received the roots. The plaintiff further requested that the roots remaining in the godown under attachment might also be made over to his security and promised to pay the dues on the sale of the roots. The plaintiff's security requested that the plaintiff should be released from confinement. He was accordingly released. The roots were sold and the balance due to the Circar entirely cleared out. Some more roots remained. The security took charge of them. The plaintiff was aware that the accounts of the sale were not with the Circar. The sale accounts were brought from the surety and were examined. The plaintiff represented that the balance due to him should be paid by Government. The defence pleads that if those accounts be examined they will at once reveal that they were being maintained by the plaintiff and his security and from that it will clearly appear that the whole of the roots was sold by the plaintiff and his sure_ and not by the Circa

In forwarding the statements and other records to the Board, the Collector remarks that "the cause of action arose in the time of his predecessor; that the question to be decided is whether the Circar is liable to a sum of money which the plaintiff states was realized by the sale of attached property? the answer is, the circar officers have nothing to do with the sale of the plaintiff's property beyond the amount of their just demand. It appears to me to be improper to yield to this demand without judicial investigation. I request your early orders to defend the suit at public expense."

	1. The sons of the original grantee consider the grant to be perpetual. The only document extant on the subject does not mention anything about the heirs. The only word in the document having any reference to permanency occurs with reference to the payment of poruppoo which is intended to be always Ch. 35 as long as the grantee might live. Further it does not appear to have been the intention of the Nabob Wallajah, that the grant should be permanent.

6- 3-30	Tenure. To the Board.	82–5
	1. Ariyakudi village formed part of the Ramnad Zamindari's ayan lands before the permanent settlement. It was granted on dharmasanam tenure to Appaswami and other Brahmins by Rani Mangaleswari Natchiyar on an annual quit-rent of Ch. 395. The mahajanams or the sharers sold the village to one Lavoy Tamby Marakayen.
	2. On an examination of the accounts the Zamindar of Ramnad found that Ch. 332 were due towards quit-rent. When the zamindar wanted to attach the village the present owner Lavoy Tambi Marakayen objected on the ground that he had been regular in the payment of the quit-rent ever since he bought the village and that he is not answerable for the dues of the former proprietors of the village dating back some 20 years. The zamindar attached the village with a view first to recovering the old balances and in order "to resume the village altogether because the charity intended by the grant of Mangaleswari has been defeated by the transfer of the village to the present Mussalman proprietor."

	3. The Collector observes that "from the regulations the grant referred to is not binding on the present zamindar. The village revenue forms part of the assets of the permanent jumma. The alienation was not effected under the prescribed rules, neither has it received the necessary sanction of the Government." He requests the Board for instructions whether it is his province to interfere with any arrangement of the zamindar. The point involving a legal consideration is that the village was granted for charity by Mangaleswari Natchiyar subsequent to the permanent settlement of the revenues of the Ramnad district.
	Betel and Tobacco
11- 3-30	Renting system—Evils of. To the Board.	87-8
	1. "Since the introduction of the renting system, the renters have usually continued to monopolize the sale of the betel and tobacco by prohibiting the other vendors from introducing these articles into the markets. This has led to much complaint of high prices on the part of the people, of defalcation in the profits of trade and vexatious and ruinous interruption of produce on the part of the cultivators and loss of revenue by the zamindars. This practice is contrary to the spirit of the sayer regulations and in opposition to the stipulations of the sayer cowles and muchilikas."
	2. The Collector gives a comparative statement of the amounts realized from betel and tobacco prior to their renting. With a view to mitigating the evils of the renting system the Collector is of opinion that a declaration may be issued pointing out the "illegality of restraining the trade and to impress upon the renters that they will be strictly prohibited from interfering with the trade the betel and tobacco agreeably to the muchilikas which they may be required to execute."

The Collector, in forwarding the documents, reports that the Tahsildar of Mudukulam requested permission to make over the remaining roots to the plaintiff's security after realizing the Circar dues. Mr. Peter, the late Collector, acceded to the arrangement. But Mr. J. D. Gleig preferred placing the roots in the possession of the plaintiff, the owner. He was summoned for the purpose. He did not attend. The remaining roots were therefore entrusted to the charge of the security after taking his receipt. The Collector remarks, "the Government of course had an interest in the roots until their balance was realized, subsequently, however, no sales occurred until Rangayen Chetti, the security, was finally placed in possession. The claim of the plaintiff therefore will scarcely hold against the Government."	99–109

24- 4-30	Zamindar's death and subsequent management of the estate. 1. Ramaswami Setupati, the Zamindar of Ramnad, died of smallpox. Considering his adoptive mother, Rani Muthu Virayah Natchiyar, entitled to the management of the Ramnad Zamindari until his two daughters attain maturity, he had entrusted her with the charge of the estate. He had also confided to his natural brother, Mutu Chella Tevar, the care of the family and estate subordinate to the Rani. (Rani Muthu Virayah Natchiyar, the deceased Raja Ramaswami Setupati and Mutta Chella Tevar are the offspring of the same parents.) 2. The Rani is an able woman and in fact she was the chief adviser to the deceased Raja. Muthu Chella Tevar is also fully qualified for managing the estate. The family have expressed the opinion that the estate need not be brought under the Court of Wards. 3. The Collector does not see any reason for interfering with the estate, because he does not anticipate any misappropriation of the revenue if there be any surplus after meeting the necessary expenses of the samasthanam. The Rani holds a dual position of intimate blood relationship; she is both the adoptive mother and the sister of the deceased Raja, and it is not, therefore, likely that she would allow anything prejudicial to the interests of the Raja's daughters who are also her grand-daughters. If matters warrant the interference of the Collector there will be ample time to set them right.	126-9

27- 4-30	Late Killadar of Madura—Pension. To the Board. A pension appears to have been granted for the support of the family of the former Killadar of Madura. All the individuals living at the time of the original grant are dead. There is nothing on record to show that the pension was ever intended to be hereditary. The Collector reports that the descendants of the original grantee are all in indigent circumstances. But it does not by itself form a sufficient reason for continuing the allowance. The Collector, however, requests the Board to consider the case with other similar cases.	129-30

1- 5-30	Extra revenues.	133-4
	To the Board.
	The Collector of Madura states that owing to the alterations in the nature of the tobacco and betel rents and to the abandonment of the monopoly system, a considerable reduction in the sayer revenues must be inevitable. He requests the Board to issue instructions to the Civil Auditor to consider the standard for regulating his commission. Hitherto the Civil Auditor adopted the average of 3 years just preceding the introduction of the renting system as the standard to calculate the Collector's commission. He requests the Board to fix the same standard as the basis for future years also, as that is only a fair standard.

	Poligar Pensions
20- 5-30	Report on.	170-1
	To the Board.
	1. Dispossessed poligars were granted pensions. Several alterations had taken place in the personnel and amount of original pensions. The Collector explains the changes.
	2. Nuttum.
	The pension was originally granted for the maintenance of the family of Lingama Nayak. The family at first consisted of several members. But it now consists of only two ladies, Mullammah and Krishnammah. Of them Mullammah receives the pension. Krishnammah separated from Mullammah and she claims a share in the pension. The Collector is of opinion that Krishnammah's claim is just. Muttu Kumara Vel Vullakondama Nayak is a claimant to the original pension of Rs. 100. It ceased with the death of the poligar. His widows were each granted Rs. 20. Muttu Kumara Vel Vullakondama Nayak is the son of the brother of the deceased poligar.

3. Setupati family.

The original pension of Rs. 1,200 was reduced to Rs. 889-8-10 in consequence of casualties. Of this Rs. 100 was being paid to Ramaswami Tevar, "the first husband of Sivagami Natchiyar, the daughter of Setupati, who was deposed and who died as a prisoner in Madras." His mother solicited the continuance of the pension for the maintenance of herself and the family of the deceased. From the report of the salt peshkar it appears that 40 members were depending on the deceased poligar. The Collector therefore recommends that one half of the original pension may be continued.

29- 5-30 Accounts of. 173-5

To the Board.

Messrs. Peter and Shakespear had made joint remittances to Messrs. Arbuthnot and Company on account of the money lent to them by the firm in 1822. Small instalments appear to have been made by Mr. Peter towards the liquidation of this debt. Mr. Bird in his report of 18th September 1828 reported large money transactions. They do not appear in these accounts. The Collector thinks it probable that they will be found in Mr. Peter's account with Mr. Richardson.

He also points out that if the statement is not filed, the court may settle the full claim of the plaintiff on the Government ex parte.

	Salt Rules
17- 6-30	Working of—Collector's report. To the Board. 1. Paragraph 20 of the Salt Rules directs that not less than 40 marakkals of salt should be sold at a time to any one person. The Board wanted to know how it worked in practice. The Collector reports that no inconvenience has been felt by the inhabitants, but on the contrary the rule has served to check frauds on the part of public servants and to prevent salt being stolen by the inhabitants. 2. He further reports that " the plan proposed by the Collector of Tinnevelly appears to have been tried in Madura in 1817 when the people were allowed to purchase salt in small quantities at the pans and pass it under ' olah ' rowannahs. It was found necessary, however, to abandon the practice as it enabled the salt manufacturers and labourers to carry on illicit dealings with the inhabitants." He points out that " if the rowannahs were allowed to circulate—by using the same rowannah twice or thrice—frauds will increase."	194-8

From the Collector's enquiry it is learnt that Sholavandan Mokham is the burial place of a celebrated fakir; it is the only place of prayer for the local Mussalmans; it affords accommodation to Mussalman travellers, and he expects that "the yeomiahdar will keep the place in repair, lighted at nights and clean." 	To the Board.

1. The Collector was asked by the Board to report on the treasury defalcations which occurred during the administration of the late Mr. R. Peter. The Collector furnishes the details.

2. On the death of Mr. R. Peter the claims against the treasury were as follows:—

	RS.	A.	P.
Treasury chitts balance	5,17,899	5	3
Balance of deposit accounts ...	3,23,5[illegible]	6	2
'Judkis' chitts not disbursed ...	32,416	8	6
Money lodged for payment of lottery prizes	5,284	8	0
Total ...	8,78,954	6	11
Add Head Assistant's salary charged but not disbursed ...	580	5	10
Balance ...	8,79,534	12	9
Deduct amount found in the treasury	99,462	13	1
Total deficiency ...	7,80,071	15	8

3. There is no account to show how this deficiency has been appropriated, except Biccaaji Rao's statement that he had received 2 lakhs, and that the shroff had received Rs. 87,500. "The great length of time these defalcations remained undetected is a proof that the greatest secrecy was observed and as written accounts might possibly tend to discover the treasury transactions. . . they were not probably kept."

4. The deposit accounts are not of any use in tracing the embezzlement. Because the deposits were composed of moneys of the Ramnad estate, devastanams and chatrams, sums due to 'Hukdars', devasthanam sibbendies, 10 per cent. allowances to the zamindars and, in fact, all items of receipt which would be kept out of the public accounts. The monthly demands were apparently met by collecting kists in advance and by entering the taluk remittances of one month to a previous month.

	Embezzlement—cont.
	5. As regards the transactions of Messrs. Shakespear, Drury and Searle there appears no trace of their dealings direct with the treasury. Mr. Shakespear appears to have kept a running account with Biccauji Rao and the accounts furnished by Biccauji leave a balance of Rs. 305 with Mr. Shakespear. Mr. Drury seems to have paid on Mr. Peter's account Rs. 2,053 and nothing more is traceable to Mr. Drury. Mr. Peter purchased a house from Mr. Searle for Rs. 5,000. Subsequently Mr. Peter made over the house to Mr. Sutherland on condition of receiving its value in instalments. Of the Rs. 5,000, Mr. Sutherland had already paid to Mr. Peter. Rs. 3,650 and the balance is recoverable.
	6. The Collector forwards the correspondence between Mr. Peter and one Mr. Nicholls. From the correspondence it transpires that Mr. Nicholls received Company's bonds for Rs. 5,325 on credit payable from his salary. One certificate granted by Mr. Peter acknowledges receipt of Rs. [illegible] in satisfaction of the instalments up to 18th September 1828.

26- 9-30	Deputy Killadar of Madura—Family pension. To the Board.	254-5
	The Collector submits a list of the persons depending on the pension granted to the late Mahomed Alimully Khan, formerly Deputy Killadar of Madura. He reports that the family is in distressed circumstances. Alimully Khan's son is 21 years of age and may hereafter procure his livelihood and if the Board thinks it proper to continue the pension, a sum of Rs. 20 will be sufficient. But the Collector on seeing a 'firman' produced by the petitioner to the effect that the Nabob had ordered a perpetual pension of Rs. 185 to the family entertains doubts as to the genuineness of the 'firman'.

1. Salt.
   There is a decrease in the salt revenue of Rs. 23,422-6-6 which was due partly to frauds and partly to the suspension of sales and also to the drought which prevented the merchants from taking their cattle to the pans for want of fodder. Further "the salt revenue suffered from the accumulation of the extensive beds of spontaneous salt which are close to the southern frontier of Madura."

2. Land customs.
   There is a decrease of Rs. 12,420. But the collections including the arrears amount to Rs. 4,02,922-1-8.

3. Sea customs.
   There is a fall in revenue by Rs. 2,149-9-8 owing to decreased imports in pepper, jaggery and chay-root from Colombo and Tinnevelly.

4. Abkari.
   The rents have also fallen by Rs. 3,499-2-6.

5. Sundry revenues.

	Earth Salt and Saltpetre
18-10-30	Manufacture of—Restrictions.	296
	To the Board.
	There is apparently a proposal from the saltpetre specialist to allow the manufacturers of saltpetre to make common earth salt also. The Collector objects to this on the ground that it will materially interfere with the sale of sea salt produced at the Government pans; the manufacture of common salt from the refuse of saltpetre is by all means injurious to the health of the consumers and saltpetre should not become a screen for extending the produce of earth salt; further there is no restriction with regard to the purchase of saltpetre and this will lead to extensive frauds.

18-10-30	Import duties—Chank.	297
	To the Board.
	One Shaik Sahebdullah Marakayar exported 'cut chank' (vetti sangu) to Bengal. His vessel became leaky. He unloaded his vessel at Pamban on the certificate obtained from Jaffnapatam, for repair. By the time he could get his vessel repaired, the season for sailing to Bengal expired. He requests permission to commence his voyage to Bengal in August next with the same certificate obtained at Jaffnapatam. The Collector requests orders whether the chank should be exempted from duty and the vessel permitted to proceed with the certificate obtained at Jaffnapatam, after repair.

	Embezzlement
31-11-30	Huzur treasury—Further details. To the Board. 1. Biccauji Rao's wife, in her arzi to Government, accused Messrs. Shakespear, Drury and Searle of having had dealings with the treasury direct stating that whatever they got through the medium of her husband was all from the treasury. The Board wanted information on this imputation. 2. Mr. Shakespear's transactions. The Collector in his reply is able to assert that Biccauji Rao was the agent of Mr. Shakespear in all his money dealings. This he does on the strength of a note of hand by Mr. Shakespear in favour of Biccauji Rao stating that there are no balances against Mr. Shakespear. From the chittah accounts a balance of Rs. 305-8-10 is found in favour of Mr. Shakespear. The above is a specimen of the several chits under Mr. Peter's authority for making advances to Mr. Shakespear. A promissory note in favour of Biccauji Rao whose amount has already been collected from Mr. Shakespear and credited to the accounts of Biccauji is enclosed as a proof. 3. Mr. Drury's transactions. No documents or orders connected with the amount due by Mr. Drury to the treasury, are traceable. There is nothing in the chittah accounts to show that any advances were made to Mr. Drury from the treasury. 4. Mr. Searle's transactions. Mr. Searle appears to have sold a house to Mr. Peter who procured for him a certificate of the Bengal loan in return. Details have already been noted upon.	340-50

	Embezzlement—cont.
	5. Meenabai Ammah, the wife of Biccauji Rao, is examined. She deposes that her husband is not at all guilty of any crime. He was committed solely on the ground of his declaration to Mr. Bird, the Commissioner. There is no proof of any kind to show that he actually embezzled money. His only declaration was that he received money on his account with the knowledge of the Collector and that he was ready to repay it. Such a confession would not have been made, if the money had been actually embezzled. Her appeal to Government imputes gross partiality to the tribunals that have sat in judgment on her husband's case so far and she requests the Government to view the case impartially.

30-12-30	Head Sarishtadar of Madura—Complaint against.	379-86

To the Board.

1. Ramaswami Pillai and Arunachalam Pillai of Madura, complained to the Governor against the conduct of Ramaswami Ayyar, Head Sarishtadar of Madura. The allegations were that Ramaswami Ayyar is not fit even for the office of a village karnam. "The Sarishtadar states that the fysal olagoo accounts of Mr. Hurdis's time are destroyed by fire and having altered to lower rates the 'stollems', taram and teerwas, pretends to state that they are the aforesaid olagoo jamabandi accounts." If the village accounts are examined glaring differences will come to light. Certain cultivated lands are entered in the accounts as anaudy waste lands. This affords ample scope for defrauding the Government revenue and the Sarishtadar is getting bribes for granting such lands on cowles. His relatives are Tahsildars who have acquired lands and houses. The Sarishtadar dismissed all the old servants and employed his own Brahmin relatives and allows them to swell their fortunes by foul means.
2. The Collector offers his remarks. The charges against the Sarishtadar are "much too general to test the integrity of the Sarishtadar." The complainants absented themselves from a personal enquiry conducted by the Collector. Ramaswami Ayyar is fit to hold the place of a Sarishtadar. The fact of the destruction of the accounts by fire was reported to the Board. The Collector is not aware of any such glaring reductions as are complained of. All the cowles so far granted were either from the Collector attending on the spot or from the Tahsildar; the Sarishtadar had nothing to do with granting lands on cowles.
3. The only relation of the Sarishtadar in public service in the district is the Tahsildar of Tirumangalam who is zealous and one of the best Tahsildars. Among the subordinate services there are no doubt certain relatives of the Sarishtadar. But "the Sarishtadar asserts that he will not recommend any man for strict honesty . . . he merely vouches for abilities . . . If the Sarishtadar and his relatives have acquired houses and property honestly so much the better. It is a guarantee against corruption." The Collector defends the Sarishtadar against every charge of the complainants.

Salt Revenue

10- 1-31 Estimate. 20-1

To the Accountant-General.

	RS.
Estimate for 1829–30	2,50,000
Actuals for 1829–30	2,20,492
Decrease ...	29,508

Explanation.

The estimate "was calculated in excess of the actual collections of the preceding year, because the price of salt was increased. The decrease arose from the drought of the season, the accumulation of extensive beds of spontaneous salt close to the southern frontier of Madura and the occurrence of some frauds from want of sufficient supervision arising from the removal of the Sub-Collector's cutcherry and the sickness and death of the salt peshkar."

Kandyan Pensions

14- 1-31 Gradual reduction and final abolition of. 22-3

To the Chief Secretary to Government.

The Government of Ceylon wanted information as to how it would be practicable to effect the gradual reduction and final abolition of the pension granted to the family of the late Angalswami Raja.

The Collector suggests that "the original allowance may be decreased by Pag. 10 on the death of each head of the family to whom the pension is renewed" to effect a gradual reduction.

Tobacco Smuggling

15- 1-31 Confiscation. 24-34

To the Board.

1. One Sankaralingam Pillay, the agent of Mr. Hughes, tobacco contractor for Travancore, brought into the town a certain quantity of tobacco for exportation at an unusual season. In the rowanahs conveying the tobacco, the quantity was stated to be 140 candies. But on examination it was found there were 175 candies. The agent attributed the increase to moistening the tobacco with jaggery-water and partly to under-weights used to his prejudice. The person responsible for weighing stated that the weights used were correct and that, if the agent had any doubts, he could have cleared them on the spot before affixing his signature to the accounts, and that the plea that moistening with jaggery-water increased the weight, was absurd.
2. The renter affirms that the irregularities in the weight were contrived to carry on a clandestine sale of tobacco and he claims full duty on the weight of the quantity.
3. The Collector agreeing with the renter recommends that the excess quantity may be confiscated.

Boundary Dispute

21- 1-31 Nambipuram village. 36-7

To the Collector of Tinnevelly.

The Ettiyapuram Zamindar had recourse to violence in encroaching upon the lands belonging to the Rameswaram Dhanushkodi chatram in the Nambipuram village. The Collector of Madura requests that "the lands of Nambipuram may be surveyed in order to ascertain the correctness with the ayakat accounts of f. 1213."

The Collector sends a takeed to Jeevan Rao, acting Tahsildar of Madakolam, that a sum of Rs. 1,884-10-0 is proved to have been embezzled by Srinivasa Ayyangar and that as he is to pay double the amount his lands and property should be attached. 3. 1- 3-31	Naib Sarishtadar of Trichinopoly—False charges against. To the Collector of Trichinopoly. 1. Seshagiri Rao was the Naib Sarishtadar under the Collector of Trichinopoly. Certain complaints against Seshagiri Rao, of bribery, were received by the Board. It bore the signatures of important persons of the Ramnad and Sivaganga Zamindaris. The charge was that Seshagiri Rao, received bribes from the samasthanams while they were under assumption. The complaint was forwarded to the Collector of Madura for enquiry. The guardian of the zamindar and the manager of the Ramnad Zamindari state that it was a fictitious complaint under some imaginary signatures, and that Seshagiri Rao never came to their zamindari nor had they anything to do with him.

	Seshagiri Rao—cont. 2. The Collector forwards the statement and remarks that the Ramnad family had not the means of making presents and the manager utterly denies the allegations. As regards the Sivaganga Zamindari it is altogether improbable, as the zamindar was never under the control of the Sub-Collector and he could have had no motive in bribing the Naib Sarishtadar.

9- 3-31	Huzur treasury—Biccauji Rao's assets—Pandanendal village. To the Board. 1. On taking charge of the properties of Biccauji Rao, the Collector found that the village of Pandanendal was in possession of Biccauji Rao. He attached it immediately. The Zamindar of Ramnad claimed the village. He stated that the village was ayan included in the permanent settlement of the Ramnad Zamindari and that Rani Mangaleswari Natchiyar granted the village for defraying the ardamaniam kuttalai of the Meenakshi temple and for the archana bagum to Mrithinjaya Battar, the sthanigam of the temple. 2. Sundara Ammal, widow of Doonda Rao, elder brother of Biccauji Rao, claims one half of the village under a mortgage of the kattalai share for Pag. 1,500 and the other half under a deed of sale by the sthanigam. 3. The Collector observes that, as the village revenue was originally assigned by the Rani to meet certain expenses of the Meenakshi temple, neither Biccauji Rao nor his brother could legally purchase it and consequently, the village cannot be appropriated towards the liquidation of Biccauji Rao's debts.	67-8

16- 3-31	Collector's recommendation. To the Board. The Zamindar of Kumarawadi granted to a dancing girl of Srirangam certain lands subsequent to the permanent settlement. The grant was not sanctioned by the Government as required by Regulation XXV of 1802. The zamindari was assumed in 1820. The late Collector, however, continued the manium as it was intended for a chatram which was of great public utility. For this reason the Collector recommends that the "manium may be sanctioned to the extent usually authorized for the support of chatrams, viz., Rs. 60 per annum."	70-1

	Dindigul Cantonment
22- 4-31	Acquisition of weavers' lands.	98-101

To the Chief Secretary to Government.

1. The O.C. 18th Rt., N.I., Dindigul, requested the Collector to obtain a certain ground adjoining the cantonment. It was intended for the expansion of the officers' quarters. The O.C. states that the land in question "had been made over to Lt.-Col. Innes, Commanding Dindigul, in 1800 and it is not now the property of the Government."

2. The Collector, in forwarding the application of the O.C. to Government, remarks that the ground measures 9 cawnis 20 grounds and 1,100 square feet. It was originally made over to Lt.-Col. Innes in 1800. From him it passed by transfer to six proprietors. The present occupants are the weavers who purchased the land from Mr. Payne for Rs. 500. The weavers have improved the land at a cost of Rs. 300 to adapt it to their purposes. Since the land contains 4 wells and is situated in the immediate vicinity of the petah it will necessarily cause some loss to the weavers if they are to be deprived of it. So the Collector offers Rs. 1,000 for the whole plot of ground.

3. He informs Government that the price offered by him is only just and requests orders.

	Salt
24- 4-31	Abuses.	103-6

To the Board.

1. The salt peshkar of Kalyanaghiri salt pans complained to the Collector of Madura against the conduct of the inhabitants of Tanjore. These Tanjore inhabitants enticed certain salt merchants staying in the Sivaganga Zamindari on their way to the Madura pans, by offering them a discount of one marakal on every parah of salt. It is optional with the merchants to buy their salt wherever they please. To meet and invite merchants by offers contrary to the established rules, is quite illegal. So the Collector of Madura complained to the Collector of Tanjore against the conduct of the Tanjore inhabitants.

2. The Board, in another connection, wanted to know from the Collector of Madura whether there was any difference between the parah measures used in Tanjore and Madura, and the cause for the comparative decrease in sales in the Tanjore district. The Collector of Madura intimates that the decrease might be due to (a) extensive manufacture of earth salt in Coimbatore, and (b) the fact that the salt servants of Tanjore counteracted the favourable operation of the parah measure by allowing the merchants discount as noticed in paragraph 1 above.

The Collector reports that the deficiency noticed in the estate of the late Mr. R. 24- 4-31	Case of Mr. Hughes's agent. To the Board. The facts of the case are that Mr. Hughes's agent imported tobacco for exportation under a rowanah. On examination there was found an excess of tobacco by 20% of the quantity entered in the rowanah. The agent explained that the excess weight was due to the addition of jaggery water for preserving the tobacco. The Collector, from all the information obtained by him, gathers that the excess was introduced by the agent for his own benefit for a private and clandestine sale. If such explanations are to be admitted there will be no end to the loss of Government revenues.	107-8

25- 5-31	Compulsory regulation—Collector's opinion. To the Board. 1. " Compulsory registry is objected to because it has a tendency to injure the value of land first by rendering it less available for purposes of mortgage . . . ; secondly because the expenses of registry are considerable when the registrar's office is at a distance and the expenses are borne by the party in necessity " in favour of the party enjoying the property. 2. " Mortgagees or purchasers of land do not advance money without actually obtaining possession of the land. This is proof of the transaction. Registry therefore is scarcely considered necessary." 3. In the district of Madura " the karnams' registers supersede the necessity for registering." 4. " The anticipated benefit of compulsory registration in preventing unjust litigation would not be speedily felt . . . because all the disputed lands require judicial investigation." 5. " False documents will require false testimony to substantiate them and false testimony will probably result in many bad ways."	126-7

8- 6-31	Poligar's pension. To the Board. 1. The zamindar claimed the 10% allowance on his zamindari while it was under attachment. The Collector's intention as conveyed to the Board in his former letter was that the poligar along with similar poligars should be maintained under all circumstances. The Collector points out that the Idaiyagottai estate was highly assessed and the official village inams were included in the original assessment. The poligar's plea is that he was a minor when the permanent beriz was fixed and he prays for a reduction in the permanent assessment. The Collector points out the poligar's desire to keep the estate in his possession and to pay the arrears. He at the same time recommends that some reduction may be made in the permanent assessment and pending the orders of Government on the point the poligar may be allowed 10% allowance until the time the estate is made over to him on a reduced permanent beriz. 2. In this connection the Collector brings to the notice of the Board that the Poligar of Togumalai was granted the 10% allowance without a transfer of his estate. But he has not taken advantage of the allowance lest it should bar his claim to the re-possession of the estate when he has obtained the means to discharge the outstanding balances.	138-9

7- 7-31	F. 1240. To the Board. The chief feature in the fasli is that there are certain remissions under the head 'increase in measurement'. The Collector explains this as "the amount unjustly added to Mr. Hurdis's survey measurement by our zealous or corrupt tahsildars." For example Rs. 1,475-2-10 were found to have been inaccurately added to Mr. Hurdis's measurement. But by actual survey the mistake was found out and the amount had to be remitted.	159-61

13- 7-31	Mr. Hughes's agent. To the Board. 1. From the report of the Head Police officer of Ramnad, the Collector learns that the increase in weight over the quantity mentioned in the rowanah was actually due to conditioning the tobacco with jaggery water. The Police officer experimented on a maund of tobacco and found out the increase to be 20%. The increase in the total weight by 35 candies was due to addition of jaggery water, etc. 2. On this report the Collector is much discouraged, as the investigation is in favour of the agent. He is, however, of opinion that "the transaction is incorrect; because it is not the opinion of the merchants that so great an excess of weight as 35 candies in a lot of 140 candies by preparation of the tobacco is usual." He submits that he is prepared to abide by the Board's orders and considers it necessary to provide some special precautions against such doubtful transactions.	163-7

27- 7-31	Rehabilitation of. To the Board. 1. The lands in Virupakshipollam were extensively abandoned in consequence of the high teerwa fixed by Mr. Hurdis. The zamindars of neighbouring places induced the ryots of Virupakshi to take up their lands on easy cowles. Virupakshi was thus deserted, and was covered with jungles and infested with wild animals. It became an abode for robbers and plunderers. 2. The Collector after having visited Virupakshi remarks that the appearance of the village is quite attractive and that the people are extremely attached to it. He has no doubt that the pollam may be rendered as productive as it ought to be. As "mettoo peons" are stationed on the high roads, and as the inhabitants have been invited to cultivate the lands on easy cowles and low teerwahs, many have consequently returned to their old homes and have cleared the extensive jungles.	180

29- 7-31	Maintenance of accounts explained. To the Board. 1. Mudichimalai. On the receipt of remittances at the treasury the bags and their seals are examined and are compared with the irusalnamah and an account of them is kept, which is called mudichimalai. 2. Razenamah Chittah. The bags are opened. Coins are examined and compared with the description in the irusal. Bad coins are returned to the shroff accompanying the remittance, who exchanges them immediately. The amount received is entered in the chittah. In this account the disbursements are also entered as they occur specifying the coins issued together with the balance. It is called razenamah chittah No. 2. 3. Jadati Chittah. The usual monthly charges for sibbandi, sadrward, devasthanams, chatrams, etc., are entered in an indent with an order on the treasury for payment. The whole amount is then set apart for disbursement. The charges as they occur are entered in an account called jadati chittah. 4. Deposit accounts. Should there be any balance of the jadati undischarged on the 25th of every month the amount is entered in the deposit accounts and the amount will appear under that head in the monthly accounts sent to the Accountant-General. 5. Cash balance. Every ten days a report of balance of cash is sent to the Accountant-General.	182-5

The Sarishtadar's department then frames the accounts. "The English accounts sent to Madras are prepared separating the ayan from the deposit heads." The Sarishtadar is ultimately responsible for the correctness of the accounts. He is given four gumastas to prepare the accounts.

27- 8-31	O.C. Ramnad—Interference with the Ramnad Manager. To Capt. Horace Millingen, Commanding Ramnad. 1. Muttoo Shella Tevar, Manager and Head Police Officer of Ramnad, complained of the disturbances created by Capt. Millingen, Commanding at Ramnad. At the same time Capt. Millingen complained of the uncivil behaviour of the manager towards him, which arose from the beating of tom-toms by the zamindar's manager on the occasion of religious and marriage functions and in the patrolling of the town. 2. The Collector informs Capt. Millingen that the manager holds the situation under the express orders of Government during the minority of his niece and that he officiates as the head of the police of the district; that Ramnad is a walled petah and there is no necessity for the inhabitants to get the O.C.'s permission to beat tom-toms, etc. As regards the beating of tom-toms on patrol duty, it is the right of the head police to judge whether it is right or wrong to do so. At the same time it is not proper that the O.C. should be disturbed and the Collector will issue orders to the manager accordingly. 3. The O.C. apparently judged it proper "to interfere with the orders of the Ramnad head police under the idea that Ramnad was a military garrison subject to all the restraints of a fortress; whereas the fact is that Ramnad is a walled town whose inhabitants are subject solely to the civil and police authority." The Collector is not sure whether the O.C. is fully convinced by his arguments. He, therefore, says, "If you are of opinion that my idea on the subject is inaccurate, I hope you will refer to the military authorities for instruction and in the meantime allow the customs of Ramnad to continue as they prevailed under the officer formerly in command."	211–7
	Postal Writer
27- 8-31	Dindigul—Increase of pay. To the Postmaster General. The Collector recommends an increase of Pag. 1 to the salary of the post office writer at Dindigul consequent on his increased duties. The writer's salary was originally Pag. 5. It was reduced to Pag. 3 on the decrease of his duties owing to the removal of the garrison.	217–8

	Sivaganga
29- 8-31	Zamindari—Superintendent—Appointment of. To the Board. The Zamindar of Sivaganga applied to the Collector for a fit person to superintend the revenue administration of his district. The Collector informs the Board that "in consequence of neglect of business by the late zamindars and the incapacity and misconduct of the peshkars during the last 20 years, the revenue and resources of the Sivaganga Zamindari have materially deteriorated. . . The only person here fit to do justice is Kistniah. the brother of the Head Sheristadar, who is Tahsildar of Tirumangalam."	220–1

On the death of Alli Mally Khan his family was granted a pension of Rs. 20. Of the pension of Rs. 50 of Rahman Khan, Rs. 30 was paid to him and Rs. 20 to his sisters. Rahman Khan's sons apply for the continuance to them of their father's portion of Rs. 30. The Collector understands that since the demise of Rahman Khan, his children have been living by alms. So he recommends that Rs. 15—being half of Rahman Khan's pension—may be paid to his sons.	241–3
	Kandyan Pensioners
8- 9-31	Kumara Rangappa Nayak and others—Advance for marriage expenses. To the Chief Secretary to Government. The Collector recommends the grant of an advance of Rs. 350 to Kumararangappa Nayak and 6 others of the Kandyan pensioners. The advance is recoverable from their allowances.	242–3

11- 9-31	Subbuswami, son of Angalswami—Separate pension. A pension of Pag. 40 is received by Subbuswami for the support of the family of Angalswami, his late father. Certain members of the family request a separate maintenance. The Collector is aware of the objections against the subdivision of pensions. But he is of opinion that those objections may scarcely apply in the present case as the members of the Kandyan family are not allowed to move from the district.	243–4
	Pearl Fishery
5- 9-31	Ramnad Devasthanam privileges. To the Board. The Collector intimates from the report of the manager of the Ramnad Zamindari, that the Ceylon Government allowed the usual boats in the Ceylon pearl fishery for the benefit of the Ramnad devasthanams.	247–9

	Togamalai
22- 9-31	Allowances. To the Board. The Collector reports that the Togamalai Zamindari was not confirmed by istimrar sanad. It was assumed for arrears. He is of opinion that "the indulgence solicited by the zamindar should be allowed until the propriety or otherwise of reducing the permanent beriz of the zamindari is determined." He points out that the intention of Government is that these zamindars whose properties are under temporary attachment should be granted the allowance.	257–8
	Moturpha
23- 9-31	Sokkapalangarai village. To the Board. Sokkapalangarai is a village in the Tinnevelly district and is held by the Rameswaram pagoda. From the grant, it appears to have been free of rent originally. But from the arzis of the monigars it appears that an annual porupoo of Ch. 54–96 has been paid from the time of the poligars. The Collector requests orders whether under the circumstances the devasthanam villages are liable to moturpha tax which is at present collected by the Collector of Tinnevelly.	258–66

At first he was unable to account for certain sums advanced for cart hire for bringing timber, fowls, sheep, etc., on account of the late Mr. R. Peter. Certain sums expended on the repair of the private building of the late Mr. R. Peter were exhibited in the public accounts. The Collector observes that from the way in which disbursements were made and the accounts were kept, Venkata Varada Ayyangar ought to be considered a private agent of the late Mr. Peter.

With reference to a communication from Government the Collector reports that on the abolition of the Zillah Court at Ramnad, the buildings occupied as court-house, commercial house and prison remained unoccupied and have suffered much injury, that the manager of Ramnad states that no person is inclined to purchase the buildings, that the materials contained in them are valued at roughly Rs. 1,400-0-0, and that " if they are sold as they stand at present they may fetch Rs. 3,158."	320-4

30 12-31	Management by the Court of Wards—Collector's recommendations. To the Board.	356-7

1. The Ramnad Zamindari was entrusted to the management of Muthu Veerayee Natchiyar and Muthu Shella Tevar who were the relatives of the infant daughter of Ramaswami Setupati, the deceased zamindar. The result of their management was a surplus of Rs. 21,890-9-8 after meeting the kists and private expenses of the manager.
2. When the Collector recommended that the management of the zamindari should be confided to the family, he anticipated that the minor's interests would be safeguarded: that the expenses would have been "so moderate as to cover the surplus of good years sufficient to make up the differences of bad seasons and to provide for improvements and that from experience this result cannot be expected if the private expenses of the family remain unlimited."
3. The Collector "cannot interfere in husbanding the resources of the zamindari or controlling the expenditure unless the estate is taken under the Court of Wards whose control is the more necessary under the prospects of bad seasons. . ." Further, there are numerous creditors on the estate and if funds are not provided for the gradual discharge of the debts, the minor on her maturity will inherit an embarrassed estate. So it is necessary that the management of the estate should be taken up by the Court of Wards.

No. 42 of 1811 certain money being the sale proceeds of silk was alleged to have been deposited in favour of one Giri Chetti, the plaintiff, in the Ramnad treasury. The Collector examined the records of the Madura Collectorate and could not trace out any reference to the deposit. He however suggests that Ramnad at the time of the suit, i.e., in 1811, was under Tinnevelly and that the Tinnevelly Collectorate records may contain references.	56

28- 2-32	Poligar's pension. To the Board. 1. The Collector had already intimated to the Board that when Chinna Obalammah, the widow of the deceased poligar, who was getting Rs. 105 or Pag. 30 a month, died, there were two claimants to the pension. One was Andi Valayutha Chinnama Nayak, who claimed inheritance through adoption and the other was Kumara Vijaya Vayyabury Chinnabba Nayak who claimed inheritance as legal heir. He had to disallow both the claims as he did not consider either to be entitled to the pension. 2. The Collector on further enquiry found that the deceased Chinna Obalammah had left a will in favour of Andi Velayutha Chinnama Nayak and the deed of his adoption. (It appears to be a custom in adoption that a gold ring should be placed by the adoptive parent on the toe of the adopted person.) He is of opinion that the claims of Andi Velayutha Nayak are preferable to those of Kumara Vijaya Vayyaburi Chinnabba Nayak. He therefore requests the Board's permission to disburse the arrears of pension to Andi Velayutha Chinnama Nayak, the adopted heir.	56-8

3- 3-32	Assignment of. To the Board. The Collector reports that the land which he proposed to assign for house sites is "under the walls of Madura Fort". It should be given over for building rent-free and included within the boundary of Anupanadi village. The right of occupancy has been bought from the inhabitants of Anupanadi by the weavers. This right of occupancy is independent of the Circar's right to rent melwaram assessment, which, the Collector proposes to relinquish.	61-2

5- 3-32	Operation of—Collector's opinion. To the Resident of Tanjore. It is the wish of the Government that the provisions of Regulation II of 1829 should not be observed in Tondaiman's country. In a particular case under reference the Collector is of opinion that the parties ought not to have been forwarded to Tondaiman's cutcherry for examination, because they are the village officers of Uniyur village who prevented Tondaiman's ryots from carrying off grain from the limits of Madura. As the dispute concerns both the Madura and Tondaiman's districts, Tondaiman's cutcherry could not pass a decision on it.	65-6

28- 4-32	Muttarasan's arrears. To the Board. Muttarasan is an obstinate defaulter of betel and tobacco rents. The Collector's coercive processes have not worked beneficially. Muttarasan wants further time to pay the arrears and has furnished securities for the fulfilment of his promise. The Collector intimates the Board and requests its sanction to allow him further time.	99

2- 5-32	Zamindar's family—Allowances. To the Board. 1. The members of the Ramnad Zamindar's family in want of subsistence are the ladies of the household of the late Muthu Ramalinga Setupati. When he was in confinement correspondence was carried on with the then zamindar and Government pointed out to him the propriety of maintaining the family. There were repeated complaints that the women had not received any support from the zamindar. 2. The Collector wrote to the guardian and manager of the estate again. The manager in his reply declined to maintain them. The Collector submits to the Board "whether it will not be proper to grant them maintenance for life out of the amount of lapsed pensions of the other members of the family".	104–11

9- 5-32	Proposals for levy of. To the Board. 1. The Collector submits a statement of moturpha that may be imposed in the Madura and Dindigul districts. He considers that the people liable to the tax opposed the introduction and did not render any assistance in framing the statement. He therefore thinks that the statement may undergo small changes when people assemble and fix the rates. He explains at length the various columns in the statement.	121–7

2. The Ramnad and Sivaganga Zamindaris did not furnish the required accounts. But the Collector furnishes a rough account and determines a certain sum. The proprietors of the zamindaris have urged for a remission in their permanent beriz to the extent of moturpha, which formed an item of the assets of the zamindaris on which the permanent beriz was calculated. The Collector recommends a remission of two-thirds of the moturpha.

3. The zamindars as a rule claim arrears from the date of the proclamation of October 1805, which prohibited the collection of all professional taxes. Some of the zamindars opposed the remission on account of moturpha on the ground that the Rani of Ramnad in particular gained by a favourable rate of exchange more than what she lost by being prohibited from collecting moturpha. The Collector found out a document signed by Rani Mangaleswari. This document apparently barred the claims of the Ramnad Zamindar to remission. The Ramnad manager explained that the Rani signed the document out of respect to the Collector's command and that she did not voluntarily give up the claim; that the gain by the exchange was not an equivalent for the moturpha, because the ready money collections were made in shooly fanams which were actually paid into the Collector's treasury and that the Rani could not influence the rate of exchange as it was a Government business.

4. The Collector's arguments are:—(a) "Although Rani Mangaleswari would have obtained the remissions yet she was aware that the Government could at once have altered the rate of exchange . . . whereby the contemplated profit could have been annihilated. She would no doubt consent to the abandonment of the claim to moturpha remission. She yielded to the Collector's request under the idea of deriving advantage which should be considered voluntary." (b) Shooly fanams were no doubt collected in the Ramnad district. But the Government did not gain by the exchange. (c) If the abandonment of the claims to remission as was agreed to by the Rani is got over, the objections of the Ramnad manager may hold good.

5. The Collector's opinion is that as at present the remission will be an acceptable boon to both the Ramnad and the Sivaganga Zamindars owing to failure of the produce. With regard to Sivaganga there does not appear to be any compromise affecting the claim to moturpha remission. As regards Ramnad the Collector thinks that the Ranee's engagement ought not to be pressed against the zamindar and that if the Board considers a remission of moturpha proper in either case it may be allowed on the basis recommended by him.

12- 5-32	Mamu Shaw Fakir and Syed Bibi of Tiruppuvanam—Decree of the Zillah Court. To the Board. 1. The case is that one Malungooshaw Fakir was allowed ½ a cully fanam per day from the sayer revenue of the Tirubuvanam chowki under a parwanah from the Nabob. The yeomiah was utilized for maintaining a mosque. This Malungooshaw took as his disciple one Muqtum Shaw who continued to enjoy the pension after the death of Malungooshaw. Muqtumshaw's son, Mamushaw, succeeded. The yeomiah was discontinued. Mamushaw by his own exertions got the yeomiah revived. He has enjoyed the yeomiah since that time and maintained the mosque. 2. Malungooshaw's widow took a second husband and prosecuted Mamushaw for a share in the yeomiah and got a half share. The widow's complaint was that there were other perquisites of the mosque in which she was not allowed to share. Mamushaw's plaint was that she was not entitled even to the half share of the yeomiah. The Board examined the complaints. The complaints related to oil and the lighting of the lamps of the mosque and not to the yeomiah as being granted for the maintenance of any person. The Board therefore disallowed the claims of the widow to a half share of the yeomiah as being contrary to the law of Mahomed Nabee and to the custom of the caste and granted Mamushaw's plaint. 3. The Zillah Court confirmed the decision of the Board and granted a decree in favour of Mamushaw Fakir and held that the distribution of the original pension made by the late Collector was not authorized either by the Board or by the Government. It also conferred a right to enjoy the yeomiah without division. 4. The Collector in forwarding the Zillah Court's decree requests orders for its execution.	133-43

	Kandyan Pensioners—cont. The Government of Ceylon had apparently ordered a retrenchment in the allowances of the Kandyan pensioners. One Rangoo, the 5th in the family of Basava Subba Nayak, clamours against the retrenchment. The Collector reports to the Government that under the orders of 1816 the family enjoyed the full allowance of Subba Nayak and wants to know whether it is the intention of the Ceylon Government to retrench the allowances of this family also.

Krishnammah, the other surviving member of the family, withdrew from the protection of Mullammah. But she did not participate in the allowance. The Collector is of opinion that Krishnammah is fairly entitled to a separate provision from the pension drawn by Mullammah. He therefore recommends one-third of the original pension to Krishnammah. The Collector in recommending the proportion takes into consideration the seniority of Mullammah.	182

8- 7-32	Arrears. To the Board. 1. The Collector recommends that the arrears due by the Sivaganga Zamindari may be collected in three annual instalments and that the estate may be released from attachment, retaining a taluk yielding Rs. 40,000 as security. He recommends this arrangement, because the zamindar is put to heavy expense on account of extra sibbandy and the indulgence will be a reasonable relief to him. He lost Rs. 2,00,000 by the failure of the monsoon and he is burdened with a debt of Rs. 3,60,000 left by his predecessor. 2. The Collector estimates that if the zamindari is released the zamindar will be able to free the estate from all encumbrances in the course of about 6 years. He also foresees that if Government do not comply with his recommendations, the zamindar will be compelled to resort to ruinous transactions and the opportunity of relieving the estate from encumbrances will be lost. The Collector requests the Board to accede to his suggestions.	199-200
	Minakshi and Sundareswara Swami Temples
9- 7-32	Restoration of lands to. To the Board. 1. The ancestors of the present Kumaravadi Zamindar dedicated certain lands to the Minakshi and Sundareswara Swami pagodas. When the zamindari was assumed for arrears in f. 1222, the karnam of the pagoda took possession of the dedicated lands under the orders of the Sarishtadar of Kumaravadi, "on condition of paying the assessed teerwa of Mr. Hurdis." By this arrangement the devasthanam loses the benefit of receiving the whole crop of grain, which it would receive if the lands were cultivated by the devasthanam labourers. The Zamindar of Kumaravadi reclaims the land on behalf of the devasthanam. 2. The karnam urges that he is fully entitled to the land on the score of his having spent a considerable sum on repairing the tank. 3. The Collector is of opinion that "whatever the expenses may be, 20 years occupancy has fully recompensed him (the karnam) and as a hired servant of the pagoda he ought to have attended to its interests rather than to his own, and as the grant has not been sanctioned by the Collector. I (the Collector) consider the whole a job to defraud the devasthanam of its just dues." He therefore recommends that the land should be made over to the devasthanam.	200-6

	Jamabandi Report
16- 7-32	F. 1241. To the Board. 1. The Collector explains the variations in the revenue statement as usual. 2. Malapanam. This is a tax derived from the stony lands cultivated with pickaxes solely on the stony slopes of mountains. The revenue is determined at so much per pickaxe, as it is difficult to measure the lands. "This revenue has been considered in the nature of a rent." The Collector reports that these hill rents or Malapanams are derived from the villages on the Vadghery mountains. The villages were rented to the Chiefs or Mahanadus for 5 years. This term has now expired and it will be necessary to renew the lease. The inhabitants requested the Collector to make individual settlements. This process is impracticable at present on account of the difficulties of communication. The Collector therefore suggests opening defiles to facilitate trade and for the convenience of the bullocks to pass. He estimates the expenditure on this work at Rs. 600. 3. Tax on fruit trees. It has been usual to collect a tax on fruit trees irrespective of the garden assessment. The Collector remarks, "This tax appears to me highly impolitic as it is trifling in amount, it destroys the value of garden lands inasmuch as it prevents the inhabitants from doing what they please; it prevents the planting of new trees; it induces ryots to destroy all trees the profits of which are not certain and it partly prevents the ryots from cultivating the waste garden lands. . . I think it incumbent to remove" this tax.	210-8

	Salt Trade
9- 8-32	Competition between Madura and Tanjore. To the Board. 1. The salt amildar of Madura complained to the Collector that Mr. T. L. Blane of Tanjore came with some armed peons to the salt pans of Madura, molested the merchants who bought salt and who were waiting for the rowanahs, and ordered them with threats to disclose the quantity of salt bought by each of them. 2. The amildar's complaint is so sincere that he aims at the increased sale of salt especially in a season of drought. He points out in his complaint the different means employed to induce the salt merchants to buy salt. The merchants could not resort to the salt pans as there is no fodder for their cattle on account of the drought. If merchants who had reluctantly come to the pans are molested and teased by an officer having no concern in the district, there is hardly any scope for the sale of the salt, etc. 3. The Collector of Madura forwards the complaint to the Board and requests that an investigation may be made as to the cause of the alleged interferences on the part of Mr. T. L. Blane, and the reason for his having brought with him a large body of armed peons. He remarks that the visit of Mr. T. L. Blane and his molestation of the merchants seem to be quite unaccountable. It is quite probable that in future no merchant will resort to the Madura pans for salt if molested by officers of the neighbouring district. He requests that the Board will prevent a recurrence.	235-9

The Collector recommends that an allowance of Rs. 1,500 may be paid to the zamindar monthly.	242

He requests the refund of drawback on piece-goods exported by the Nattukkottai Chettis so far, from the date of the regulation authorizing the drawback. 2. The Tahsildars should proceed to the villages a second time when the season is ripe for cotton, gram, rape seed, grains and punjah cultivation and a third time when nunjah cultivation is ripe and induce the ryots to cultivate the whole land occupied by them. 2. Rameswaram—cont.

20- 9-32 Devasthanam lands. 268–70

To the Board.

The Ramnad Zamindar urges his right to the entire management of the devasthanam affairs on the ground of a rental deed executed in favour of the zamindar by the Pandauram. The present Pandauram claims the management as having been nominated to the see by the old Pandauram. The Collector remarks that the Rameswaram Devasthanam has never been managed by the zamindar since the date of the permanent sanad, and, before that time, it is universally admitted that the Pandaurams in succession conducted the devasthanam affairs. He recommends that the Pandauram may be placed in immediate management of the devasthanam and the Ramnad Zamindar may be allowed to superintend and to check abuses.

Troops

22- 9-32 Necessity in Madura. 271

To the Quartermaster-General of the Army, Fort St. George.

The Collector explains that the profound tranquillity of the district is due to the presence of the four companies of infantry and that they should therefore be continued in the district as it abounds in poligar families and people of the Kallar caste, who "occasionally act on momentary impulses."

Sivaganga

27- 9-32 Release from attachment—Proposal. 273–5

To the Board.

The Collector recommends that the Sivaganga Zamindari may be released from attachment on the zamindar paying immediately one half of the arrears and the balance in instalments along with the kists. He remarks that the above offer made by the zamindar is favourable both to the Government and the zamindar. He suggests that if the security tendered by the zamindar from leading ryots is accepted there is no doubt that the balances will be punctually discharged.

Assignment of Land

28- 9-32 Objection to. 275–6

2. The manager requests that the Collector may issue proclamations falsifying such unwarranted rumours, which have taken root in the minds of the people and prevent further annoyances on the part of the O.C. 	Boundary Dispute
5-11-32	Sethu Ramalingapuram. To the Collector of Tinnevelly. The Collector of Madura requests that the inhabitants of Sethuramalingapuram belonging to the Rameswaram Devasthanam should not be molested, pending a decision on the disputed boundary.	318
	Brinthavana Madam
9-11-32	Misappropriation of funds. To the Resident at Mysore. Under the orders of a priest of the Vutharadimadam in Mysore, his agent filed a complaint against one Alleghiry Rao in charge of Brindavana Madam, of misappropriation of the madam funds. The Collector investigated into the case and found the charge to be void of proof. He therefore intimates the result to the Resident for communication to the priest and his agent.	323
	Salt Revenue
18-11-32	Measures against decrease—Collector's suggestions. 1. In Madura peons used to be sent to summon the salt merchants to the Madura pans. The Collector explains that this practice was not intended to draw the merchants from the neighbouring districts, but to check the sale of earth salt and spontaneous salt. If no salt is procurable besides that manufactured by Government, the salt agents will have only to deliver the salt demanded by the merchants. But earth salt equally as good as the sea salt is obtainable in the Tondaiman's country. It is therefore inevitable that the monopoly revenue should fail unless checks are applied against the sale of the spontaneous and earth salt. He is of opinion that it is immaterial whether salt is sold in Tanjore or Tinnevelly or Madura; but it is of the greatest consequence if the total salt revenue falls. It is to secure the above result that the Collector is exerting himself. 2. Competition can only exist between the salt pans on the immediate boundaries of Tanjore and Madura and this may not be injurious to the total salt revenue to the Government unless, in the competition, excess over the monopoly rate is allowed. There had been frequent complaints that salt merchants were enticed away by the peons of the neighbouring pans. The Collector explains that "merchants would not go far out of their way to obtain a trifling advantage. Inland dealers frequently bring with them grain, spices and drugs for sale. . . . If their goods are intended for the markets of Trichinopoly or Pudukkottai or any town west of the Tanjore pans, they resort to Tanjore pans. If their object is to convey their goods to any town west of the Ramnad coast they will purchase the Madura salt. To divert the trade of these people . . . . would be impracticable." 3. The main point on which the Collector wants to insist, is the suppression of the sale of earth and spontaneous salt and of the frauds by ryots. He details a course of action demanding the co-operation of the Collectors of the neighbouring districts and their subordinates.	326-30

27-11-32	Availability on the Ramnad coast. To the Board. 1. In reply to a communication from the Board the Collector forwards the report of the ambalagar, divers, etc., which induced him to propose to the Board an examination of the Ramnad coast. 2. He remarks that even though there has never been before any trace of the pearl oysters in the district yet, the experiment may be made, because the beds of Manar and Tuticorin are in the same gulf, and "there is no apparent cause why these oysters should not congregate on the submerged banks off the Ramnad coast south of Pamban."	336-7
	Postal
29-11-32	Loss of a mail boat. To the Postmaster General. The Collector forwards the arzee of the post office writer at Ramnad reporting the loss of a mail boat bound to Manar from Dhanuskodi. He reports that he recovered the mails in a very damaged condition and that he has not been able to learn the exact number of lives lost on the occasion. He avails himself of this oppurtunity to urge his former suggestion that passengers should invariably be prevented from getting into the mail boats.	338-43

16-12-32	To the Collector of Tinnevelly. The Collector of Madura says that there are endless boundary disputes. He therefore writes with a view to end them. "I am at all times anxious to put an end to the troubles arising from disputed boundaries and am to afford you the requisite assistance to apprehend persons guilty of breaches of peace on lands the right of which is doubtful. . . . Orders have been issued to the head of police to trace the parties accused of assembling for outrageous purposes."	354

To the Board.

In the document by which Biccauji Rao made over all the property as security to the Company the lands in the village of Tenkarai have not been expressly named. But the Tenkarai lands are however named in the valuation list. It was evidently the intention of Biccauji Rao that those lands should be pledged to the Company as part of his security.

	Sivaganga
25- 2-33	Arrears. To the Board. The Sivaganga Zamindar stated that he would pay down one lakh of rupees within one month and tender security for the balance. The Collector accordingly waited for a month. There is no likelihood of his effecting this arrangement. The total outstanding is Rs. 1,43,000. There is no doubt that the outstandings will be realised in the course of favourable seasons. If the estate is sold the family will be destroyed. So the Collector wants the considered opinion of the Board.	60
	Salt Rules
26- 2-33	Working of—Report. To the Board. 1. In the course of the working of the several rules the Collector mentions "one road to fraud which has not been properly closed." In measuring the salt a second time with the same measure and in the same way one can see a deficiency. This deficiency is produced not in the quantity, but in the bulk, owing to the breaking up of crystals. This uncertainty in the measured quantity gives an abundant scope for fraud and for punishment alighting on the wrong shoulders. By this the service of subordinates in the Salt department has become an uncertain one. The Collector suggests that the receipt and sale of salt may be measured by weight instead of by bulk measures. 2. Spontaneous and earth salt. With a view to preventing the theft and consumption of spontaneous salt the Collector makes the following observations and suggestions:— (a) Salt is spontaneously produced in the beds of rivers. People gather and keep it in their houses for sale. It is impracticable to destroy the spontaneous salt, which covers the earth to an extent of 3 miles. If two bars are placed at the entrances and guarded by armed peons, people will be prevented from carrying away the spontaneous salt, until it is washed away by the freshes in the river. (b) Earth salt is produced abundantly on the embankment at Melmandy in Tinnevelly. The embankment may be cut to admit water which will prevent the formation of salt. (c) Near Dalavoy Mudali Chatram there is a tank, 100 yards in diameter. Much salt is produced here. He recommends removing about 10 yards of the bund to let water out. (d) About 20 garces of spontaneous salt are produced on two barren islands south of Keelakkarai. The fishermen carry away this salt for sale. They should therefore be directed to furnish securities for refraining from this practice.	61-8

Private Buildings

27- 2-33 Near the Madura treasury. 68-71

To the Board.

1. The Collector learns from the Sthanigal of the place that the houses were erected by Tirumal Naick and were given to his brother, Muddhu Virappah Nayak, as a dwelling house. The premises were afterwards occupied by Brahmins. During the Nabob's Government the west part of the house was occupied by Subba Rao. He improved and built the two houses now proposed to be purchased by the Collector.
2. "After the attachment of the country by the Company the family of Subba Rao became dispossessed of all the houses except the two" built by Subba Rao and which it is proposed to buy. One of the houses was sold in satisfaction of the decree of a court and the other was sold by Subba Rao's wife.

Salt

9- 3-33 Confiscation of private salt.

To the Board.

1. When the salt monopoly was introduced the farm was rented by the Marakkayars of Kilakkarai. A proclamation was issued directing that all stores of salt should be handed over to the Government. The Tahsildar obtained information that the Marakkayars possessed some private salt. He seized 68 marakals and 8 measures of salt. An enquiry was conducted. The Marakkayars admitted that they were consuming salt which was stored in pits at the time of their rent and which remained undiscovered.
2. The Collector forwards the depositions and suggests the propriety of levying the full monopoly price on the whole store of 12 garces of salt which the Marakkayars admitted to have consumed so far.

13- 3-33	Ramnad Zamindar's claim. To the Board. 1. In forwarding the arzee of the Ramnad Zamindar claiming his right to the pearl fishing on the Ramnad coast, the Collector discusses the zamindar's right. 2. "It does not appear that the zamindar has established any claim to the right of fishing. The amount of his peshcash was framed with reference to the sources of revenue already ascertained and the only marine product to which he is expressly entitled is the chank, which is one of the assets of the revenue on which the permanent peshcash was formed."	95–7

20- 4-33	Reduction of peshcash. To the Board. 1. The Collector furnishes figures to enable the Board to judge the propriety of reducing the peshcash of the Idaiyakkottai Zamindari. 2. The average collection for 19 years of the zamindari is Rs. 7,491. The net teerwah of the zamindari as proposed by Mr. Hurdis is Rs. 9,782. The zamindar seems to have spent his own property in making good the deficiency. The average of the jamabandi collections for the past five years is Rs. 6,360. So there has decidedly been a decrease of Rs. 3,422 below the amount of peshcash. 3. Since the time of Mr. Hurdis's survey, cultivation had fallen off owing to frequent failure of rains and to the disinclination of the people to cultivate soil of an unproductive nature in the face of the high assessment proposed by Mr. Hurdis. In the Collector's opinion it is useless to expect anything more than the average collections as peshcash. He recommends that the peshcash may be fixed somewhere below the 19 years' average of Rs. 7,491. If the Board agrees to the Collector's suggestion that the balances now overdue may be adjusted according to the new peshcash.	130-3

8- 7-33 Zamindar's family—Allowances. 226
To the Board.

The dependants of the family of the late Zamindar of Ramagiri have been paid their pensions from the date of the death of the zamindar. The widow has received only Rs. 1,000 "in consequence of her declining to accept a pension and claiming a right to the zamindari." Now, since the widow has relinquished her claim to the estate, the Collector considers that she is entitled to arrears from the date of the death of the zamindar.

They were claims against the descendants of the renters of the triennial lease. Mr. J. C. Wroughton, the present acting Collector, states that even though he has ample powers to enforce the recovery of those old balances yet he cannot do so because "the properties of the defaulters are their only properties . . . . and that certain ruin will be the consequence to the Baukidars." He therefore induces the Board "to relieve the defaulters from a feeling of dependence which has undoubtedly tended to cramp every feeling of enterprise or industry."	376-7

24-10-33	No. 16 of 1833—Shevatyan of Pootoor villages—Karappayi of Pootoor and 16 others.	379-90

To the Board.

1. The case as represented by the plaintiff is that he purchased from Karappayi, the defendant, one-fourth share of the ambalam mirasi for St. Pag. 28½ and was enjoying all the emoluments of the mirasi. When the plaintiff's crops on the lands of the mirasi were ripe and when he was unavoidably absent at Ramnad, the 17 defendants took possession of the produce. He claims after the deduction of circar melwaram, etc., Rs. 91-1-9 from the defendants as damages.
2. The first defendant's statement is that except ⅛ share, the mirasi is encumbered by mortgages and sales piecemeal to several persons, that the plaintiff had therefore no right to cultivate any portion of the mirassy land, etc., and that the plaint is a false one.
3. The arbitrators examine the documents filed by the parties and the witnesses produced by both. They observe in their decree, that the plaintiff had established his claims and that the first defendant had failed to prove her statement. Consequently the plaintiff is entitled to enjoy his one-fourth share and the first defendant her one-eighth share each separately and the plaintiff is not entitled to claim damages against the first defendant.
4. The Collector forwards a translation of the above decree to the Board as was requested.

26-10-33	Ebram Sahib's claim.	400-5

To the Board.

1. With reference to claims advanced by the widow of Ebram Sahib for the yeomiah allowance of shooly fan. 3 per day which her husband was getting for maintaining the Kuth-a-Shaw mosque, the Collector reports that the yeomiahs in Ramnad were discontinued in 1804, on the assumption of the sayer revenues. Mr. Parish, the late Collector, seems to have enquired into the claims of the several yeomiahdars which then ceased in Ramnad. But it is not clear why a report was not made to the Board.

	2. With reference to the application of the widow of Ebram Sahib, the Collector observes that the yeomiah was enjoyed by Oommar Sahib and his son, Ebram Sahib, up to 9th January 1804. From the original purwanah it is stated that the allowance should be continued from the sayer collections. When the sayer revenues were resumed "the petitioners became unable to fulfil the intentions of the original purwanah. The consequence is the ruin of the mosque and the extreme indigence of the family." He states that "as the yeomiah ceased . . . 28 years back it remains for the consideration of the Board how far the admission of the claim is politic inasmuch as the granting the first may lead to the revival of numberless claims dormant for a series of years."

5-11-33	Periodical destruction of—Collector's opinion. To Government. The original practice was to diminish the number of elephants by offering reward for their destruction. This practice no doubt enriched only a few without appreciably lessening the number of elephants. The Collector recommends resort to the plan of having an annual drive just before the harvest. He considers that this method is the cheapest and the most effectual way of suppressing the elephants. As an alternative he suggests that a few sibbendis may be employed annually from September to February who in addition to keeping back the elephants will also prevent smuggling.	424-5

	Mukunda Rao's Chatrams
25-11-33	Claims—Collector's view of the case. To the Board. 1. Sixty years ago Mukunda Rao, a Bukshi under the Nabob, built two chatrams one at Dhanushkodi and one at Devipatnam. His elder brother Venkat Rao, a cash-keeper, built another chatram in Rameswaram. Certain lands and villages were obtained for defraying the charges. Mukunda Rao died leaving no heir except his widow Kaukoobai. Venkata Rao died leaving two sons, Nagoji Rao and Suckaji Rao. The family was not divided. 2. On the assumption of the Ramnad Zamindari, the late Mr. R. Peter assumed also the villages and lands of the chatrams owing to the misappropriation of the funds by the Pandarams. In f. 1228, Kaukoobai obtained the charge of the 3 chatrams and their villages. She appointed her brother's son, Annaji Rao, as manager. He held the situation for four years. A dispute arose in the family and it was settled amicably. The settlement was that Rameswaram chatram should be made over to the grandson of Venkat Rao and the other two should be enjoyed by the widow. The Collector, Mr. R. Peter, carried out the razinama.	440-4

	3. Kaukoobai died leaving in darma sasanam in favour of Annaji Rao about the two chatrams. This Annaji Rao seeks confirmation of his title. The Collector observes that "though Annaji Rao is not the lawful heir to Mukunda Rao, he seeks his right by virtue of the gift deed . . . . Mukunda Rao left two sons; the widow had no power beyond the right of superintendence." During the management of Annaji Rao a petition was presented to the Government charging him with embezzlement. In the enquiry that followed it was proved that Annaji Rao had expended on his own account, Rs. 3,002. But since the superintendent was not getting any stipulated emoluments, the expenses could not be held as embezzlement.
	4. Afterwards Venkat Rao's grandsons claimed the chatrams. The Collector, Mr. Viveash, made over the chatrams to them retaining five villages claimed by a third party. So the parties now claiming the villages are Annaji Rao, Venkat Rao's grandsons and a third person.

29-12-33	Ramaswami Tevan's widow—Collector's recommendation. To the Board. 1. The widow of Ramaswami Tevan solicits that the pension of Rs. 100 which was stopped at her husband's death may be continued to her. 2. The Collector reports that Ramaswami Tevan's name appears on the pension list. The late Collector recommended Rs. 50 to Ramaswami's mother "as the pension was originally granted to the said Ramaswami Tevan in consequence of his having married the daughter of the Setupati for keeping up the respectability of the family and the unfortunate condition of the widow gives her a stronger claim than before." Further Ramaswami Tevan left four children but left little property. The widow and the children subsist on a pension of Rs. 13 which "is in no way commensurate with their present wants or former style of their living. The education of the boys is quite neglected and in fact a remarkably fine and respectable family is suffering deep distress." 3. He therefore recommends that either the original pension may be granted to the widow or the boys may be allowed a provision of Rs. 15 each and the girl Rs. 5 per mensem making a total of Rs. 50 which is half of the pension granted to Ramaswami.	484-6

3-1-1834	Petition No. 1801 of 1833. To the Board. "The award to which the petition refers was for the value of 23 kalams taken by the petitioner's clients. This was arbitrated by the district panchayat and the complainant non-suited: no expense was incurred." Consequently beyond approving the sentence there was nothing left for the Collector to execute. 7-1-34	Right of management. To the Board. Dispute and its cause. The managers of the Ramnad Zamindari urge that the right of nominating pandarams to the Rameswaram Pagoda is vested in them, that the present pandaram was not regularly appointed and that he is unfit for the office. They produced several documents to prove their right.

2. The pandaram states that his rights have been established for the past 400 years, that the appointment is not vested in the zamindars, that on the dissolution of a pandaram it has always been usual for him to appoint his successor and that "it is inconsistent that the zamindars who use animal food should be allowed any interference in bestowing the 'kashayam' for the nomination of pandarams of the pure Siva sect." The pandaram also produced several documents to prove his claims.

3. The scope of the Collector's enquiry was limited to four points—

(a) Whether the present pandaram was appointed in a legal manner?

(c) Whether the right of nomination is vested in the zamindars.

(d) How for the zamindars have a right to the management of the affairs of the devasthanams?

4. It is proved from the records that the present pandaram has been discharging his duties in co-operation with the circar servants for the past 18 years. There is no proof with respect to the impeachment of the pandaram's character. With regard to the right of nomination the present manager of the zamindari possesses no other document except a kararnamah stated to have been executed by the late pandaram when he was 5 years of age to the former Zamindar, Muthu Ramalingam Setupathi. It is easy to conceive that it was not a difficult task for Muthu Ramalingam, who was a proverbial tyrant, to secure such kararnamahs from the timid and poor pandarams. Besides the one mentioned there is no other and it has to be admitted, if at all, with extreme doubt.

5. As regards the fourth point there are certain clauses in the documents "that the pandaram would conduct himself to the satisfaction of the cultivators of the devasthanam villages; that he would without partiality settle all disputes which may occur amongst them; that all the friends of the zamindar would be considered friends of the pandaram and all the enemies of the zamindar as the enemies of pandaram also." By this and other depositions of the witnesses it clearly appears that the Ramnad Zamindar had the power of superintendence.

6. Having thus weighed the claims of both the parties the Collector recommends that the following provisions be enacted as future rules for the management of the Rameswaram Pagoda.

(a) "The receipts and expenditure of the pagoda should be under the immediate superintendence of the pandaram who should appoint and dismiss the servants subject to an appeal to the zamindar and the Collector."

(b) "All collections should be lodged in the treasury of the pagoda."

(c) An overseer should be appointed on behalf of the zamindar who should have access to all accounts forwarded to the zamindar and should be allowed to examine the state of the treasury every month and report on it to the zamindar.

	(d) The zamindar should forward the annual accounts of the devasthanoms to the huzur.
	(e) All irregularities noticed in the devasthanams should, in the first instance, be reported to the zamindar, who, if necessary, will represent them to the Collector.
	7. The Collector apprehends friction between the pandaram and the zamindar as acrimonious feelings excited between the two will not subside suddenly. He therefore recommends as a temporary measure that a respectable person may be appointed as a mediator and faithful reporter to the Government.
	Mukunda Rao's Chatrams

	Suit against Collector
7- 2-34	Appeal No. 7 of 1832.	63-77

To the Board.

1. The Collector forwards copy of the decree.
2. The suit is between Arunachalam Pillai, plaintiff, and Mr. Henry Viveash, the Collector, Venkatachalam Naicken, Tahsildar of Madakolam and 8 others.
3. The case is that " a house and ground valued at Rs. 8-12-0, a piece of nunjah land paying annually to the Circar Rs. 13-15-6; 27¾ and Rs. 28-12-0, the value of rent and produce of the said house and land " were sold by the Collector for arrears of betel rent of some person unknown to the plaintiff. The plaintiff stated that he never stood surety to any betel renter. In spite of it his lands and house were sold by the Collector stating that the plaintiff's elder son was the surety and therefore his property was sold. Per contra the plaintiff stated that ever since his elder son got married it was decided by a partition that the house and land in question should exclusively belong to the plaintiff and his younger son only excluding the elder. The Collector denied that any division had taken place between the plaintiff and his sons, and stated that the plaintiff himself was concerned in the rents on account of which he had made his son a security.
4. The Zillah Judge dismissed the plaintiff's claim with costs. Dissatisfied with the decree, the plaintiff filed an appeal against the decree of the Zillah Judge.
5. The Appellate Court is of opinion, on a consideration of all the proceedings, that although the son of the appellant became security, there is no proof that he did so on the consent of his father. It is clearly proved that the property sold was that of the appellant. " It is nowhere pretended that the appellant himself signed any deed of security on account of the rent." Unless he did so his property could not be liable for that rent " since no son has a right to place his father's property in jeopardy by giving it as security, unknown to his father." The Zillah Judge stated in his decree " that a belief had been created in his mind that the appellant was concerned in the rent." The Appellate Court remarks that it is only a supposition not founded on evidence. It is, therefore, of opinion that the sale was altogether unwarrantable and it therefore reverses the decree of the Zillah Judge. The sale should be nullified and the properties should be restored to the appellant and he should be entitled to all costs of the suits in both the courts.

One of the items is feeding the poor. The Board declined to sanction a sum of Rs. 676 expended on the rain ceremonies by the former Collector. The present Collector endeavours to bring home to the mind of the Board the conviction that it tended to the welfare of the district, and requests the sanction.	122-3

29- 3-34	Remissions—Application of Shanmugham Pillai. To the Board. 1. Shanmugham Pillai purchased the sayer rents of Ramnad for f. 1242. There was a balance of Rs. 3,527 against him at the end of the fasli. He was, however, allowed to liquidate it in instalments of Rs. 300 each. This indulgence was granted to him because of his respectability and character. He subsequently prays that the whole balance may be remitted because of the great falling off in the customs as a result of the unfavourable season. 2. The Collector reports that the season was no doubt unfavourable and its effect on customs was bad. If any indulgence is shown towards the present application, there may be similar other appplications forthcoming. So he enquires whether it is worth while to examine the accounts of Shanmugham Pillai.	152-3

The dispute over the boundary line between the Ramnad and the Ettiyapuram Zamindaris frequently witnesses bloodshed. A complaint was received that one of the cousins of the Ettiyapuram Zamindar had forcibly carried away property worth Rs. 20,000 from a dependency of Perunali after inflicting serious wounds on the persons. The Collector of Tinnevelly is extremely silent on such disturbances. So the Collector of Madura suggests that till the time the dispute is settled amicably, the whole land will be attached by him. The balance after deducting the cultivator's share should be sold and with the proceeds a powerful sibbendi will be employed to enforce the attachment.	164-5

The Collector requests that if the report be true, the produce thus carried away may be held in deposit pending settlement of the dispute. He also requests that the Tahsildar of Pattukkottai may be directed to be present on the disputed boundary line on the 5th May 1834.	170-1

	Rameswaram Pagoda
13- 4-34	Management. To the Board. The former Collector directed that the temple affairs, etc., of the Rameswaram pagoda should be managed by the pandaram of the temple and that he should refer matters connected with the devasthanam to the Collector. The pandaram is implicated in the murder of a 'Bairaghi' whom he stabbed to death and is awaiting the trial. In his absence he nominated his own manager for the conduct of the management. The temple revenues amount to Rs. 40,000 a year. The present Collector has no confidence in the pandaram's nominee. So he reports to the Board the circumstances and that he had appointed an ameen for the conduct of the duties.	177-8

	Boundary Dispute
15- 4-34	Madura and Tinnevelly districts.	179-82

To the Board.

1. A mass of correspondence on the boundary dispute between the Madura and Tinnevelly districts has already been submitted to the Board. Mr. J. C. Wroughton, the Collector of Tinnevelly, offered two plans for adjusting the dispute. One of them was an obstacle to any decision being arrived at. Because it required a muchilika from those who declined the interposition of European authorities. Mr. J. Blackburne, the present Collector of Madura, is of opinion that no party will formally deny that interposition " but it would be rendered nugatory by cavellings and difficulties of two Collectors acting in concert on the spot—the time chosen by one being probably extremely inconvenient to the other—Witness the many attempts made hitherto by the one Collector declined by the other . . . . the quarel is more a point of honor than for the value of the ground."
2. Mr. J. C. Wroughton seems to have resented Mr. J. Blackburne's remarks and Mr. Blackburne states, " I regret Mr. Wroughton should have been impressed that I deemed he was unwilling and tardy in settling the dispute."
3. Mr. J. Blackburne is of opinion that the dispute may be referred to one Collector alone with full authority.

21- 4-34	———Mirasi karnam's post.	196-7

To the Board.

1. Ariyabathra Pillai was mirasi karnam of the Meenakshi pagoda. His mirasi was sequested and he was dismissed for dereliction of duty. One Nallathambi Pillai was gumastah of the karnam and in the karnam's absence he performed the duties and received his allowance. During the time of Nallathambi Pillai certain accounts and some jewels were missing.
2. On a reconsideration the mirasi karnam was reinstated and the gumasta was removed from office. Again Nallatambi Pillai importuned. He was also reappointed as gumastah. Both of them got their allowances.

Nattamgars

23- 4-34 Rules of succession, punishment, etc.—Collector's suggestions. 198-202

1. In clearing up certain doubts as to the succession of nattamgars in the village of Seelayampatti, the Collector takes an opportunity to bring to the notice of the Board the diffuseness of the regulation as a consequence of which "the Tahsildars had been too much permitted to replace the hereditary holder by creatures of their own." He suggests certain principles on which the regulation may be successfully worked.
2. Section 7 of Regulation VI of 1831 provides for the suspension or removal from office by the Collector for incapacity, neglect of duty or other just cause. But it does not make any provision for filling up the office vacated by dismissal, incapacity or infancy, etc. So when a man is dismissed by a competent authority and the vacancy filled up by a competent person it should be held that the hereditary right of the original nattamgar has been transferred together with the office to the new comer and "therefore the fysal mirassi nattamgar should not be allowed to reclaim his birth-right." In the light of this suggestion, the Collector states that the interlopers appointed in vacancies so created, who have been enjoying the rights for a series of years and who have thus become useful and competent from long experience, should not be interrupted provided they have the necessary qualifications by the possession of land.
3. Where infants are heirs their names should be inserted as proprietors and one of the cultivators may be chosen by the Collector. He should be allowed to enjoy the whole or part of the privileges till the child attains majority.
4. When there is a new hamlet the nomination of a new nattamgar should be done by the villagers themselves subject to the veto of the Collector.
5. He then states with reference to certain doubts entertained by the Board that Myloorам Perumal Pillai did not succeed his father, Muthiah Pillai. But when Muthiah Pillai died, the duties were performed by the other two nattamgars. Muthiah Pillai was not the sole mirasidar, but he was so, for his own one-third share.

One of the complaints is about the collection of Pullee Thundu. The Collector has ordered the zamindar to thresh in the evening the crops harvested in the morning and warned him not to collect such unusual taxes contrary to the custom. 3. Petition Nos. 588 and 697 are of a general nature and No. 1173 contains suggestions for the improvement of the zamindari. The Collector is of opinion that the zamindar should be best acquainted with his own interests and it was not proper for the former Collector to have interfered. As regards complaints Nos. 1175, 1176 and 1177, the Collector deems it inadmissible to enter upon the investigation unless they are preferred separately by the individuals concerned.	216-9

Karnam of Sevalur

17- 5-34 To the Board. 237-9

Rama Pillai was the mirasi karnam of Sevalur. He died without issue, Ponnayyah Pillai, brother of his widow, was appointed karnam. He maintained the widow. He was soon dismissed for changing the classification of lands. Veera Pillai, the grand nephew of Rama Pillai, was then appointed in the vacancy. The widow applied for the mirasi rights for her brother's son who was then only 11 years old. The Head Assistant conferred the office on Ratnam Pillai who was aged only 11 years. The Collector later on found out that there were no proper grounds for the dismissal of Ponnayya Pillai and that he should be continuing in the office and that the widow had a right only to her late husband's property, but not to the mirasi karnamship. He therefore proposes that Ratnam Pillai's name (minor) should be continued until the orders of the Board are received.

2. The Collector observes that Narasimha Malayandi Appaiah Nayak, son by the 1st wife of Malayandi Appaiah, entered into an engagement with Kamalammal, his father's second wife, to pay her an allowance of Rs. 70 and to continue certain lands in her possession. The former Collector had attested the arrangement. When Narasimha Appaiah Nayak died, Thangammah, his second wife, picked a quarrel with Kamalammah and induced Mr. Peter to make a provision of Rs. 50 only for Kamalammah. When Mr. Viveash became Collector he discontinued the allowance under an impression that the dependants should be subservient to the head of the family. Kamalammah could not yield to the widow, Thangammah, and she remained without any allowance. The old lady so far was maintaining herself by selling her jewels, etc.

3. The zamindar receives an allowance of Rs. 4,000 to Rs. 5,000 which he squanders. As Kamalammah is in a state of penury and as the obejections of Mr. Viveash could not hold good legally, the Collector recommends the continuance of the original allowance to Kamalammah.

Periyar Project

31- 5-34 To Lt.-Col. Cadogan, acting British Resident, at the Court of H.H. the Raja of Travancore. 265–7

1. The dispute regarding the south-west boundary of Madura was decided in February 1822, by the British Government in favour of H.H. the Raja of Travancore by assigning the Cardamom Hills to the Travancore Raja. These hills are the sources of several streams feeding large rivers running through Travancore and the Company's lands.

2. It was at one time contemplated to divert the whole of the Periyar waters from Travancore to the Dindigul valley. Because it was considered that the advantages to Dindigul would be very great. It appears that from very ancient times a bank of large dimensions was thrown across the river. But in course of time this bank seems to have given way and the waters found their way through a breach into the Travancore territory.

3. Mr. Henry Viveash considered the scheme in detail and asked the Resident to procure the co-operation of the Raja. But in reply the Diwan raised certain objections :—

(a) The diversion of the course of the Periyar would seriously affect the volume of water and would deprive the Raja of all the advantages derived by him in floating his timber to the coast.

(b) "The friendly accommodation to the British Government will be repaid by ingratitude in leaving a pretext for interfering with the cardamom and other hill products."

(c) The inhabitants would be sufferers as depending entirely on this very water during the dry seasons.

4. The Collector rebuts the objections with the aid of the technical observations of the Civil Engineer which prove that the project would be advantageous both to the Travancore and the Company's circars. He asks the Resident to bring it to the notice of the Raja assuring the Raja "that no advantage to the Company would induce me to press what may really prove disadvantageous to His Highness."

5- 6-34 Disafforestation. 271

To the Board.

The jungles of Nagayyakottai in the assumed Zamindari of Ramagherry were cleared to keep the robbers out. "The people raised a population in the place and have dug a tank for nunjah cultivation." So far only punjah crops were raised, to an assessment of Rs. 545-12-5. Mr. H. Viveash appointed 2 kavalgars for the security of the village and to prevent robberies and had applied to the Board for the grant of inams to the kavalgars. The present Collector urges that the inam land yielding crops to the value of Ch. 10 a month may be granted to each of the kavalgars.

Tiruppuvanam Devasthanam

7- 6-34 Sarvamaniams. 272-6

To the Board.

1. With reference to certain complaints a point arose whether people who were in enjoyment of certain devasthanam lands for over 16 years could be evicted in favour of the real owner.
2. In the permanent settlement of Sivaganga 22½ villages were excluded in favour of the Tirubuvanam devasthanam as sarva maniams. One of the villages which was a waste was given by the zamindar for the Mahmud Nabi Mosque and another village to a Brahmin as darmasanam. The servants of the pagoda complained against these alienations after a lapse of 16 years and proved that those villages originally belonged to the pagoda. The points for consideration are that the grantees of the maniams had spent considerable sums to bring them under cultivation and they had been enjoying the lands for over 16 years. The Collector requests orders whether the zamindar should be required to restore the villages to the pagoda or whether the lands may be allowed to remain in possession of persons enjoying them.

Virupakshi 277

14-6-34 Misappropriation of pension—Report.

To Government.

1. The Collector observes instances in which the heads of the family in whose names the pensions are issued, withhold distribution among others of the household "as soon as variances arise between them." The poligars alluded to in Regulation IV of 1831, receive pensions not only for their maintenance, but also for that of their relations and dependants. By the regulation the Collectors are not empowered to decide on the claims of the aggrieved. This is an encouragement to the heads of families to withhold subdivision.

	2. Connected with the above the Collector notices that after the Poligar of Virupakshi was hanged and his son confined, the other members of the family were granted batta at the rate of one fanam each per day. This allowance was by stages raised to Pag. 30 a month for 20 members. The head of the family who received the pension of Pag. 30 refused to divide it to a member who was one of the 20. The Collector requests that the head of the family may be directed to divide the amount without excluding any one of the 20 members.

4- 7-34	Roman Catholic churches—Collector's enquiry. To Government. 1. The acting Bishop of Cochin reported to the Collector that an impostor from Pondicherry under the sway of a French titular Bishop of Halicarnass excited the Christians in Ramnad, Sivaganga and Madura to rise in rebellion against the authority of the Bishop of Cochin and wrest from the latter the church at Sargany village. Consequent on this excitement there were disturbances between the impostor and the Sargany missionary. The Bishop of Cochin recognizes that the Collector cannot interfere in religious matters. But it is with regard to the breach of peace that he has complained.	316-29

2. The Bishop of Cochin made similar complaints to H.E. the Governor of Madras and the Magistrate at Pondicherry. The Collector of Madura was asked to enquire into the disturbances. The particular grounds of complaint are that for about 200 years the Bishop of Cochin and his followers were in possession of the several churches in Ramnad and Sivaganga and that the interference of French missionaries under bogus titles is objectionable. Missionaries who were the followers of the Bishop of Cochin were sent to these ports from Goa some 200 years ago and they built the several churches. The French missionaries, therefore, have no title whatsoever to those churches.

3. The Collector submits his report. A complaint was received from F. Camillo Joseph Miranda. A local investigation was conducted into the case. All the Roman Catholic churches in Ramnad and Sivaganga have been included in the diocese of the Bishop of Cochin. The charge against the missionary of Pondicherry of violence and forcible entrance into the church at Saragany is not proved. He observes that the conduct of the French missionary ever since his arrival seems to be entirely free from anything approaching to violence. The Ramnad records throw no light on the original establishment of the several churches. But the zamindar reports that they were constructed by the Goa missionaries and were always under their superintendence.

19- 7-34 Mirasi of rice dresser. 341-2

To the Board.

The petitioner's maternal uncle, Meenakshi Ayyan, held a pattayam for a moiety of the mirasi of rice dresser in the Meenakshi pagoda. He died without male issue and left a will bequeathing his mirasi to the petitioner. This was opposed by the co-heirs of the paternal uncle of the deceased. In 1824, Mr. R. Peter decided in favour of the latter persons. The petitioner appealed to the Collector to put him again in possession according to the will. Again the co-heirs protested and the case was at this time decided by a panchayat in favour of the co-heirs.

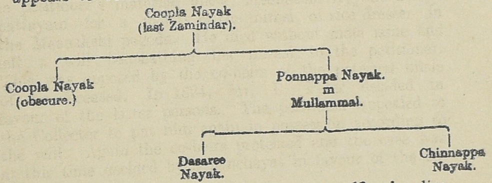
31- 7-34 Zamindar's family—Allowances—Imposture of Sooba Nayak. 351-62

To Government.

1. In the investigations conducted by the Tahsildar of Tody Comboo and the Collector, the following information came to light. The genealogy of the family appears to be as follows:—



2. There is an impostor by name Ponnappa Nayak alias Suba Nayak. He is reported to be the son of a dancing girl kept by the last Zamindar, Coopla Nayak. The impostor's original name is Sooba Nayak. He was employed by Coopla, the late zamindar, to superintend the family affairs. According to Mullammal's report, this Sooba Nayak was receiving the allowances due to her and her son who is apparently her step-son, Dasaree Nayak, who died of cholera about that time. After the death of her son, Soobah Nayak, who called himself Ponnappa Nayak, urged Mullammal to recognize him as the younger brother of her husband and his son as the zamindar failing which he threatened that he would bring a warrant against her and the estate for Rs. 10,000. She implored the help of the Collector in protecting her from the clutches of this impostor. Mullammah has a son named Chinnappa Nayak who was only 9 years old then.

3. Another petition from Coopla Nayak, son of the late Zamindar, Coopla Nayak, was presented to the Board. The Tahsildar of Tadi Komboo observes on it that the petitioner never participated in the petition, that Ponnappa Nayak, the impostor, addressed the petition and affixed Coopla Nayak's signature, that he was the son of the late Cooplah Nayak and was living by cultivation in Pudukkottai. Ponnappa Nayak, the impostor, when questioned, stated that Mullammah was at variance with him and had persuaded Coopla Nayak to falsify his statement. Mullammah's vakil identifies the petitioner, Coopla Nayak, as the son of Coopla Nayak, the last Zamindar, and who was living at Pudukkottai on cultivation. The last Zamindar, Coopla Nayak, is reported to have been hanged. It is not clear whether the petitioner, Coopla Nayak, and Ponnappa, the husband of Mullammal, are the sons by different wives of Coopla Nayak.

4. After laying the above facts before the Government the Collector states that Suba Nayak alias Ponnappa Nayak is reported to be the illegitimate son of Coopla Nayak. Ponnappa Nayak, the husband of Mullammal, had acknowledged his namesake as the son of his mother's sister. But in the final list of the family members entitled to pensions Suba Nayak alias Ponnappa Nayak was one of the 20. Beyond these the Collector is not able to arrive at any conclusion.

The institution of nattamgars has always been engaging much of the Collector's time owing to frequent quarrels and petitions by the claimants to succession. The nattamgarship of Attukkulam in Melur was disputed. The Collector gathers from the records that from ff. 1212 to 1216 one Subban's name is found entered as nattamgar. Subban enjoyed the office till f. 1216 when he was succeeded by his son, Muthu Karuppan, who resigned in f. 1227. Now Vyuran was appointed nattamgar. On his death his only son, Peria Karuppan, was a minor. So one Veeran was appointed. He was dismissed in f. 1242 and Peria Karuppan who became major was appointed. Veeran appealed. The then Collector gave an endorsement, "Veeran having done the duties for 14 years from f. 1227 and having since been dismissed without cause and again reinstated in his right, should not be again disturbed except under the orders of the Board of Revenue."	391-3

2. In another case, petition No. 139 of 1834, the Collector reports that the petitioner, Woora Tevan, is not the son of Kundayya Tevan, who was nattamgar from ff. 1212 to 1215. In f. 1216, 16 nattamgars who performed duties along with Kundayya Tevan were discontinued and only two persons were retained, viz., Varadayyangar for Mahajanams and Muttu Karuppan for the Sudras. They did their duties for 6 years until Muthu Karuppan died. Chinna Chokkalinga Tevan, the nephew of Kundayya Tevan, succeeded and the petitioner was recognized as the uncle of the deceased. The nattamgars at present employed are Gopal Ayyangar, Seshayyangar and Chinna Chokkalinga Tevan. On account of certain implications Seshayyangar and Chinna Chockalingam were dismissed. They were again restored.

3. The Collector requests a general rule for his guidance and he reports that he will not interfere in the nominations and succession disputes until he receives the Board's rules.

25- 9-34	Kattalai villages—Kundalkuttu and Surankudi village—Jurisdiction over. To the Collector of Tinnevelly. These two villages are not granted as inams. They pay a certain fixed quit-rent and are therefore 'Poruppu' villages. They belong to the Madura district as they are entered in the 'Dohajada' account of ff. 1210-1 and furnished by the Nabob's canungoe. The quit-rents collected from the villages are carried to the accounts of Madura and not to those of Tinnevelly. The motarpha tax and quit-rents are the legal dues of Government and it is therefore irregular if they are collected by two districts. "By the accounts of the canungoe it might be presumed that they originally belonged to the Tinnevelly district. But during the Carnatic and Nabob's Government they might have been transferred to Madura. . . On the above grounds the superintendence of the revenue and police are vested in the hands of Madura officers. . . I should think that the collection of motarpha by your Tahsildar is unwarrantable."	414-8

On a previous petition from Muthu Virayee Natchiyar and Muthu Shella Tevan, the manager of Ramnad, declining to maintain the 9 widows of Muthu Ramalingam Tevan, the Collector advised them to reconsider their decision and did not forward their refusal petition to the Board. 2. In reply the petitioners state that the permanent settlement of the zamindari was concluded in favour of Ranee Mangaleswari Natchiyar excluding the customs duties and salt revenues from which the members of the expelled zamindar's family were maintained. The understanding from such an arrangement was that the Company would appropriate the customs and salt revenues and maintain the members of the expelled zamindar's family. Accordingly the Company was defraying the charges on these women. It was nowhere provided in the kabuliat that Ranee Mangaleswari Natchiyar should maintain the 9 ladies. In this connection, it is brought to the notice of Government that the levying of motarpha tax by the state included in the permanent settlement was by the orders of the Board discontinued and by this there was considerable decrease in the revenue. Added to the loss there were frequent droughts. Considering the above circumstances, the manager of the zamindari states that the maintenance of ladies will be a burden which the state cannot conveniently bear	421-4

10-11-34 Fining of Nattamgars—Collector's powers under Regulation IX of 1822. 481-2

The Board observed that it was illegal to fine a Nattamgar under the regulation. The Collector explains that the Board was apparently under the belief that the Nattamgar in question was neither concerned in nor is answerable to, the correctness of the accounts. But the custom in Madura is that all the accounts of cultivation are signed by Nattamgars and that it is from these accounts the statement of actual cultivation is drawn up. On such accounts "the conviction of embezzlement and false entry was grounded."

Dasabandam Inams

17-11-34 Introduction in Madura—Collector's opinion. 484-6

To the Board.

1. Dasabandam inams are unknown to Madura district.
2. The Collector is of opinion that it will be of great advantage if the system is extended to the maintenance and renewal of large tanks "the banks of which having been breached and the beds filled up have been useless for a period of 50 years." The Collector construes the rule in this respect as giving one-fourth of the land thus brought under cultivation and this seems preferable to Kunda Dasawandam where a specific portion of land is granted in proportion to the cultivation. Similarly, the rule may be extended to the renewal of old anicuts and neglected nullahs.
3. As regards well cultivation the Collector observes that it is not followed in his district as the wells are not durable not being built of stone. He is entirely in agreement with the condition that if the incumbents of the inams fail to keep their original works under proper repair the inams will be considered saleable properties and the purchaser will be responsible for the due performance of the original engagement.

The petitioners who are the grandsons of the munshi state that the village was a grant on a cowle from the Nabob Wallajah and not an inam. 2. It was subsequently found out that the village was granted on cowle at Ch. 35 per annum for the subsistence of Habib-ul-lah. In the inam register of Mr. Hurdis it is specified to have been given for life to Habib-ul-lah. So it is for the Board to consider the tenor of the cowle and that of Mr. Hurdis's Register of Inams.	503-5

6-12-34	Collector's remarks. To the Board. The petitioner refuses to pay the tax on his cocoanut garden under the following circumstances :— Mr. Wroughton, the former Collector, pulled down the walls enclosing the petitioner's garden. The petitioner instituted proceedings against Mr. Wroughton for damages committed by the monkeys owing to the absence of the wall enclosure. The suit was decided ex parte in favour of the petitioner. It is, however, pending in appeal. The Collector remarks that the destruction of walls has nothing to do with the damages, as the trees are lofty ones and the wall enclosure is no bar to the monkeys and that the petitioner's request to postpone payment of tax pending the appeal is not tenable. Because walls would afford check against cattle only and in the case of cocoanut trees cattle trespass will have no adverse effect on the produce. He therefore asks for permission to employ coercive means for the collection of the revenue.	505-7

	Treasury Deficiency
10-12-34	Explanation of the Collector. To the Board. 1. Items of sums that were not actually received into the treasury were credited in the "Madras accounts." 2. Small balances which were irrecoverable were unduly made up from the funds of the deposit accounts. 3. Without authority, increased pay of servants and extra establishments were met from the deposit funds. 4. Several items of ayan deposits, servants' salary, maramath cash, sadrwared, charges, etc., were in toto carried to the deposit funds by the tahsildars at the time of examination of the deposit fund account. 5. Certain long standing accounts in respect of the late Mr. Peter's and Biccauji Rao's assets were adjusted with great trouble from the unaccounted balances.	509-16
	Devasthanam Servants	519-21
16-12-34	Right to inams. To the Board. In reply to a communication from the Board, the Collector states that "the charges of the pagodas of Thooroomboor and Aunamalay were fixed to be defrayed from the quit-rent or poruppoo assessed on the villages granted for their sibbendy and appears to have been sanctioned since the cession of the country by the Company." The deposition of the 'Stanigal' of the pagoda throws further light on the right of pagoda servants to inams.

	Lands
14–1–35	Claim by the Naib of H.H. the Nabob. To the Inspector-General of Civil Estimates. The Naib to the Nabob claimed certain lands appertaining to Settisatram village, as belonging to Sittanattam village, to have been granted by the Nabob, to Begum Shaw's mosque. The Collector found from the records that the lands appear to have been in the undisturbed possession of the villagers of Paraippatti for a very long time. So he asked the Naib to produce any documents he might have in support of his claim, which he did not do. The Collector therefore intimates to the Naib that his petition has been dismissed for want of proof and also informs the Inspector-General of Civil Estimates in reply to a reference from him.	6–7

19–1–35	Collector's remarks. To the Inspector-General of Civil Estimates. The Collector has been asked to select sites for boring for water, in conjunction with the Civil Engineer. The Civil Engineer has not come to the district and the Collector is ignorant of the purpose for which the boring is intended. If it be for irrigation, he suggests the neighbourhood of the Vaigai. If it is to ascertain the different strata to be met with, it may be tried in various places. If it is only to procure water for the consumption of men and cattle he fears that the expense will be poorly compensated.	13–4

31- 1-35	Maintenance of roads—Collector's report. To the Board. 1. "In the western provinces of Bengal" the rule regarding the employment of convicts on the maintenance and repair of public works is successfully followed. 2. The Collector reports that in his district the jail never contains more than half a dozen prisoners at a time free from sickness or other disability. If these prisoners are to be employed on road work to a distance of about 5 miles on each direction and on the revenue maramat their safety from escape will have to be ensured at greater expense. Their services could be more advantageously utilized in the vicinity of the jail.	29-30

2- 2-35	Tirumanickam village. To the Board. 1. There were 3 Nattamgars in f. 1212. The grandson of one of them, viz., Allegherry Naicken is incompetent for the office. Should the Board consider his appointment just, the number of Nattamgars will be the same as in f. 1212 two for Brahmins and the proposed candidate for the Sudra ryots. 2. Chinna Muthu Naicken's claim should be rejected as he is incompetent and 4 Nattamgars will be too many for the village.	31

	Biccauji Rao
7- 2-35	Sale of a garden.
	To the Board.	35
	1. Biccauji Rao's garden was knocked down to the highest bidder. The purchaser wants the garden to be subjected only to a land tax of Rs. 3-8-0 per annum per kuli and to be exempt from tree tax, before confirming the sale on him.
	2. The Collector reports that when the garden was in possession of Biccauji Rao, the land paid no tax as the trees were unproductive. He however suggests as a compromise that the whole garden may be subjected to a nanja garden tax of Fan. 20 a kuli which he hopes that the purchaser will accept.

	To the Board.
	Subba Pillai, son of Ramaswami Pillai a dismissed karnam and brother of Mutu Karuppa Pillai, another dismissed karnam, applies for the karnamship. The regulation provides for hereditary succession. But it was not observed in the appointment of Kalyanasundaram Pillai by the Sub-Collector. The instructions from the Government prohibit the reversal of one Collector's orders by his successor. So the Collector submits the case for the orders of the Board.
	Minakshi Pagoda
...	Mirassi karnamship—Application of Nallatambi Pillai.	42-6
	To the Board.
	1. Nallatambi Pillai is not the mirassi karnam of the Meenakshi pagoda.
	2. In devasthanams there are two classes of karnams. The mirassi karnam enjoys lands for his services in keeping accounts of the valuables of the pagoda and the other karnam enjoys a fixed salary for his duties of maintaining daily accounts of receipts and disbursements. Their duties are distinct and have no relation with each other.
	3. In the inam register of f. 1213, one Ariyabathra Pillai and Devasikamoni Pillai are entered as mirassi karnams and Virabadra Pillai was only a gumastah or a karnam [illegible] salary. Nallatamby Pillai, the petitioner, has only a [illegible] connection with the two mirassidars. The Tahsildar of Madakkolam's recommendation of the petitioner to the mirassi karnamship was rejected by the then Collector. Nallatambi Pillai no doubt assists in the management of the duties of the pagoda. But his duties are not by themselves sufficient to recommend him to the situation [illegible]ven though it is vacant.

20- 3-35 Embezzlement—Appeal by defendants—Collector's orders. 61-4
To the Board.

1. The Collector, on a consideration of the papers submitted by the acting Sub-Collector in the appeal preferred by Sivarama Ayyar, late monegar of the Minakshi pagoda and Subbayyan, late karnam of Tirumalai Nayak's kattalay, observes that the accounts of each item have not been examined. No enquiry seems to have been made to ascertain the persons who embezzled the 2,528 marakals of rice admitted to have been received by the pandaram. The proceedings of the Sub-Collector are thus incomplete.

2. If the enquiry had been conducted according to the rules and the frauds charged had been established by documents or witnesses, the amounts awarded ought to have been recovered in the usual manner. From the case having been appealed in due time it may be inferred that the defendants did not execute any engagement for the amounts."

3. The Collector orders that as the Sub-Collector's proceedings appear to have been passed on insufficient grounds they are annulled and the sums so far collected from the defendants should be refunded to them.

4. He draws the attention of the Sub-Collector to the regulation forbidding frequent suspension and dismissals of hereditary servants, in a separate memorandum.

5. The Board apparently construes the Collector's order on the appeal and the memorandum to the Sub-Collector as contrary to his former endorsement on the petition submitted to it and requires further explanation.

6. He explains that the endorsement was passed on a summary and cursory examination in which he was satisfied that he was committing no injustice. The petitioner was dissatisfied with the Collector's endorsement and addressed the Sub-Collector. The Collector had occasion to enter on a more minute examination of the Sub-Collector's proceedings. He found them to be deficient in the process of enquiry and had therefore to reverse them.

Stamps

23- 3-35 Fall in sales. 67-70

To the Superintendent of Stamps.

1. The Regulations subsequent to f. 1225 dispensed to a certain extent with the necessity of all documents presented to the Board being on stamped paper.
2. Regulation VII of 1829 cancelled the necessity of stamped papers for sayer rent puttahs and muchilikas.
3. A considerable number of cases formerly cognizable by civil courts have been, by Regulations IV and VI of 1831, made cognizable by summary tribunals, where stamped papers are not necessary.
4. Adverse seasons were also to some extent responsible for the decrease in the sale of stamps. Because owing to the smaller production of crops, the decrease in the rowanahs for land customs was inevitable.
5. The sales of sea customs rowanahs were very small.
6. The use of stamp paper for abkari licences has been abolished by Regulation II of 1825, etc.
7. The Collector suggests that to increase the sale of stamp papers, it would be necessary to impose the stamp duties on causes transferred from Judges to the Collectors and panchayats.

Doraiswami Appaiah Nayak.

To the Board.

The 10% allowance enjoyed by the late zamindar was received by Doraiswami Appaiah Nayak in the absence of the nearest lineal he s. This was not a sufficient proof of the actual absence of any other heirs. The Collector therefore obtained a genealogical tree of the family and remarks that if the zamindar had left any landed property besides the 10% allowance it would have been enjoyed by the same Doriswami Appaiah Nayak and remarks that the same rule as was in vogue should be applied to all transactions.

2. The deponent who is the grandson of the late zamindar admits that Doraiswami Appaiah Nayak, the zamindar's son by his third wife, is the heir to the pattam and vouches to the correctness of the genealogical tree of the family.

15- 4-35	Articles not intended to be disposed of in Company's territories. To the Board. 1. Messrs. Claremond and Jones arrived at Pamban on the brig 'Darea Dowlat'. The vessel could not cross Pamban as there was not enough water. They hired certain donies and transhipped their goods. It was then discovered that they had 126 pieces of cloth not covered by any rowanah. They explained that the surplus goods were purchased at Pondicherry and were exported without a rowanah. Thinking it improper to detain them they were released on a security bond. 2. The Collector enquires whether the excess goods not covered by any rowanah are liable to duty at 16 per cent. according to clause 4 of Section v of Regulation IV of 1819, whether they are subject to confiscation or whether they are subject to the provisions of clause 2 of Section xiii of Regulation II of 1812. 3. He further explains that it was not the intention of Mr. Claremond either to land the goods or to dispose of any part of them in Company's territories and it was only by necessity that he had to tranship his goods. In these circumstances the Collector recommends "that in consequence of the informality of the security bond, and the length of time that has elapsed in consequence of his ignorance as to the immediate penalties . . . they may not be enforced in the present case. . . ." He requests instructions for his future guidance under similar circumstances.	103-8

18- 4-35 Mauniam boats of the Rameswaram Pagodas. 109-12

To the Board.

1. The usual practice obtaining with regard to pagoda mauniam boats is, to auction the privilege of fishing in four boats. The highest bidder will be given the necessary permits and other emblems of the pagodas to be exhibited on the boats while fishing, etc., and the boats will be allowed to fish during the whole fishing season.

2. One Versa Ibrayi Marakayar was the successful bidder in the last auction for Rs. 3,550. Equipped with all the necessary permits, pattayams, etc., he presented himself before the Colonial Secretary of Ceylon and the Collector of Jaffna and began his fishing operations. After a lapse of 10 days his boats were abruptly discontinued without any cause, in spite of his protests and entreaties and contrary to the mamool. The fishing by other boats went on for about 12 days after. Thus he suffered great loss. He requests a remission from the Collector of Madura and the Board of the amount of his rent which he had already paid.

3. The Collector is already in possession of the views of the Ceylon Government. Their opinion is that they could legally establish their right to disallow maniam boats. The Collector wants to maintain the claims of the pagoda maniam boats in the pearl fishing on the Coast of Ceylon which has been a mamool from time immemorial.

Rameswaram Pagoda

1- 6-35 Pandaram—Accused of murder.
To the Board.

As a Magistrate the case was personally investigated by the Collector. During a mammoth procession of the deity, a number of Bairagis interrupted the procession in a tumultuous manner, some one suddenly snatched an iron trident torch and while opposing the Bairagis the trident unfortunately entered the body and caused the death of a Bairagi. The Pandaram was accused of it. The Collector certifies that "the Pandaram has the character of a mild and harmless man with little capacity for revenue affairs."

Pearl Fishery

1- 6-35 Rameswaram pagoda nintha (mauniam) boats. — 185-6
To the Board.

The period of fishing pearls at Aripo and Manar lasted for 23 days. The renter of the Rameswaram pagoda mauniam boats was allowed to fish only for 10 days by the Ceylon Government, contrary to the mamool. The renter who took the mauniam boats from the Company petitioned to the Collector to refund to him the proportionate rent already collected by him. The Collector worked out that the average daily amount of Rs. 3,550 out of a total period of 23 days is Rs. 154-5-7 and arrived at Rs. 1,543-7-10 for 10 days and refunded the balance amount to the renter subject to the approval of the Board.

	Roads
6- 6-35	Maintenance and repairs—Separate grant requested. To Government. 1. The roads have become unfit for traffic owing to long neglect. If the people of the adjacent villages had looked to their upkeep, the damage would not have been so great. 2. Collectors of certain districts are empowered to grant money fot such maintenance works. The Collector of Madura requires that he too should be similarly authorised to expend Rs. 700 a year for two years and that the grant being thereafter reduced to Rs. 500 a year.	195-6

14- 6-35	Zamindar's pension. To the Sub-Collector of Madura. 19- 6-35	Sethuramalingapuram. To the Collector of Tinnevelly. The ryots of Sethuramalingapuram refused to pay rents on certain lands in consequence of their being included in the settlement of Srivaikuntam for f. 1244. It is requested that necessary orders may be issued to the ryots.	198
	Livery Belts
19- 6-35	To the Board. The Collector on a former occasion recommended a design of the belts for jamadars and duffadars. This was quite different from what his predecessor had recommended. The Board did not approve either as both the proposals have exceeded the usual rates payable for such belts. The Collector suggests that if the Board considers it to be too high a rate the peons and duffadars—who are willing to do so—should meet a part of the cost.	199
	Copper Coins
24- 6-35	Indent. To the Board. "Copper coins are much in request." There are very few in circulation. The Collector reports that he has therefore requested the Accountant-General to furnish him with a quantity of "one pice copper coins."	200

6- 7-35	Private servants.	214-5
	To Government.
	With reference to a circular the Collector states that the rules prohibiting the use of badges by private individuals, continue in practical operation in his district with the exception of three rich individuals of the family of the Marakayar of Kilakkarai "who use badges of a rich description for about 30 of their servants. These Marakayars are men of wealth and respectability and the enforcement of the rule against them would cause much disaffection, but there seems no sound reason why it should not be enforced, if such is the pleasure of Government;" because the Collector thinks that "among the ignorant the appearance of a badged servant might countenance much exaction." The renters of customs and the zamindars of Ramnad and Sivaganga use badges with permission.
	Military Pensioners
6- 7-35	Employment on civil duties—Collector's opinion.	215-6
	To the Board.
	With reference to a circular calling for opinion, the Collector states that in his district, if the existing 107 servants of the various departments are replaced by efficient military pensioners, great advantage would be gained. But he very much doubts "whether the habits of a sepoy would permit of 77 men being considered sufficient for 24 hours watch at 17 different guards. That is a question that will be best solved by Government, as also if the introduction of the measure would not rather be an increase than decrease of expense."

Customs Duty

13- 7-35 Jail manufactures—Paper, etc. 219-20

To the Board.

1. Certain paper manufactured by the jail was furnished to the Collector by the Judge. The Judge refused to pay custom duties on the paper. The article is not excepted from the renter's cowle. The Judge stated that he had referred the matter for opinion to the higher authorities.
2. The Collector states that "if the Government are of opinion that being manufactured by their convicts, it ought not to be subjected to duty, whether by lowering the price to enable them to undersell the honest dealer and as being indifferent whether the value comes into their treasury as proceeds of sale or under the double mode of proceeds of sale and customs, still in the present instance, it cannot be withheld from the renter without a breach of faith."
3. He, however, suggests that if Government are of opinion that jail manufactures sold to Collectors etc., should be free of duty, it may be so specified in the renters' cowles.

Boundary Disputes

13- 7-35 Properties involved—Decision by courts. 220-1

1. On a reference from the Committee, the Collector submits certain statements of articles to be subjected to duty: of towns where those articles are to be subjected to town duties and of their population.
2. He considers that sugar and jaggery, turmeric or saffron, betel nuts, oil or oilseeds, ghee, chayroot and salt fish should be subjected to town duties at 8%. Because they have hitherto yielded the highest revenue being luxuries for the rich.
3. Tamarind, chillies, garlic, onions and other condiments are of universal use and they should not be taxed. Salt, though absolutely necessary to life, has all along been considered a fair article for taxation. The Collector invites attention to his statements and explains the dutiable capacity or otherwise of each article.

29- 7-35	Arrears of revenue and pension amount. To the Board.

1. Mr. Peter, the late Collector, allowed Pag. 10 a month to the grandmother of the late Zamindar of Kannivadi from the 10% commission due to him. The late zamindar never acknowledged the liability as he was not in good terms with the lady. Consequently he claimed that the sum so appropriated by the Collector should be given credit towards the assessment on his own private farms.

	2. At present the sum due to Government till f. 1237 is Rs. 2,337-4-10. This sum was demanded from the present zamindar. He did not object to the liability but pleaded poverty owing to his late succession, private debts and his recent marriage. He begs that he may be permitted to liquidate the amount by instalments in 3 faslis.
	3. The Collector remarks that the late zamindar tenaciously opposed the Government demand. "But his death renders leniency towards his successor desirable."

26- 8-35	Karnam and Ambalagarans—Charges of embezzlement etc. To the Board. The sayer ameen of Sivaganga was ordered to recover the amount embezzled from the offenders. But the exact amount was not specified. The complainant again pressed for the execution of the orders. He was, however, directed to refer the matter to the devasthanam pandaram to whom the management was by them transferred. The complainant neglected the order. In 1834 he again requested the Collector to enforce the order. The Collector on referring to the records found out that the case was not personally investigated by any European officer or any native officers of the first class. So the Collector was not at liberty to order the execution of the previous orders. He further remarks that after such a lapse of time it is scarcely possible to ascertain the truth and that the decision be set aside directing the pandaram to watch the future conduct of the offenders.	286-7

To the Head Assistant Collector of Madura.

1. The Collector states that ever since Mr. Anstruther's abandonment of his charge of the Salt department the details of administration were in his hands. He finds an increase of Rs. 30,636 in collections over those of the previous fasli. The improvement is due to two causes, viz., replacement of unworthy by worthy servants and an unwearied vigilance in superintendence.
2. Now in committing the details of the administration to the Head Assistant Collector, the Collector instructs him that he should not in any way alter the existing system without previous permission from the Collector. On all extraordinary occasions when immediate decision is required he will act to the best of his judgment. He may be at liberty to punish the peons by small fines. As regards the establishment the Collector remarks that since he will be shortly relieved of the police duties in the Sivaganga Zamindari, the present establishment will be quite sufficient. Further the Collector draws his attention to the various provisions of the salt rules and Tamil orders since issued.

Mr. Clermond explains that 10 pieces of 'double salampore cloth' were accounted as 20 pieces and two pieces of handkerchiefs as 16 single pieces by the chowkidar at Paumban and which with the 3 handkerchiefs taken for the lascars on board the ship accounts for the deficiency of 28 pieces.

12- 9-35	Plantation of avenue trees etc. To the Inspector-General of Civil Estimates. The Collector is diligently engaged in the restoration of all great roads. He recommends that if the people are permitted to enjoy untaxed the produce of a full grown tree, that will be an encouragement for them to plant and nourish the trees without compulsion. He is taking measures to raise nursery farms of avenue trees but the difficulty lies in locating them on certain roads. He had already spent Rs. 1,000 for employing cultivators. Muttoovaur Koalalee Nachchiyar prays that her late husband's pension may be continued on her and her children. 2. The Collector gives a clear account of the matrimonial connexions of the progenitors of the applicant and her husband Ramasami Tevar, who was getting a pension of Rs. 100 and concludes that at the time of Ramasamy Tevar the family consisted of the petitioner and her 4 children solely depending on the mother. Another line by Vellay Autal, a concubine of the deceased Ramasami Tevar consists of one son and two daughters. There is also a third line of dependants in Muthuveerayee Nachchiyar who pretends that Ramasami Tevar tied the talee round her neck. 3. The Collector gives a schedule of the landed property of the deceased and states that Muttoovaur Koalalee Nachchiyar accused her mother-in-law of having surreptitiously carried away all the movable properties. 4. As regards the claims of the different people, the Collector consulted the manager of Ramnad who seems to have stated that the daughters by marriage are entitled to inherit their father's properties and the daughters of concubines are debarred.

The maistry should be careful in cutting the branches hanging over the roads so as to allow the high topped "hackeries to pass without difficulty. The leaves and branches cut, will be the property of the villagers through whose bounds the road runs. So also with regard to windfalls from banian trees. Wherever possible the maistry should plant trees. Those trees may be mango, tamarind, banian and the eachy maram." 2. When it is necessary to lead channels across the roads for purposes of irrigation, they have to be so sloped that a bandy may pass without being shaken by a jerk. It is the running of water that destroys the roads; it is, therefore, necessary to take particular pains to prevent it. Channels should be judiciously dug so as to prevent this mischief. Where roads are raised it is necessary to have their sides or slopes on either sides well turfed.	369-70

The Collector examined the witnesses. Khadir Khan and the other four partners, while acknowledging Esoph Khan as a sharer state that they allowed the share to the widow and daughter of Esoph Khan and that Abdullah Khan the petitioner, was debarred as he was not the lawful son of Esoph Khan. It appears from the former proceedings into the case that Esoph Khan had no male issue and therefore adopted the complainant according to the custom of his caste and as the complainant performed the funeral obsequies of Esoph Khan and his widow, he is considered to be heir to the property of Esoph Khan.

3. On the death of Esoph Khan a dispute arose between his wife and the other five partners. Mr. Peter the then Collector, referred the matter to a Mussalman panchayat who decided that Abdullah Khan would be qualified for the duties of the mosque and for getting his father's share of the yeomiah when he attained the age of discretion. The parties, in spite of this decision, complained to the Sub-Collector who, after enquiry, ordered Abdullah Khan to assume charge of his duties.

4. The Collector observes from the depositions of the witnesses that Abdullah Khan does perform the duties of the mosque and enjoys his share of the maniam. It therefore follows that he should be enabled to get his one-sixth share of the yeomiah allowance. He therefore requests Government to authorize him to disburse the one-sixth share to Abdullah Khan.

Suit against Collector

23-11-35 Defence statement—Biccauji Rao's assets. 402-10

Biccauji Rao

23-11-35 Assets—Realization by Government—Vembayyan's counter claim.

To the Board.

1. This is a case against the late Collector, Mr. Henry Viveash, who attached and sold certain immovable properties of Biccauji Rao while they were under a mortgage to one Vembayyan and another.

2. Mr. Blackburne the present Collector, in his defence states that the case is not tenable against the Collector for the following reasons:—

Biccauji Rao executed an engagement to Mr. R. Peter assigning the whole of his property as security for any public demand that might be proved against him. The land in question formed part of that assigned property. The plaintiff's mortgage is dated subsequent to the assignment. This circumstances induced Mr. Viveash, the former Collector, to refer the matter to the Board who approved of the Collector's opinion. The land was consequently attached and sold for Rs. 2,556 and the amount was carried to the public accounts. The plaintiff's contention is that in the attachment accounts forwarded by the Tahsildar, his mortgage amount was also mentioned as one of the items of liability on the property and therefore he has a right to the property. The Collector remarks that the inclusion of the mortgage amount in the attachment accounts is of no avail to him to assert his prior claims. The law is that if the plaintiff had any claim it is secondary to the claims of the Government. The plaintiff puts forth another argument, namely that since pattahs are annually granted in his name and since the lands were in his possession, he has a superior claim. The Collector remarks that pattahs are only periodical notices to define the tax and the periodical payments to Government. With reference to the plaintiff's statement that a misrepresentation was made to the Board to obtain its concurrence for the sale of the land, the Collector invites a reference to the records and prays the court that the plaintiff may be non-suited.

27-11-35	Managing Superintendent—Question of claims. To the Board. 1. Mukunda Rao, a Mahratta Brahmin, endowed a chatram with some villages, and left them to the superintendence of a pandaram. He died without any issue. His widow managed the affairs through the son of her brother and finally made them over to her brother's son by a deed of gift. The founder's brother had left a grandson and a great grandson. The question is whether during the existence of such male heirs, the deed of gift by the widow in favour of her brother's son is valid. 2. The Collector suggests that the matter may be referred to the Law Officer of the Provincial Court at Trichinopoly.	413-5

30-11-35	Myhay Mantapam—Renovation—Offer of Raman Chetti of Nattukottai. To the Board. Raman Chetti of Nattukottai advanced to Mr. R. Peter the late Collector, Rs. 1,000 for renovating the Myhay Mantapam. This amount, which was in deposit, disappeared with other sums embezzled. The Chetti is anxious about the mantapam and has again come forward with another Rs. 4,000 for the mantapam if the Government would make good the Rs. 1,000. The Collector observes that the mantapam is in a worse state of decay and recommends that Rs. 1,000 may be disbursed from the surplus funds of the Meenakshi charities.	416-7

30-11-35	Alienation of emoluments—Proposed regulation in Bombay. To the Board. 1. The Bombay Government proposed a regulation for the alienation by the sale of 'patelkees' or the emoluments of the office of 'patels' (village headmen) under certain restrictions. The correspondence on the subject between the Bombay, India and the Madras Governments, is communicated to the Collector of Madura for remarks. 2. The Collector construes the proposed regulation as intended to give the Governor in Council, power to sanction the alienation where he may deem proper and at the same time notes the different opinions of the various officers of that Government for and against the proposed regulation. He remarks that the various clauses of the regulation proposed by the Bombay Government are practically in existence in his district. The nattamgars of Madura exactly occupy the places of the 'patels' in Bombay.	417-21

	3. The nattamgar of Madura is a village officer invest d with revenue and police powers for which he is paid " b the alienation of the Governmen share of the produc of his land ", the possession of which is made a necessary qualification for the office. To encourage a nattamga in his good and honest work, the Government of Madras have allowed him a portion of his land rent free and have made this concession hereditary, subject however to certain reservations of power to deprive him of the right of heredity in cases of extraordinary remissness.
	4. This reservation of the power possessed by the Madras Government gives them all that is sought for by the Bombay Government in their proposed regulation. Because " if a Government have the power of resuming their land given for payment, they have necessarily the power of allowing him from whom it is taken to sell it to another. It is surely clear that no possible injury can be sustained in giving the Bombay Government the power they seem to require." The Collector remarks. " I am at a loss to conceive how the Bombay Government could have deprived themselves of any right in such a case that is retained by the Madras Government."

Pallimadam

8-12-35 Payment of rents—Rate of exchange. 437-

To the Board.

1. The ryots objected to the zamindar demanding from them payment at a higher rate of exchange than what he pays to the Company. This is a groundless request. Because the Government have determined the exchange of cully fanam at 20 a star pagoda or 3½ rupees. The peshcash at the permanent settlement was calculated in cully fanams. Ever since that time it has been the custom for the zamindar to receive from the ryots at Cul. Fan. 16½ per star pagoda. It was also optional for the ryots to pay either in star pagodas or their value in Cul. Fan. 16½ or at Rs. 3½.
2. But it has become difficult for the ryots to pay in cully fanam and star pagodas owing to their scarcity in circulation. The market value of a star pagoda has been fixed at Cul. Fan. 20. Payment of Cul. Fan. 20 instead of 16½ as was originally fixed is no doubt a hardship on the ryots. They unreasonably calculate that at Cul. Fan. 16½ a star pagoda, the rupee equivalent is Rs. 3-2-0 only, which they want the Government to accept for a star pagoda. This claim appears to the Collector to be groundless. If, however, the Board wishes to confer on the Pallimadam ryots this concession it will be at the expense of the zamindar and the zamindar in turn will have to be granted a remission of a part of his peshcash.

10-12-35 Maniyakaranpatti and Ramnad. 440-1

Certain waste lands are reported to have been surreptitiously cultivated by the inhabitants of Maniyakaranpatti in the Tinnevelly district. The villagers of Pandalkudi in Ramnad claim the land. The Collector of Madura suggests that the land in dispute may again lie waste pending a decision of the claims.

Sea Customs

26-12-35 Renting of—Collector's opinion. 448-9

To the Board.

1. In the land customs there is only one fixed rate of 5 per cent. whereas in the sea customs it varies from 2½ to 16 per cent. and the drawbacks that have to be allowed on export to foreign settlements will cause so much confusion that if persons unaccustomed to the rules and regulations undertake the sea customs many mistakes and frauds will be inevitable and will afford a fertile source of complaints to the higher authorities by the merchants.

2. The probable income of the land customs can be pretty correctly estimated as it depends entirely on the produce of the district according to the season. The collection of the sea customs duty fluctuates on the contrary, according to the commercial transactions of foreign countries and neighbouring districts and it will be impossible to judge the probable income from the receipts of the previous year.

3. The Collector draws the inference that the renting of sea customs will be objectionable, injurious to trade and not profitable to Government. Further the gain of a profitable year will go to the renter and not to Government and naturally the loss of an unfavourable year will fall on Government owing to the renter's default. Because it is most unlikely that substantial men will be forthcoming to bid for the rents. It will be only the poorer classes, who are unable to furnish security, that will be binding.

Postal Writers

26-12-35 Enmity among.
To the Postmaster General. 449-52

Owing to the enmity between two postal writers several packets were reported to be missing in a short period. There were also several false complaints from the runners made in order to get one or other of the writers removed. The Collector is of opinion that the dismissal of all the runners—one of whom is suspected to have destroyed a particular packet in question—and the transfer of the writers will prevent future abuses.

2. Muthuswami Chetti brought certain chayroots to the Attankarai Mettoo. The scales were not ready. He was therefore asked to wait. He went away leaving the roots in possession of his gumastah. He was called for to take possession of the roots. He did not comply. The roots are ready for delivery on payment of the duties on them. It is not clear whether Mr. Gordon has anything to do with the roots under restraint.

3. One Alanan Chetti bought 23½ tolams of chayroot from Mr. Gordon, brought it into Ramnad without paying the duty and sold about 21½ tolams. The balance has been seized and the matter is pending the orders of the Board.
4. Several bundles of chayroot purchased during the night, were being conveyed without paying the duty. On the appearance of the chowki peons the people disappeared leaving the bundles. The bundles are in the cutcherry compound. 37
5. Mr. Gordon finds fault with a letter from the Sub-Collector asking him to remove the roots on payment of the duty. The Sub-Collector explains that it was in connexion with the fixing of the penal duties according to the regulations, which Mr. Gordon did not like. The Sub-Collector explains that he has no authority to alter the duties on his own initiative.

False Accusations

24- 3-27 Prevention of. 25-8

To the Magistrate in the Zillah of Madura.

False accusations are very common among the people. Crimes such as murder, arson, burglary etc., are not so common as those arising out of disputes between relatives regarding the participation in and claims to property. Mr. J. D. Gleig the Assistant Magistrate, remarks that " to propose a remedy for the evil of false accusations is a point which requires the consideration of more experience and knowledge than I can offer." The regulations as they now stand do not allow the Criminal Judges to take cognizance of false complaints. Mr. J. D. Gleig is therefore of opinion that if the Criminal Judges are empowered to take cognizance of all cases either referred to them by the Police officers or coming under their observation during their duties, it may form an effectual check and further that the Judges should be empowered to pass sentences of punishment not exceeding 24 stripes and confinement to hard labour not exceeding 12 calendar months.

In a suit by the Government it was decreed that the defendant Mullarjee Appah, should pay the decree amount. The defendant produced a bond to the Resident for money due to him by one Suchidananda Pillai. The Resident forwarded the bond to the Sub-Collector of Madura in partial satisfaction of the amount due by Mullarjee Appah. The Sub-Collector could not accept it for want of evidence. He therefore requests the Resident to find out whether certain lands and houses specified by him do not belong to the defendant Mullarjee Appah. He assures him that he will not press for the payment of the amount if the defendant can furnish sufficient security.

On his going to the Raja the Sub-Collector had doubts whether seats would be given to him and the Sarishtadar. Capt. Tweedie told him that he would be given a seat but not the Sarishtadar who, having known the Raja as a friend, might visit him separately and that he would then be given a seat. 2. The Sarishtadar Seshagiri Rao, took his turn to see the Raja. The Raja went on with his enquiries without offering him a seat. Seshagiri Rao felt awkward. He whispered to the Raja's servant close by that he was a high servant of the Company and that he should have been given a seat. But the servant, instead of reporting to the Raja what Seshagiri Rao had whispered, told the Raja that Seshagiri Rao was in a hurry to retire. The Raja gave him presents bidding him good-bye. The Sarishtadar did not accept the presents. 3. It later on transpired that one Venkat Rao, a servant of the Raja, already told the Sub-Collector that Seshagiri Rao would not under any circumstances be given a seat and that it was under such understanding the Saristadar made his visit. This statement the Sub-Collector repudiated. Because it was only after Capt. Tweedie had consulted with the Tondaiman that he was made to understand that a seat would be given to Seshagiri Rao when he paid his visit alone and that if the Raja had subsequently changed his views it was only fair for him to have intimated the change to the Sub-Collector who would have acted accordingly.	43-51

10-12-27 Zamindar —Settlement report for f. 1236.
To the Collector.

1. There is an increase in the produce but not up to the t[illegible] expectations of the Sub-Collector, because the storm damaged the tanks. There is an increase in the melwaram share. The melwaram grain already disposed of amounts to 1,15,713 kalams leaving on hand 74,220 kalams. 68,500 kalams have been contracted for by the merchants, and 47,213 kalams were sold in retail. There is not much encouragement in the market to sell the grain on hand. It is satisfactory to note that the increased cultivation of wet lands has not prevented the ryots from carrying on an increased cultivation also in the dry lands. There is a decrease in the chank and chayroot rents. This is due to the default of the renters. As regards the collection of arrears there is not much scope.

2. No change was made in the usual mode of settlement either in estimating or dividing the crops. The Sub-Collector deplores that "the very basis upon which an individual settlement exists is wanting in the zamindari" and wants to have a complete and accurate survey. Opportunity is taken to intimate about the heavy loss in cattle and other property of the ryots by the storm in the northern taluks. The Sub-Collector commends the work of his head native officers and the Saristadar Seshagiri Rao.
